RESOLUTION.

The 2nd July 1872.—With reference to the notification regarding the examination for civil appointments to be held in February next, and to the promise therein contained that classes for teaching the prescribed subjects will be immediately opened in the Hooghly College, the Lieutenant-Governor, after considering the report of a committee on the subject, is pleased to sanction the following arrangements, and to direct that the classes shall be opened on 1st August next, or sooner if possible.

2. Eventually it is proposed to establish a two years' course for the purpose of teaching the prescribed subjects, but in the meantime a short course will be at once undertaken, in order to secure an early supply of candidates fitted for the public service, by adding to a good general education already received by capable and vigorous young men so much of the special subjects now required as may be attainable by earnest students in the time intervening before the examination.

3. Under instructions communicated to him, the Director of Public Instruction will at once obtain for the Hooghly College the best man he can find to teach drawing, surveying, and engineering. Probably an assistant on Rs. 50 or Rs. 75 per mensem would suffice, instead of an independent teacher, to enable him to carry on the ordinary school classes on these subjects as well as the college classes.

4. The Lieutenant-Governor is pleased to sanction the entertainment of a qualified man from the Medical College on a salary of Rs. 200 per mensem to teach the elements of Botany and Chemistry; and of a competent Batchelor of Law on Rs. 100 per mensem to teach the Criminal, Revenue, and General Law, required for the examination.

5. A suitable gymnasium will be set up immediately in the college, and an allowance of Rs. 40 per mensem is sanctioned for a teacher. Swimming and other athletic exercises will be included under the title of gymnastics. Arrangements will also be made to engage the services of a competent horseman with a couple of horses to teach riding.

6. All students of the college, and other persons whom the Principal may consider to be fit and eligible, and possessed of a sufficient education, will be admitted to the civil service class on payment of the ordinary college fees as now charged [illegible]

Mahomedans and others respectively, that is to say, 1 rupee per mensem for Mahomedans, and Rs. 5 per mensem for all others. Boys of the upper classes of the collegiate school whom the Principal may consider to be fit and to be qualified to pass with credit the next University Entrance Examination may be admitted if they desire it.

7. An extra fee of Rs. 10 (once for all) will be charged for instruction in riding.

8. Students who elect to follow the full civil service course must continue to attend the English classes and any classes in which arithmetic and writing are taught, but attendance in the other classes will be optional with them.

9. Permission having been given to the present scholarship-holders to attend this course, no special scholarships need at present be provided for.

10. The following elementary books on Botany and Chemistry, as proposed by the Committee, will be studied by the students attending the civil service class, viz :—

Oliver's Manual of Indian Botany.

Roscoe's Lessons on Elementary Chemistry.

11. The following sums are sanctioned for the necessary preparations and apparatus, viz :—

	Rs.
For adapting the college building for class rooms	1,500
For school furniture	1,500
For a gymnasium, with apparatus ..	1,000
Apparatus for lectures on drawing, surveying, and engineering ...	1,000
Apparatus for Botany and Chemistry	1,000
Total ...	6,000

12. The following allowances are also sanctioned, i.e.—

	Rs.
For chemicals ...	25	per mensem.
For a mallee ...	10	,,
For a compounder to assist in lectures on Chemistry	12	,,
Total ...	47	per mensem.

13. An allowance of Rs. 100 per mensem is also sanctioned for a lecturer on the prescribed law subjects at Patna.

14. Competent teachers of drawing, surveying, and engineering, have already been sent to Patna, Dacca, and Cuttack.

Circular No. 34.

JUDICIAL DEPARTMENT.

JUDICIAL.

To all Commissioners and all Magistrates of Districts,—
(dated Calcutta, the 1st July 1872.)

I AM directed to call your very particular attention to the new Code of Criminal Procedure, Act X of 1872, which will come into force on 1st September next.

2. The changes in the powers and position of Magistrates effected by the Code are so considerable, that it will be desirable to re-gazette all Magistrates with the powers which it is deemed desirable to invest them with under the new law. The Lieutenant-Governor accordingly wishes to have submitted to him complete lists of Officers and Honorary Magistrates, with the powers for which each is recommended. These are to be submitted by Magistrates of districts through the Commissioners.

3. Magistrates will now be first, second, and third class, and Special Magistrates (section 42). Also power is taken, and will be very freely used, for the creation of benches of Magistrates (sections 50 to 56), and powers of summary trial may be conferred on any first class Magistrate and on benches of Magistrates (sections 222 to 230).

4. The powers of Magistrates of the first and ...nd class are considerably enlarged. Grievous ... by dangerous weapons, false evidence, and ... other offences hitherto exclusively triable ... Courts of Sessions ... may in future be tried by a Magistrate of the first class; and very large classes of cases of common occurrence, hitherto triable by a first class Magistrate only, are now made triable by a Magistrate of the second class, who has also now power to pass a sentence of solitary confinement.

5. In fact, it may be said that almost all offences are now either entered in column 7 of the schedule as triable by the Court of Sessions, or are triable by a Magistrate of the second class. Almost the only cases entered as triable exclusively by a Magistrate of the first class are a very few offences by or relating to public servants (Penal Code, sections 163, 168, 169); and against public justice (sections 204, 208, 209, 210, 211, 215, 216), which are not so much separate offences in themselves, as offences occurring in the course of judicial proceedings. Practically then all sub-divisional officers and second class Magistrates invested with power to commit for trial will have, either in virtue of their own powers, or as qualified to hold preliminary inquiry in sessions cases, jurisdiction in nearly every case that can occur; and there is not the same necessity as before for giving first class powers, except where an officer is in every way fully qualified for such powers and there is real need for a Magistrate of that rank.

6. A second class Magistrate in charge of a sub-division has, as such, very large powers. Also, when in cases within his jurisdiction he deems a more severe punishment than he can give necessary, he can send on the file for orders to the Magistrate of the district after completing the trial. And in those sessions cases which are also triable by a first class Magistrate, if he deems that the case may best be tried by the latter officer, he can stop the preliminary inquiry at any stage and send the parties and witnesses on to the first class Magistrate.

7. All Magistrates in charge of sub-divisions will be able to hear on complaint, and to take up without complaint, cases within their jurisdiction; but the Lieutenant-Governor will invest all Magistrates of districts with power under section 48 to withdraw from any Magistrate subordinate to him the cognizance of any classes of cases which he may think proper to reserve.

8. No Magistrate other than the Magistrate of the district or of a sub-division of district has power to entertain any case (not made over to him) unless he is specially authorized to do so.

9. It will be observed that in most cases authority to hear complaints and exercise certain powers may be delegated by the Magistrate of the district to his subordinates; but there are some powers which can only be given by the Government: and when it is desired to give these powers to any officer, special application must be made. That will principally be necessary in the case of Magistrates not in charge of sub-divisions, the latter having by the law very large powers, subject to reservation by the Magistrate of the district.

10. A new provision of very great importance is that for giving power of summary trial (sections 222-230). This power must only be entrusted to first class Magistrates of approved efficiency and discretion. At the same time it will be a very great advantage that competent officers should exercise the power. The qualifications of each first class Magistrate must then be very carefully considered, and recommendation made accordingly to give or not to give him this summary power.

11. The Lieutenant-Governor hopes that he may be able very freely to use the power of appointing benches of Magistrates and special Magistrates. Most of the Honorary Magistrates may probably be utilized under these designations, and many new ones may be created for the purpose. The Lieutenant-Governor thinks it most desirable that petty assaults and such cases should be disposed of summarily (under the provisions of section 225) by a bench sitting say once a week, and composed either of one paid and one or two unpaid Magistrates or wholly of unpaid Magistrates. Possibly an arrangement might be made by which a sub-divisional officer or other paid Magistrate should visit by way of circuit several of the most important places in each sub-division, and sitting with the local Magistrates of each place dispose periodically of all the petty cases without any cumbrous procedure or record of evidence.

And whether as benches or as special Magistrates, the Lieutenant-Governor hopes that the leading men of each considerable Municipality might themselves dispose of the municipal and other petty cases. He will therefore freely and readily receive applications for the investing very many respectable men with powers as special Magistrates.

Under the provisions of section 52, the Magistrate of the district must make rules for the guidance of the benches of Magistrates sitting in his district, regarding the classes of cases to be tried, the times and places of sitting, the constitution of the bench, and the mode of settling differences of opinion. These rules will much depend on local circumstances, and the Lieutenant-Governor will therefore await the submission of proposed rules. They should be sent to the Commissioner, collated by him, and submitted to Government with his remarks.

12. In addition to the above-noticed provisions for summary trial, there are other provisions of the new Code calculated to diminish the burden of an excessive and labourious record of the evidence.

There are some special provisions regarding evidence, sections 327 to 330; but the new section, which will give very great relief to all the Magistrates of the first and second class, is section 333. Under this provision these Magistrates will be relieved from taking full evidence, reading it over to the witnesses, &c., &c., in all cases of petty theft, house trespass, rioting, mischief, &c.,—in fact in all the common classes of cases, and will only be required to keep in all these, as well as in all summons cases, a mere memorandum or note of the substance of the evidence as it proceeds—a process which ought not to be very long or tedious.

13. It is also to be observed that under the provisions of sections 361 and 362, the Magistrate has now a discretion in regard to the summoning of unnecessary witnesses, and will thus be able to keep cases within reasonable bounds.

14. The full and formal record of evidence will be confined then to exceptionally heinous and important cases. That being so, the Lieutenant-Governor thinks that the work will be quite manageable, and he does not propose to alter the present rule requiring Magistrates to take down with their own hands any evidence that must be recorded.

15. It is, however, different in regard to Sessions Judges. Except in so far as the enlarged powers of the Magistrates may relieve them of some cases, their procedure is not abbreviated. The Lieutenant-Governor has doubts whether all men are capable of taking down the evidence and conducting the cases efficiently at the same time, when a long trial and succession of trials is carried on from day to day and from week to week in the Sessions Court. With reference, therefore, to the provisions of section 335, the Lieutenant-Governor will be willing to consider the application of any overburdened Sessions Judge who may desire to be relieved of the duty of taking the full evidence in his own hand, and who would prefer to have a vernacular record of the evidence taken down by a skilled native writer, the Judge himself making only a memorandum of the substance of the evidence. This, however, will only be possible if a good and quick writer is available to take the evidence down.

16. In connection with the subject of evidence, it will be observed that section 126 leaves no doubt of the full power of the criminal courts to make use of the police diaries during a trial.

17. It is not necessary to enter here upon many other changes introduced by the new Code. The provisions regarding jurisdiction over European British subjects and other matters speak for themselves, and principally involve judicial considerations. The Lieutenant-Governor will then only add the hope that all officers will without delay make themselves thoroughly masters of the new Code, and he will hope for the early and careful submission of the lists called for by this circular, that he may be able in due time to confer the powers proper to be conferred on each class of officers and unpaid Magistrates, and so may at the earliest possible time give full effect to the new Code.

Bills of the Legislative Council of India.

Government of India.

LEGISLATIVE DEPARTMENT.

[First Publication.]

THE following Bill was introduced into the Council of the Governor General of India for the purpose of making Laws and Regulations on the 20th June 1872, and was referred to a Select Committee with instructions to report thereon in a fortnight:—

No. 11 OF 1872.

A Bill to legalize the repayment of money deposited in District Savings Banks in the names of Minors.

Whereas it is expedient to legalize the repayment of moneys deposited in District Savings Banks in the names of minors; It is hereby enacted as follows:—

Preamble.

Short title

1. This Act may be called "The Minors' Deposits Act, 1872."

Local extent.

It extends to the whole of British India;

Commencement.

And it shall come into force on the passing thereof.

Repayment of deposits to minor or guardian.

2. Any deposit of money heretofore or hereafter made in any District Savings Bank by, or on behalf of, any person, who has not completed the age of eighteen years, may be repaid to him or to his guardian, together with the interest accrued thereon; and the receipt of himself or his guardian shall be a sufficient discharge.

All repayments under this Act shall be made by the Secretary to the Bank, subject to such rules as the Government of India in the Financial Department may, from time to time, prescribe.

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS.

The object of this Bill, which is founded on Statute 26 & 27 Vic., c. 87, s. 30 is to legalize the repayment of moneys deposited in District Savings Banks by or on behalf of minors, i.e., in the words of the Indian Succession Act, persons who have not completed the age of eighteen years.

Such deposits are often made by fathers on behalf of their minor children, and hardship is sometimes caused by the impossibility (as the law stands) of providing thereout for the maintenance, clothing and education of these minors.

From—D. J. McNeile, Esq., Officiating Secretary to the Board of Revenue, L P.

To—The Secretary to the Government of Bengal, Revenue Department.

In reply to Government order No. 762 of the 5th June last, I am directed to submit a statement exhibiting, in reference to each estate at present under the charge of the Court of Wards, the particulars called for by Government in regard to rental, mode of management, and salaries, &c., of managers.

7. In conclusion I am to observe that the report submitted by the Commissioner of Chota Nagpore, in reply to the call made by the Board in connection with the Government order under reply, contains so valuable and interesting an account of the wards' estates in his division, that the Member in charge feels that no apology is due from him for submitting a copy of it for the perusal of the Lieutenant-Governor.

From—R. H. Wilson, Esq., Offg. Under-Secy. to the Govt. of Bengal.

To—The Secy. to the Board of Revenue in the Land Revenue Department.

I am directed to acknowledge the receipt of your letter No. 41A, dated the 26th January, furnishing an account of all estates at present under the Court of Wards and their management, together with particulars as to the salary, &c., of managers, and amount of work entailed on district officers in connection with the management.

2. In reply I am to convey to the Member in charge the thanks of the Lieutenant-Governor for the report which he has submitted, and specially I am to request that His Honor's acknowledgments may be communicated to Colonel Dalton for his excellent history of the management of the wards' estates in his division. Mr. Campbell entirely approves of the principles of management which are set forth, and trusts that the officers subordinate to Colonel Dalton will carry them out to the fullest possible extent.

Dated Chota Nagpore, the 30th August 1871.

From—Colonel E. T. Dalton, C.S.I., Commr. of the Chota Nagpore Division.

To—D. J. McNeile, Esq., Offg. Secy. to the Board of Revenue, Land Reve. Dept.

I have the honor to submit a report on the estates under the Court of Wards in each district of this division, as directed in your letter No. 177A of the 20th June last.

2. Hazareebaugh District.—Three estates are under the Court of Wards in this district,—the Ramghur, Dhunwar, and Gawan.

3 Ramghur.—When the late Maharajah Ram Nath Sing died without issue, there was considerable doubt regarding a successor, the next of kin in the male line being very remote, and precedents appeared to show that the succession of the Maharanee would be contrary to custom. But soon after the Maharajah's demise that lady was declared to be pregnant, the estate was attached, and subsequently, on the birth of a son having been announced, it was taken under the Court of Wards, but the boy died. The estate was then claimed by the widow and by Baboo Brohmo Narain Singh, a distant cousin, and under instructions we retained charge till the courts of law came to a decision as to whom it was to be made over.

4. The district court gave a decree in favor of the Baboo; the Ranee appealed to the High Court, and the case has been before that court for the last two years.

5. The estate was conferred on an ancestor of the late Maharajah by the British Government in 1770. The old sunnuds conferred it as a service jaghir. In an old decision of the Sudder Court it is referred to as a principality, the chief of which could be called on to take the field at the head of his feudatories and vassals, and these feudatories are still in existence in numerous ghatwali and service fiefs. The estate was included in the decennial settlement, and therefore comes within the purview of Regulation I of 1793. Under that settlement the Rajah agreed to pay as revenue Rs. 28,100; he was further bound to keep up roads and embankments, and to be responsible for the security of life and property in his zemindary. In 1792 a remission was made on account of excise and land taken into cantonment, which left the Government revenue at sicca Rs. 26,567.

6. The estate was under the Court of Wards for a short time in A.D. 1796, and the collections were then, on account of the ward, Rs. 1,33,435.

7. When we took charge of it in 1867, Baboo Kalidas Palit, Extra Assistant Commissioner, was first placed in charge as manager under the Court of Wards, but his services being required for other duty, Lieutenant Colonel Edward Money was appointed manager towards the close of last year, on a salary of Rs. 700 per mensem with establishment.

8. The rental of the estate is now Rs. 1,87,861 per annum, the Government revenue only Rs. 28,134. The area of this estate, including the sub-tenures, is not less than 4,000 square miles. The whole surface is undulating, comprising the plateau on which is the station of Hazareebaugh, averaging about 2,000 feet above the sea, and other hills and ranges, including the Lugu mountain, which is said to attain an elevation of 3,470 feet. As the estate has only been surveyed topographically, I have no means of stating what proportion of it is under cultivation, but probably not more than 1,200 square miles, for the entire district of Hazareebaugh is estimated to contain but 2,060 square miles of cultivation, to a total area of 7,080 square miles. Of the entire waste of the district not more than 365 square miles are reported unculturable, of which probably 200 are in the Ramghur estate. The estate is rich in coal, iron, and lime, and traces of other minerals have been found.

9. The late Maharajah Ramnath Sing took a personal interest in the management of his property, and under him the mofussil agency consisted of nineteen officers, over as many pergunnahs, called pergunaits. The Khalsa estate was let in farms of five to six years. The pergunaits were continued under the Court of Wards, but thirteen tehsildars were appointed over thirteen tehsil divisions of the property. The system of leasing or farming villages in maintained as before, only no lease is now given for more than five years.

10. The old practice was to lease to the highest bidders; now, as leases fall in, an estimate of the assets is made and the lease is offered to some resident It would appear that in the Ramghur estate there are no recognised village headmen, except perhaps in Sonthal villages; no doubt they formerly existed, but under a farming system, which has continued for generations, they have disappeared, and the population of most of the villages is found very mixed. In former times there was a considerable population of Sonthals, and it is said that there were six Sonthal pergunaits; there is only one now, and I do not think he would have remained if the estate had not come under the Court of Wards. The manager was specially directed to see to the interests of the remnant of the Sonthals, and to protect what was left of the last pergunait's tenure, and an arrangement was proposed and approved, by which I hope this has been effectually secured.

11. When we assumed charge of the estate, it was found that no measures had been taken to protect the forests, and an attempt was made to arrest their destruction, but it was almost too late. A small forest conservancy establishment has now been entertained, and whilst the practice of cutting down sâl saplings is prohibited, no large timber can be removed without permission and payment of a royalty.

12. The Deputy Commissioner finds that the small sub-proprietors, jaghirdars, and mokararidars, claim right over extensive jungle tracts, and this greatly adds to the difficulty of systematising protective and reproductive forest arrangements.

13. On the plea that the Court of Wards had no prospect of long holding the estate, very little has been done towards the collection of statistical information; this is to be deplored, and should at once be rectified, as we may never have such another chance. The condition of the majority of the ryots is represented as poor, and indebtedness to mohajuns for advances the rule. The Deputy Commissioner's attention will be drawn to this; there can be no improvement in the condition of the people so long as they continue in this thraldom. The first remedial step is the multiplication of country markets; the Ramghur estate in not so well provided in this respect as the zemindaree of Chota Nagpore.

14. Dhunwar.—The zemindars of Dhunwar are the representatives of the old Rajahs of Khurukdiha. They had been ousted from their possessions by Mahomedan governors, but the ghatwals or tekaits of Khurukdiha, who were their vassals or feudatories, were left in possession of their estates. The British Government wished to restore the old family to its former position, but as the tekait ghatwals could not be prevailed on to submit to their hereditary chief, and as they were deemed troublesome people to deal with, separate settlements were made with them, and to the Rajah was given all the Khalsa villages and a rent-free tenure The estate is consequently scattered throughout Khurukdiha; the family are of the Bahmon caste, to which the Maharajahs of Bhettia and Benares, &c., belong.

15 The Surveyor, Major G. H. Thompson, in his printed report, makes out that the whole estate consists of only 172 square miles; but as he adds that the rent-free grant comprises 189 villages and the Khalsa lands 152, I think there must be some error in this estimate. But it is worthy of notice that these old chiefs, in reserving lands as Khalsa, showed but little foresight. Whilst retaining for themselves portions of the estate which were in highest cultivation, without room for extension, they allowed the sub-proprietors to appropriate (or at least took no measures to prevent their appropriating) the wastes; and thus, whilst the Khalsa lands came to be circumscribed, the holders of the subordinate tenures have secured vast areas to extend on.

16. The present Rajah of Dhunwar has been in a state of imbecility* for a number of years, but under an impression that two old ladies, his mother and step-mother, were intelligent and quite capable of managing the property, it was left to them. Symptoms of gross mismanagement on their part were brought to notice, and then measures were taken for legally establishing the incapacity of the Rajah; and this having been accomplished in December 1864, the estate was taken under the Court of Wards.

* See my letter No. 905 of the 31st May 1864.

17. The system pursued was to lease out villages to farmers, who were seldom changed, and no attempt was ever made to ascertain what amount they realized from the ryots. They paid fines for renewal of lease, and made offers which were accepted without inquiry, but sometimes the fact that the lease had expired was passed unnoticed, and they held on unquestioned. When this state of affairs was understood, orders were issued by me that no leases were to be renewed until a settlement with the ryots of every village included in them had been made, and the rent to be paid by every ryot determined; but to the carrying out of these orders there was, in the first instance, the strongest opposition both on the part of the farmer and the ryots. The farmer protested against dealings with ryots as an infringement of his prescriptive rights, and the ryots, many of them being substantial holders, would not point out their lands. The manager first appointed was, I believe, unable to contend against such opposition, but the present manager, Baboo Raj Gopal Roy, has set vigorously to work with fair success.

Letter No. 929 of 7th May 1866.

18. As leases fall in, or are found to have lapsed, the villages are taken by the manager into his own hands, and he deals direct with the ryots whilst these lands are being measured and rents determined. All cesses are merged into rent, and pottahs are given to the ryot showing him the precise sum he has to pay, and he is given to understand that nothing beyond what was entered in the pottah could be demanded from him. The farmer then may have settlement again if he agrees to pay the demand less 10 per cent allowed to him as commission. About 142 villages have been treated in this manner, and the result is shown below—

Old demand	Rs.	5,489
New ,, ...	,,	11,107
Increase ..	,,	5,618

The gross rental of the estate when taken charge of by the Court of Wards was Rs. 29,378; it is now Rs. 37,350.

19. A large number of leases fall in next year; re-settlement is sure to give another large increase to the rental, as it will bring to account all that is collected, one-half of which at present goes into the pockets of the farmers.

20. I am informed by Colonel Boddam that the opposition to the settlement with ryots has now subsided, and that villagers are now coming forward and praying that villages may be taken under khas management. It does not appear that the farmers are hereditary heads of villages; the farms consist of two or three or more villages, and though many of the farmers are residents, I find that the servants and friends of the late dewan of the Rances, mooktears and pleaders of the district, were last year amongst the lease-holders, so that a good deal of weeding may be found desirable.

21. There are no forests in this property, but there are small "p" reserves of jungle, which are now carefully watched, and no trees can be cut without permission.

22. As each village comes under settlement, a register of all statistics likely to be useful is made.

23. Gawan.—The Gawan estate has but recently come under the Court of Wards; it is one of the old ghatwali tenures referred to in paragraph 14. The ward has been sent to Benares, and a manager, Mr. Tosco Peppé, appointed, but as yet we have not much information about the estate. In regard to previous management, it is just in the same position as Dhunwar, and I have directed that it shall be similarly treated. As the estate is compact and not very large, Mr. Peppé, who resides on it, will be well able to deal directly with the ryots, and that course, whenever practicable, will probably be followed.

24. Lohardugga District, Chota Nagpore Estate.—The Chota, properly Chutia, Nagpore estate has an area of not less than 8,000 square miles and a population of nearly a million of souls, of whom two-thirds are Oraon Munda (Kols) or other aboriginal tribes. It was known to the Mahomedan Emperors as Kokra, and in the days of Jehangir it is said that it paid tribute in diamonds, but no permanent hold of the country was maintained. It became British territory, as part of Behar, in 1750, but regarded as "dismembered," did not enter into the earliest revenue returns. It is on record that the Maharajah of Chutia Nagpore submitted to Captain Carnac, then with a force in Palamow, in A. D. 1772, and gave a nuzzer of Rs. 3,000; and the oldest pottah I have seen is dated 1179 Fuslee, when a settlement was made with the Rajah for three years at an annual demand thus specified—

Nuzzerana	,,	6,000
Total ...	,,	12,000

In A.D. 1786 settlement was renewed, and the Government demand is thus specified —

Mal	...	...	...	...	...	Rs. 12,000
Nuzzerana	...	...	...	...	...	„ 3,000
					Total ...	„ 15,000

At the time of the decennial settlement the revenue was fixed at Rs 14,100-15-3.

25. The estate contains 7,000 villages, and the income of the chief was estimated by Colonel Ousley in 1836 at three lakhs of rupees, but this must have included the rental of the large estates in the possession of the cadets and collateral branches of the family. The late Rajah, Juggernath Sahi Deo, who died on the 11th July 1869, had enjoyed a long reign, but he was from the commencement of his career noted as quite unfit to manage the affairs of such an estate. For many years his brother Kunwar Harnath Shahi was his manager, but on the death of that gentleman he quarrelled with the family and could never brook any other person in the same position.

26. Up to 1866 the late Rajah had no legitimate male issue, and his nephew, Lal Opender Nath Sahi, was regarded as the heir presumptive to the estate, but between the uncle and nephew no love was lost.

27. On the 26th March 1866 urzees were received from the Rajah by the different authorities, reporting the birth of a "dubraj" to his third Ranee, and on the 25th April 1866 it was announced that the fourth Ranee had been delivered of a second son to the Rajah, styled the Kunwar. Some time after the birth of these children, Lal Opender Nath Sahi instituted a suit, which was eventually tried in the Gya court, under Act XXXV of 1858, to have his uncle declared a lunatic, but it was thrown out on the 31st July 1868.

28. When the Rajah was dying, he intimated his wish that his property should be taken charge of in behalf of his declared heir, and also in behalf of the Kunwar, and this was done. It was announced that the estate had been taken over by the Court of Wards from the 13th July 1869.

29. The affairs of the estate were found in inextricable confusion: the usual zemindary books were not forthcoming; nothing to show what should be collected or what was in arrears. Mr A. Hume Smith, who had been manager of the Hitampore estate, and had the credit of having in a short time brought the affairs of that estate, which were in great disorder, into a most satisfactory condition, was appointed manager of the Chota Nagpore zemindaree on a salary of Rs. 700 a month, with house or house rent and travelling allowance when moving about; and took charge on the 26th October 1869; but on the 11th November 1869 Lal Opender Nath Sahi, the eldest nephew of the late Maharajah, instituted a suit in the court of the Judicial Commissioner, claiming the raj, on the ground that both the children put forward as sons of the Maharajah were supposititious.

30. The Officiating Judicial Commissioner, Colonel Rowlatt, on the 23rd of September 1870, gave a decree in favor of the Lal and allowed execution to be immediately taken out. The decree-holder on this took possession of the family idols, regalia, and other movables, and though no one came forward to relieve the Court of Wards of their charge of the estate, the Officiating Judicial Commissioner issued an injunction prohibiting payment to, or collection by, the Court of Wards; and until an order from the High Court could be obtained to reverse this summary proceeding nothing could be done. On the 14th instant, Colonel Rowlatt's decree in favor of the Lal was reversed by a Full Bench of the High Court, and the Court of Wards are now free to act; but during the interval of uncertainty arising from the litigation, our hands were tied. So far as I have heard at present, the decree in favor of the minors is likely to be received with favor by the majority of the people,—a matter of no small importance in this part of India,—and it is to be hoped that the incident will prove the salvation of the estate. The old Rajah, ignorant, indolent, very nearly, if not quite, imbecile, and cordially hating his heir presumptive, had for a number of years been gradually reducing his permanent income by mokarari grants to many worthless followers, and, so far as has been yet made out, the gross income which the manager has to collect is only Rs 90,546. The Government revenue amounts to Rs. 14,364, income tax and district dak to Rs 4,985, leaving a net income of Rs. 71,194, with a debt against the estate set down at three and a half lakhs of rupees.

31. This debt no doubt is chiefly composed of vast accumulations of interest on proportionately small sums originally advanced, or goods supplied of very incommensurate value; and it is probable that, if we could obtain the means of satisfying the creditors at once, it would be susceptible of considerable reduction. If, for instance, we could obtain a loan from Government of two lakhs of rupees, it would probably suffice to pay off the debts, and it could be repaid with interest in about six years, perhaps less; for I have great hopes that when the manager has time to look thoroughly into the affairs of the estate, the assets will be found higher than they are at present represented to be.

32. With regard to our relations with the ryots of this estate, I took an early opportunity of drawing the Deputy Commissioner's and manager's attention to the expediency of restoring and preserving the relations which had in former years subsisted with such good effect between the Rajah and the people. Under the old system this was as direct as possible, as the affairs of every village were managed through its own headmen; but for many years the greed for fines on renewal of lease led to the introduction of farmers, by whom the authority of the old village headmen were set aside. I have recently issued strict injunctions that when leases fall in they are not to be renewed unless for very special reasons rendering the continuation of a farming system for the particular village necessary, but that the system of khas management through the mundas or mahtos and pahans of villages is to be the rule. If proper attention be paid to it, it must be the most productive arrangement to the estate that we could adopt. The headmen are in the enjoyment of their freeholds, which can be pledged as their security, and no additional remuneration for their services need be given. Thus the whole of the profits that a farmer could make should go to the estate. I was happy to find from your letter No. 134B of 14th August 1871, that my views on this subject were fully approved by the Board.

33. Chukla Deogur, Estate in Palamow; Baboo Kishen Bux Rae, Proprietor.—This is one of the largest of the sub-tenures in pergunnah Palamow, and it belongs to the class called Babooan, that is, estates acquired from the head of the family by the collateral branches of the old Chero Rajahs of Palamow as maintenance grants; it contains 400 villages. The father of the minor, Baboo Hurbux Rae, died on the 25th March 1864, leaving a son, Baboo Kishen Bux Rae, now nine years of age. Kunwar Sewnaraiu Sing, a gentleman of high character and respectable position, noted for his good management of his own estates in Palamow, was appointed serberakar, and still carries on the duties, but he has resigned the office, and Baboo Soshi Sikhur Banerjee, who has for the last two years discharged with ability the duties of assessor, has been selected to succeed him.

34. Kunwar Sewchurn Sing's remuneration was 5 per cent on collections, the average amount of commission per annum was Rs. 1,350, and establishment Rs 525; total Rs. 1,875. The Government revenue is Rs. 2,071, allowance for minor, religious ceremonies, charitable purposes &c., Rs. 3,000. The rental of the estate has greatly improved since it came under the Court of Wards; it was then Rs. 12,218, it is now Rs 26,581, the increase having been obtained on renewal of leases and commutation to rent of all abwabs and irregular cesses.

35. There was a debt of Rs. 27,654 against the estate at the death of the ward's father, this has all been paid off, and Rs 14,766 has been invested, and at the close of the year there was a cash balance of Rs. 16,471.

36. I do not know how the assets were ascertained when the old leases expired, but my instructions were that regular settlement should be made similar to those effected of the Government villages in Palamow. The information called for for the purposes of this report has not yet been rendered by the officer in charge of the Palamow sub-division, who supervises the affairs of the estate. It is probable that Kunwar Sewchurn Singh was not quite up to regular settlement work, but I am sure the new manager is fully competent to carry out my instructions on the subject.

37. The minor attends the Palamow station school at present, but he is to go to Benares after the rains.

38. Singbhoom.—The large estate of Dhulbhoom, which is comprised in this district, came under the Court of Wards on the death, in 1867, of Juggernath Dhul, leaving as his heir a son, Ramchunder Dhul, who was then five years of age. The area of the estate is 1,201 square miles, and it contains just about the same number of villages. Major Depree, who was in charge of the topographical survey, estimates the population at 139,381, which I believe to be very high. He gives 115 inhabitants to the square mile, so there is ample room for extension.

39. This is one of those estates the first settlement of which was, for the sake of peace, and to avoid the necessity of military operations in a difficult and unhealthy country, made with a considerable sacrifice of revenue.

40. In 1776 the zemindar, Juggernath Dhul, refusing to acknowledge the Government of the Company, a rival was set up in his relative Bykunt Dhul, but Juggernath Dhul successfully resisted him, and a compromise was at last made. Juggernath Dhul submitted on condition of being acknowledged, and he agreed to pay a quit-rent or tribute of Rs 1,000, and this arrangement was made perpetual.

41. A majority of the population of the estate are Bhumiz, one of the Kol tribes, and it is admitted that they are the oldest inhabitants. The zemindar or Rajah, besides paying rent, was bound to make all necessary police arrangements, and to aid in this the feudal militia of the estate were employed as ghatwals. In 1856 the zemindar was deprived of his police powers for gross misconduct, and since then the ghatwals have been under the orders of the magistrate; they are now organized as rural police.

42. They are apparently the only class in Dhulbhoom holding lands on peculiar tenure, the remaining villages have from very early times been held by their headmen, called pradhans, on short farming leases. Under the late zemindar and his predecessor no attempt appears to have been made to ascertain by measurement or otherwise what the cultivators actually paid to the pradhans; the pradhans had to pay a smart fine on renewal of each lease, and it was with the view of obtaining as many of such payments as possible that the leases were made so short.

43. A fair assessment was, however, obtained under this system, for when we took charge of the estate the gross rental was set down at Rs. 32,624, and though settlements have since been made of a considerable portion of it, the present demand is only Rs. 35,597.

44. But for unknown cause the late zemindar was always in difficulties, and died leaving a debt of Rs. 29,081. This has been paid off, and Rs. 37,496 have been invested in Government securities. When the estate first came under the Court of Wards, it was deemed advisable to appoint as manager some one conversant with its affairs, and an old servant of the family was selected; but his management proved very inefficient, and on his death in 1870 the Deputy Commissioner, finding that heavy arrears had accumulated, with my approval took charge of it himself, and there is at present no manager. The Deputy Commissioner is assisted by a tehsildar on Rs. 50 a month, who has his head-quarters at Ghatsila, where the minor resides. He and his brother attend an anglo-vernacular school that has been established there.

45. This system of management throws considerable extra work on the Deputy Commissioner, but the result has been satisfactory; the arrears have been reduced from Rs. 25,588 at the commencement of 1870-71 to a total balance of Rs. 5,064 at its close.

46. Dr. Hays reports the condition of the agricultural classes on this estate to be very "favorable and promising."

47. Maunbhoom.—In this district we have only one small estate* under the Court of Wards. It was taken up in July 1870 on the death of the zemindar, Baboo Drigbijoy Sing, leaving as heir his grandson, Gunganarain Sing, aged at the time six years.

* Khatras.

48. The late zemindar appears to have had the estate pretty well in hand; his system was to give out annually farms of the collections except in two villages, in which he collected himself, partly in cash and partly in paddy, ghee, and goods, and the farms were always given to the headmen of the village or of some neighbouring village, and no outsiders appear to have been employed.

49. In these arrangements no changes have been made, except that the payments in kind have been commuted to payments in cash, and, with the view of ascertaining more accurately the assets of the different villages, the cultivation has all been measured.

50. On taking charge it was found that the rental of the estate was Rs. 8,980; it is expected that the measurements just completed will raise it to about Rs. 12,000. The Government revenue is Rs. 1,321, debts were set down at Rs. 10,793, so it will soon be clear. The estate is in charge of a manager, Baboo Nohun Mohun Putnaik, who previously had charge of another minor's estate in the same district.

51. Colonel Rowlatt reports further that "the general condition of the agricultural classes appears to be prosperous" The majority are of the Goala or Kurmi caste, good cultivators, who can pay their rents without taking advances.

52. There is no doubt that when an estate comes under the Court of Wards the affairs of which are in confusion, a considerable amount of extra work is for a time thrown upon the district officer and his assistant, and also on the Commissioner,—the chief cause of which is that there is usually a great amount of litigation, and the district officer or his assistant, and sometimes the Commissioner, has to supervise the preparation of pleadings and advise the manager and pleaders. Where there has been previously very bad management, as in the Chota Nagpore estate, frequent references will be made to the Deputy Commissioner by the manager for advice on other points, and all this no doubt entails trouble and swells the correspondence, but no officer who took an interest in his district would grudge the time he has to devote to this additional duty. In no other way could he in a short time effect so much good; and when the affairs of the estate are settled, and all works smoothly, it is probable that under a good manager it will give the local authorities less trouble than was the case when it was under a zemindar. In a division where there are few Government estates to look after, it is quite a pleasure to have some large zemindarees under the Court of Wards, especially if such zemindarees have been previously badly managed.

53. I must apologise for the length of this report; I would curtail it if I had time, but it is a subject in which I feel great interest, and at present in Chota Nagpore it is one of vast importance.

54. The reports received from district officers in reply to Board's No. 177A of the 20th June last, are submitted in original.

Lodging-houses and Conservancy of Pooree.

No. 55LF, dated Cuttack, the 3rd June 1872.

From—T. E. RAVENSHAW, ESQ., Commissioner of the Orissa Division.

To—The Offg Secy. to the Govt of Bengal, Judicial Department.

I HAVE the honor to submit copy of a report from Dr. Stewart, Health Officer of Pooree, on the working of Act IV (B.C.) of 1871 for the portion of 1871-72 during which it was in force.

2. The proceeds from licenses and fines amounted to Rs. 7,966-0-9, out of which an expenditure of Rs. 1,559-9-4 was incurred, leaving an available cash balance in hand at close of the year amounting to Rs. 6,406-7-5. Details of expenditure and estimate for the next year were submitted with my No. 50LF of 28th May.

3. No opposition whatever was experienced to the introduction of the Act, and the proceedings of Dr. Stewart as Health Officer, and of the whole Committee, appear to have been very judicious. Of Dr. Stewart himself I cannot speak too highly; he has been indefatigable: and with very little cost, and a good deal of judicious explanation and persuasion, he has succeeded in moderately improving the cleanliness and healthiness of Pooree town in general, and also in securing moderate and sanitary ventilation to many of the lodging-houses.

4. I have recently visited Pooree and gone through every portion of the town with the Health Officer. I was really astonished to observe such a vast improvement in the general aspect of the town.

5. Sufficient provision has been made in the budget, appropriations for next year for efficient increase in latrine accommodation.

6. Much remains to be done, and the Committee have in view a comprehensive system of drainage. It is hoped that a practicable scheme will be soon prepared. Meanwhile the surplus proceeds of the past and present year will be allowed to accumulate to meet the prospective cost of drainage.

7. With regard to the necessity for cleansing many of the existing tanks, I would observe that many of them are provided for by endowments and partake of a religious character in connection with certain ceremonies. The lands and funds provided for the support of these tanks should be looked up, and I think it probable that there may be found means for compelling the owners or custodians to carry out needful cleansing and repairs without indenting on the limited funds derived from the Lodging-house Bill; these remarks have been communicated to the Health Officer and Committee.

8. Generally, the Pooree Lodging-house Bill has been judiciously initiated, in a manner creditable to Dr. Stewart and to the members of the Committee by whom he has been advised and supported. The Magistrate, in forwarding the Health Officer's report, notes that he had been only two months in charge of the district, and is consequently unable to offer any useful remarks or suggestions; he expresses regret at Dr. Stewart's transfer to another district.

9. I trust at some future time Dr. Stewart's services may be again made available for duty in Orissa, where he has gained the confidence of all under or with whom he has worked.

No. 12, dated Pooree, the 11th May 1872.

From—Dr. W. D. STEWART, Civil Assistant Surgeon and Health Officer.

To—The Magistrate of Pooree.

I HAVE the honor to submit report on the working of the Pooree Lodging-house Act from its introduction on 1st June 1871 to the end of the official year, 31st March 1872.

2. Four hundred and ninety-seven houses were registered, and licenses for 14,463 lodgers issued. Many lodging-housekeepers applied two or three times for increasing the number of their licenses,—76 applied twice, 20 thrice, and 3 four times.

The sums raised from the working of the Act during the above period were—

	Rs.	A.	P.
License ,, ...	6,970	8	0
Sale proceeds of the Ooriah copies of this Act	7	8	9
Total ..	7,966	0	9

The expenditure was as follows :—

	Rs.	A.	P.
Establishment	1,258	3	6
Contingencies	101	5	10
Total ..	1,559	9	4

3. A month before the Act was introduced, all known lodging-houses were registered and the number and size of the rooms noted. When applications were made for license, these were again visited and inspected, and certificates issued under section 6 of the Act.

4. There was little or no difficulty in introducing the Act. At first it was given out that no applications for license would be made. After the commencement however of a few, and when one or two fines for lodging without license had been made, all remaining lodging-housekeepers soon made application, and the Act was in full working within a month.

5. The conditions required by section 6 of the Act could not be wholly secured before licenses were issued. Pooree lodging-houses have been described in former reports, and their condition as regards insanitation, closeness, liability to over crowding, &c., fully dwelt on. The smaller ones are kutcha built rooms, closely packed, with only a small entrance door, and very rarely a small islet hole as window. The larger houses or mutts are of laterite, with very close, dark rooms, arranged round a square enclosure, and sometimes rising two or three stories high. Defectively constructed, badly ventilated, with nuisances around that had been continuing for years, it would have been imprudent, and even impossible, to have made an onslaught on all defects and demanded a high sanitary standard. If the evil was to be overcome at all, it was to be done only by degrees.

6. At the beginning care, however, was taken to point out the more serious defects and orders issued for their removal, which in nearly every instance were carried out, as was ascertained in subsequent visits and inspections. Attention was then given to other prominent defects that existed and their remedy suggested, notices being issued from time to time under several sections of the Act.

7. During the period under review the following number of notices were issued :— Under section 26, thirteen ; 30, two ; 32, seventy ; and 34, two. Nearly all of these were attended to. Where neglect occurred, the notices were repeated two or three times, and warnings given. In only two cases was it necessary to employ the provisions of section 34 after repeated notices issued under sections 26 and 32 had failed.

26.—Notice to cut trees.
30.—Notice to clean drain, &c.
32.—Notice to drain and cut jungle.
34.—Power to Magistrate to carry out above.

8. Only one complaint was made against the officers employed in working the Act. A charge of house trespass was brought against two chuprassees who had detected fifteen lodgers in a house without license. The complainant abused and obstructed the chuprassees, and merely got up a counter-charge to avoid punishment. The case was carefully investigated by the Deputy Magistrate, Baboo Kedar Nauth Dutt, who found complainant's charge quite unfounded, and convicting him of abusing the chuprassees and obstructing them in their duty, fined him Rs. 10.

9. In January and February 1872 all the large and principal lodging-houses were visited with the view of improving their ventilation. Rooms entirely without windows, or with very small ones, were brought to the notice of the owners, and the advantage of necessary alterations pointed out. They acquiesced in the desirability of the alterations and improvements, and promised to carry them out. Notices were sent urging that these be completed before the 1st June next, and they were told that the issue of new licences on the expiry of present ones would greatly depend on these recommendations being carried out. I am glad to report that many of the improvements have been already commenced ; fair-sized windows have been introduced into sleeping and other apartments, which will add greatly to the convenience and accommodation of lodgers.

10. The first month or two of the year under report was passed in introducing the Act and keeping an eye on all attempts to evade the rules and escape payment. The only agency employed was one mohurir and two chuprasses, superintended by myself in morning and evening rounds in the town.

11. Attention was next paid to overgrown bush and jungle which infested several parts of the town. Many of these obstructions to ventilation and coverts for accumulation of rubbish and commission of nuisance have been removed, and the jungle cleared, to the great improvement of the locality and neighbourhood.

12. Hedges along public roads that encroached considerably, and were also obstructions to ventilation and traffic, were removed. Notices were issued under section 36 of the Act for those purposes.

13. Public latrines have hitherto been tâl tuttee enclosures, which required renewing year by year. It is now proposed to build them of permanent material. One enclosure has been nearly completed, a second has been begun, and in a short time the required number of these essentials for good conservancy will be supplied. Those for men will be long, narrow ranges, divided into single compartments; for women, square open enclosures will be built.

14. Application has been made for information respecting the general level of the town with a view to commence the drainage of such parts as stand in most need. A comprehensive scheme of drainage for the whole town is quite beyond what present local funds can afford, but it is proposed year by year to carry out smaller works as funds become available, these being parts of a general plan of drainage to be kept in view.

15. The cleansing of some of the large stone tanks in the town has been considered, and funds are set apart in the current year's budget for this work. The magnificent Nurrendro tank is the largest and best, and is much resorted to for drinking and bathing. Being the chief drinking source, it should be kept as clean as possible. The remaining three tanks are less advantageously situated for cleansing and flushing. I fear very large sums of money will be required to cleanse them satisfactorily; they are surrounded by high bunds, and are 80 to 100 feet below surrounding level. Two of the three cannot at all be flushed. It can scarcely be expected that all these should be kept clean at public expense.

16. The Pejnulla connected with the temple is a permanent nuisance. It is a large cistern into which the rice water of the temple is allowed to flow. The large quantity of Mahaproshad that is made, occasions a great flow of this water from the temple cook-rooms. The fermentation and stench that occur are a great nuisance to people passing this large thoroughfare and living in the neighbourhood. The Rajah, as far as I am aware, was permitted to build the cistern on the understanding he would keep it clean and free from nuisance. Great laxity however occurred in this duty during the past year, although several warnings were sent by the Magistrate and Health Officer.

17. Another matter requiring regulation is the large number of bulls and cows that are allowed to wander round about the temple and larger streets. The danger and obstruction that they cause during ordinary times is bad enough; but in the Ruth and other large festivals the furious manner in which they force their way through crowds is simply painful to witness; people are knocked down, and sometimes gored, by the excited and frightened animals. Some system is required to compass this evil; the town police are either unable or unwilling to effect it. If a perwannah is sent on the subject, their zeal lasts but a few days, for the nuisance soon gains its former bulk.

No. 2769, dated Calcutta, the 26th June 1872.

From—T. J. C. PLOWDEN, Esq., Offg. Under-Secy. to the Govt. of Bengal.

To—The Commissioner of the Orissa Division.

I AM directed to acknowledge the receipt of your letter No. 55LF of the 3rd June 1872, submitting with your remarks the report of the Health Officer of Pooree on the working of Act IV (B.C.) of 1871 from its introduction up to March 1872.

In reply I am to say the Lieutenant-Governor has noticed with much satisfaction the judicious way in which the Act has been worked and the little opposition it has excited.

The suggestion made in paragraph 7 of your letter under reply should not be lost sight of. The funds of endowments charged with the repair of tanks, &c., should be looked to and appropriated in order to carry out the necessary cleansing and repairs without indenting on the funds raised under the Act.

I am also to request you to be so good as to report whether any action under section XXXIX is proposed to be taken by you in view to extending the Act to the great camping places of pilgrims on the Pooree road.

The acknowledgments of the Lieutenant Governor should be conveyed to Dr. W. D. Stewart, the late Health Officer of Pooree, for the services rendered by him.

25	Beerbhoom .	„ 29th	1·38	Much the same as in sudder station, viz cloudy and showery without any heavy fall of rain.	Sugarcane and other crops actually in the ground are doing well The rice crop is being sown. The present weather affords favorable prospects.
26	Hooghly ...	„ 29th	2 51	Cloudy, rainy, and high wind from the east.	Jute, ous, amun, and sugarcane, doing well, but the last partially injured by the previous drought.
27	Howrah ..	„ 29th	2 77	Northerly winds at times very high, rain has fallen almost daily throughout the district.	Favorable. In the south, where cultivation has been more backward than elsewhere, the ryots have been enabled to commence ploughing and sowing their lands.

32	Dacca ..	„ 20th	Nil	Windy and cloudy Slight drizzling showers, but not enough to affect the gauge. Showers very partial.	Prospects of crops good as yet. The rivers have risen very rapidly, and some damage has been done in low lands, but as yet the damage is slight. If the rapid rise continues, damage will be done
33	Backergunge ..	„ 29th	5·17	Cloudy and rainy.	Good The rains have been of much benefit to the crops
34	Furreedpore ..	„ 29th	2 79	Cloudy and sunshine at intervals, drizzling rain throughout the week.	There has not been enough rain during the last two or three weeks to push the rice on sufficiently to cope with the sudden rise of the Ganges, which has inundated the country, and it is feared has drowned much of the rice in the low tracts. Three or four days ago the Collector called for special reports on this subject, and these have not yet come in; but if very unfavorable, he promised to submit special report.
35	Mymensing ...	„ 22nd	4 34	Showery with some thunder-storms; the rains appear to have fairly set in.	Both rice and jute are in a very satisfactory state, and there are prospects of an excellent crop.

36	Sylhet ..	.....	.....	.....	.....	Return not received
37	Cachar ...	June 22nd	3·36	Though more than the average quantity of rain has fallen this year, the ground is rather dry. Rain has come by fits and starts, and intervals of sunny weather for days together have dried up the country; for instance, there was no rain for the last 8½ days, the recorded quantity having fallen in the first half of the week	About half of the broadcast crop of rice has been sown. Transplanting for the other crops has commenced, but they must have more continuous rain, otherwise ploughing will be entirely stopped About ¼ of the seedlings for the late crop have come up, but the land is not ready for them. Tea is not doing very well. Blight has appeared south of the river.
38	Chittagong ...	„ 22nd	·49	There appears to have been fair rainfall in the south of the district and in the northern division along the sea face. In the Hulda Valley and the central thannahs of Chittagong town, Potia, and Satkania, the rainfall has been insufficient.	The early transplanting crop of rice is said to have suffered from want of rain. No injury is reported from Cox's Bazar.
39	Noakhally or Bullooah	„ 22nd	1·19	Cloudy with a few showers and a strong south-east wind during the week	Ous dhan being sown at Ramgunge and amun dhan at Ameergong. More rain wanted.
40	Tipperah ...	„ 22nd	·42	Very little rain Heavy fall wanted, as the heat is extreme.	Jute and rice crops are being injured from want of rain. In the adjacent district of Sylhet the rainfall has been four times greater than here.
41	Hill Tipperah ..	.....	.....	.....	.....	Return not received.
42	Hill Tracts of Chittagong.	„ 22nd	1·7	Rain not heavy. One or two heavy showers during the week, but nothing like the amount of rain which generally falls at this time of year No thunder-storms Prevailing wind south and south-west, coming in squalls from the latter direction.	Crops are promising, such as have been sown early; the later crops seem to be suffering from want of rain. By the rise of the rivers there must have been heavy rains to the east.	A slight shock of earth-quake at 11 P.M. on the 21st June 1872.
43	Cuttack	.....	.....	.....	.....	Return not received.
44	Balasore ...	.....	.....	.....	.....	Return not received.
45	Pooree	22nd	1·36	Abundant rain at the end of the week.	All anxiety over.
46	Hazareebaugh	„ 29th	0·66	Cloudy and cool ...	More rain wanted; sowing still incomplete owing to the want of sufficient rain.
47	Lohardaggah ...	„ 29th	6·82	Cloudy and seasonable Heavy thunder-storms on the 24th Rain has been general, except in the centre of Palamow sub-division, where it is much wanted.	Favorable. Dhan, mokai, and goondlee, have all germinated well. In Palamow sowing has just commenced.
48	Maunbhoom ...	„ 29th	3 24	Rainy and favorable ..	All crops on the ground are promising well.	Cholera has been prevalent in the N & W of district, but it is on the decrease.
49	Singbhoom ...	„ 22nd	3·40	Seasonable. Rainfall now sufficient.	Favorable.
50	Durrung ...	„ 22nd	1·53	Sultry; rain falls in frequent short showers, interrupted by sunshine; rain general all over the district, and the rivers very high.	Very good indeed; large quantities of tea are being made.

51	Nowgong ...	June 22nd	3·30	Weather seasonable; the monsoon has set in	Crops doing well; tea ditto.
52	Seebsaugor ...	„ 22nd	3·14	Cloudy with a few heavy showers of rain. Rain very general in sudder sub-district but more is wanted in the Jorehaut sub-division.	The seed grain is now in the ground and operations have commenced for the sali dhan crops, but more rain is needed. Reports of tea crops satisfactory in the eastern portion of the district.
53	Kamroop ...	„ 22nd	2·76	The mornings were cloudy and still, and the afternoons generally hot, with occasional squalls.	Prospects of cotton, sugarcane, and tea, favorable. The ous harvest is good and being gathered in, and up to this the rising of the river has caused it no injury. The land is now being ploughed for transplanting sali dhan.
54	Luckimpore ...	„ 22nd	4·81	Heavy rains during the week in the intervals of hot sun. Weather most favorable for the staple crops of the district. Therm. max. 9° „ min 79°	The lands are commenced to be ploughed and the weather propitious; no other crops in the ground, but growing rice in the nurseries.
55	Khasi and Jyntcah Hills.	„ 22nd	3·10	Rain has been plentiful and the weather is seasonable.	Potato cultivation promises well, and the Indian-corn likewise is flourishing. The planting out of the halee paddy is still in progress.
56	Naga Hills ...	„ 15th	3·18	Heavy showers of rain and a good deal of fog, making the mornings cool and pleasant, but the evenings unhealthily chilly.	Satisfactory.
57	Julpigooree ...	„ 29th	·91	Rain is greatly needed, only a few slight showers fell during the week, the weather being bright and clear, and the sun very powerful. In the sub-division of Fallacotta there was heavy rain on Sunday, 1·05 falling. With the exception of this one day the weather in the sub-division seems to have been much the same as it was at head-quarters.	Although rain is greatly needed, the want of it this week does not as yet appear to have affected the crops, which are going on well.	In the terai cholera still hangs about, while in other parts of the district it has greatly abated.
58	Gowalparah ...	„ 22nd	11·14	Cloudy; rain throughout the district during the whole week; unusually heavy rain on Tuesday.	Aasoo crops, which were sown in low lands, are now being reaped. Crops have not suffered from the heavy rains; harvest prospects good.
59	Garo Hills ...	„ 22nd	5·26	Occasional heavy showers and cloudy up to 19th; since then gradually cleared up, and 22nd fine.	In some parts tolerably favorable only; southern portion of district very good. In general more rain required.
60	Darjeeling .	„ 29th	1·70	Unseasonably dry, consequently not very healthy.	The crops in the terai are favorably reported of. The rising crops in the hills are doing well.	Cholera has not quite left the district, but it appears to be passing away.
61	Cooch Behar ...	„ 22nd	8·49	Rainy, with intervals of sunshine.	In the low grounds the ous paddy is said to have been injured by floods; the prospects of the amun paddy and jute are so far good.

RESOLUTION.

The 2nd July 1872.—With reference to the notification regarding the examination for civil appointments to be held in February next, and to the promise therein contained that classes for teaching the prescribed subjects will be immediately opened in the Hooghly College, the Lieutenant-Governor, after considering the report of a committee on the subject, is pleased to sanction the following arrangements, and to direct that the classes shall be opened on 1st August next, or sooner if possible.

2. Eventually it is proposed to establish a two years' course for the purpose of teaching the prescribed subjects, but in the meantime a short course will be at once undertaken, in order to secure an early supply of candidates fitted for the public service, by adding to a good general education already received by capable and vigorous young men so much of the special subjects now required as may be attainable by earnest students in the time intervening before the examination.

3. Under instructions communicated to him, the Director of Public Instruction will at once obtain for the Hooghly College the best man he can find to teach drawing, surveying, and engineering. Probably an assistant on Rs. 50 or Rs. 75 per mensem would suffice, instead of an independent teacher, to enable him to carry on the ordinary school classes on these subjects as well as the college classes.

4. The Lieutenant-Governor is pleased to sanction the entertainment of a qualified man from the Medical College on a salary of Rs. 200 per mensem to teach the elements of Botany and Chemistry; and of a competent Batchelor of Law on Rs. 100 per mensem to teach the Criminal, Revenue, and General Law, required for the examination.

5. A suitable gymnasium will be set up immediately in the college, and an allowance of Rs. 40 per mensem is sanctioned for a teacher. Swimming and other athletic exercises will be included under the title of gymnastics. Arrangements will also be made to engage the services of a competent horseman with a couple of horses to teach riding.

6. All students of the college, and other persons whom the Principal may consider to be fit and eligible, and possessed of a sufficient education, will be admitted to the civil service class on payment of the ordinary college fees as now charged for Mahomedans and others respectively, that is to say, 1 rupee per mensem for Mahomedans, and Rs. 5 per mensem for all others. Boys of the upper classes of the collegiate school whom the Principal may consider to be fit and to be qualified to pass with credit the next University Entrance Examination may be admitted if they desire it.

7. An extra fee of Rs. 10 (once for all) will be charged for instruction in riding.

8. Students who elect to follow the full civil service course must continue to attend the English classes and any classes in which arithmetic and writing are taught, but attendance in the other classes will be optional with them.

9. Permission having been given to the present scholarship-holders to attend this course, no special scholarships need at present be provided for.

10. The following elementary books on Botany and Chemistry, as proposed by the Committee, will be studied by the students attending the civil service class, viz. :—

Oliver's Manual of Indian Botany.

Roscoe's Lessons on Elementary Chemistry.

11. The following sums are sanctioned for the necessary preparations and apparatus, viz. :—

	Rs.
For adapting the college building for class rooms	1,500
For school furniture	1,500
For a gymnasium, with apparatus ..	1,000
Apparatus for lectures on Drawing, Surveying, and Engineering ...	1,000
Apparatus for Botany and Chemistry	1,000
Total ...	6,000

12. The following allowances are also sanctioned, i.e.—

	Rs.
For chemicals ...	25	per mensem.
For a mallee ...	10	,,
For a compounder to assist in lectures on Chemistry	12	,,
Total ...	17	per mensem.

13. An allowance of Rs. 100 per mensem is also sanctioned for a lecturer on the prescribed law subjects at Patna.

14. Competent teachers of Drawing, Surveying, and Engineering, have already been sent to Patna, Dacca, and Cuttack.

The fees for this special class will be for those who are not students of the college,—entrance Rs 5 and a monthly fee of Rs 3. In case of a great demand for teaching in any of the special subjects at any of the colleges abovementioned, an application from the Principal will be considered.

Circular No. 34:
JUDICIAL DEPARTMENT.
JUDICIAL.

To all Commissioners and all Magistrates of Dist...,—
(dated Calcutta, the 1st July 1872.)

I AM directed to call your very particular attention to the new Code of Criminal Procedure, Act X of 1872, which will come into force on 1st September next.

2. The changes in the powers and position of Magistrates effected by the Code are so considerable, that it will be desirable to re-gazette all Magistrates with the powers which it is deemed desirable to invest them with under the new law. The Lieutenant-Governor accordingly wishes to have submitted to him complete lists of Officers and Honorary Magistrates, with the powers for which each is recommended. These are to be submitted by Magistrates of districts through the Commissioners.

3. Magistrates will now be first, second, and third class, and Special Magistrates (section 42). Also power is taken, and will be very freely used, for the creation of benches of Magistrates (sections 50 to 56), and powers of summary trial may be conferred on any first class Magistrate and on benches of Magistrates (sections 222 to 230).

4. The powers of Magistrates of the first and second class are considerably enlarged. Grievous hurt by dangerous weapons, false evidence, and some other offences hitherto exclusively triable by Courts of Sessions, may in future be tried by a Magistrate of the first class; and very large classes of cases of common occurrence, hitherto triable by a first class Magistrate only, are now made triable by a Magistrate of the second class, who has also now power to pass a sentence of solitary confinement.

5. In fact, it may be said that almost all offences are now either entered in column 7 of the schedule as triable by the Court of Sessions, or are triable by a Magistrate of the second class. Almost the only cases entered as triable exclusively by a Magistrate of the first class are a very few offences by or relating to public servants (Penal Code, sections 163, 166, 169), and against public justice (sections 204, 208, 209, 210, 211, 215, 216), which are not so much separate offences in themselves as offences occurring in the course of judicial proceedings. Practically, then, all sub-divisional officers and second class Magistrates invested with power to commit for trial will have, either in virtue of their own powers, or as qualified to hold preliminary inquiry in sessions cases, jurisdiction in nearly every case that can occur; and there is not the same necessity as before for giving first class powers, except where an officer is in every way fully qualified for such powers and there is real need for a Magistrate of that rank.

6. A second class Magistrate in charge of a sub-division has, as such, very large powers. Also, when in cases within his jurisdiction he deems a more severe punishment than he can give necessary, he can send on the file for orders to the Magistrate of the district after completing the trial. And in those sessions cases which are also triable by a first class Magistrate, if he deems that the case may best be tried by the latter officer, he can stop the preliminary inquiry at any stage and send the parties and witnesses on to the first class Magistrate.

7. All Magistrates in charge of sub-divisions will be able to hear on complaint, and to take up without complaint, cases within their jurisdiction; but the Lieutenant-Governor will invest all Magistrates of districts with power under section 48 to withdraw from any Magistrate subordinate to him the cognizance of any classes of cases which he may think proper to reserve.

8. No Magistrate other than the Magistrate of the district or of a sub-division of district has power to entertain any case (not made over to him) unless he is specially authorized to do so.

9. It will be observed that in most cases authority to hear complaints and exercise certain powers may be delegated by the Magistrate of the district to his subordinates; but there are some powers which can only be given by the Government: and when it is desired to give these powers to any officer, special application must be made. That will principally be necessary in the case of Magistrates not in charge of sub-divisions, the latter having by the law very large powers, subject to reservation by the Magistrate of the district.

10. A new provision of very great importance is that for giving power of summary trial (sections 222-230). This power must only be entrusted to first class Magistrates of approved efficiency and discretion. At the same time it will be a very great advantage that competent officers should exercise the power. The qualifications of each first class Magistrate must then be very carefully considered, and recommendation made accordingly to give or not to give him this summary power.

11. The Lieutenant-Governor hopes that he may be able very freely to use the power of appointing benches of Magistrates and special Magistrates. Most of the Honorary Magistrates may probably be utilized under these designations, and many new ones may be created for the purpose. The Lieutenant-Governor thinks it most desirable that petty assaults and such cases should be disposed of summarily (under the provisions of section 225) by a bench sitting say once a week, and composed either of one paid and one or two unpaid Magistrates or wholly of unpaid Magistrates. Possibly an arrangement might be made by which a sub-divisional officer or other paid Magistrate should visit by way of circuit several of the most important places in each sub-division, and sitting with the local Magistrates of each place dispose periodically of all the petty cases without any cumbrous procedure or record of evidence.

And whether as benches or as special Magistrates, the Lieutenant-Governor hopes that the leading men of each considerable Municipality might themselves dispose of the municipal and other petty cases. He will therefore freely and readily receive applications for the investing very many respectable men with powers as special Magistrates.

Under the provisions of section 52, the Magistrate of the district must make rules for the guidance of the benches of Magistrates sitting in his district, regarding the classes of cases to be tried, the times and places of sitting, the constitution of the bench, and the mode of settling differences of opinion. These rules will much depend on local circumstances, and the Lieutenant-Governor will therefore await the submission of proposed rules. They should be sent to the Commissioner, collated by him, and submitted to Government with his remarks.

12. In addition to the above noticed provisions for summary trial, there are other provisions of the new Code calculated to diminish the burden of an excessive and laborious record of the evidence.

There are some special provisions regarding evidence, sections 327 to 330; but the new section, which will give very great relief to all the Magistrates of the first and second class, is section 333. Under this provision these Magistrates will be relieved from taking full evidence, reading it over to the witnesses, &c., &c., in all cases of petty theft, house-trespass, rioting, mischief, &c.,—in fact in all the common classes of cases, and will only be required to keep in all these, as well as in all summons cases, a mere memorandum or note of the substance of the evidence as it proceeds,—a process which ought not to be very long or tedious.

13. It is also to be observed that under the provisions of sections 361 and 362, the Magistrate has now a discretion in regard to the summoning of unnecessary witnesses, and will thus be able to keep cases within reasonable bounds.

14. The full and formal record of evidence will be confined then to exceptionally heinous and important cases. That being so, the Lieutenant-Governor thinks that the work will be quite manageable, and he does not propose to alter the present rule requiring Magistrates to take down with their own hands any evidence that must be recorded.

15. It is, however, different in regard to Sessions Judges. Except in so far as the enlarged powers of the Magistrates may relieve them of some cases, their procedure is not abbreviated. The Lieutenant-Governor has doubts whether all men are capable of taking down the evidence and conducting the cases efficiently at the same time, when a long trial and succession of trials is carried on from day to day and from week to week in the Sessions Court. With reference, therefore, to the provisions of section 335, the Lieutenant-Governor will be willing to consider the application of any overburdened Sessions Judge who may desire to be relieved of the duty of taking the full evidence in his own hand, and who would prefer to have a vernacular record of the evidence taken down by a skilled native writer, the Judge himself making only a memorandum of the substance of the evidence. This, however, will only be possible if a good and quick writer is available to take the evidence down.

16. In connection with the subject of evidence, it will be observed that section 126 leaves no doubt of the full power of the criminal courts to make use of the police diaries during a trial.

17. It is not necessary to enter here upon many other changes introduced by the new Code. The provisions regarding jurisdiction over European British subjects and other matters speak for themselves, and principally involve judicial considerations. The Lieutenant-Governor will then only add the hope that all officers will, without delay, make themselves thoroughly masters of the new Code, and he will hope for the early and careful submission of the lists called for by this circular, that he may be able in due time to confer the powers proper to be conferred on each class of officers and unpaid Magistrates, and so may at the earliest possible time give full effect to the new Code.

NOTIFICATION.

The 8th July 1872.—As any message tendered for transmission by telegraph is treated as "private" if not marked "service," and the omission to write the word "service" on messages on the public service causes misunderstanding, the attention of all public officers is hereby drawn to the forms now under issue by the Director-General of Telegraphs in India, in which a special place is provided for entry of the word "service" or "private" as the case may be. In the meantime in the old pattern forms the classification can be entered anywhere, and notably the service frank may be written immediately above the signature.

[Second Publication.]

THE following Act of the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal in Council received the assent of His Honor on the 16th March 1872, and having been assented to by His Excellency the Governor-General on the 6th June 1872, is hereby promulgated for general information :—

ACT No. III OF 1872.

An Act to Amend the Calcutta Port Improvement Act, being Act V of 1870 passed by the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal in Council, and to amend Act XXII of 1855.

Preamble.

WHEREAS it is expedient to give to the Commissioners for making improvements in the Port of Calcutta a like indemnity to that which is given to the East India Company by section 61 of Act XXII of 1855, and otherwise to amend the said Act; It is hereby enacted as follows :—

Indemnity to Port Commissioners against default of officers, &c.

1. The said Commissioners shall not be answerable for any act or default of any Conservator or Harbour Master of the said port, or of any Deputy or Assistant of the said officers, or of any person acting under the authority or directions of any such officer or assistant, heretofore or hereafter done within the limits of the said port; nor for any damage or injury heretofore or hereafter sustained by any vessel in consequence of any defect in any of the moorings, hawsers, or other thing belonging to the said Commissioners within the said port which may be used by such vessel. Provided that nothing in this section shall protect the said Commissioners from an action in respect of any act done by or under the express order or sanction of the said Commissioners.

Repeal of Section 23, Act XXII of 1855.

2. Section 23 of the said Act XXII of 1855 is hereby repealed so far as the same affects the Port of Calcutta, but such repeal shall not affect any act done or liability incurred under the said section.

Commissioners may raise wreck, &c., and charge reasonable expenses

3. If any vessel with or without cargo shall be wrecked, stranded, or sunk within the limits of the said port, the Commissioners may in any case cause the same to be raised, removed, or destroyed; or they may call on the owner, master, or consignee thereof, to cause the same to be raised, removed, or destroyed; and if the said owner, master, or consignee, when called upon, shall refuse or neglect forthwith so to do, the Commissioners in that case also may cause the same to be raised, removed, or destroyed. Unless all expenses in or towards executing any works undertaken by the Commissioners under this section shall be repaid within one month after the completion thereof, the Commissioners may recover the same in the manner provided by the next succeeding section. The amount claimable and due under this section shall include all monies expended, reasonable remuneration for labor and for the use of the property and appliances of the Commissioners, and a further sum of twenty per cent. on the total amount so due in respect of monies expended and of remuneration. If any dispute shall arise concerning the amount due to the Commissioners under this section, the same shall be determined by a Magistrate, who, upon application made to him for that purpose, shall have power to determine such amount, and to award such costs as he shall think reasonable to be added to or deducted from the amount due under this section as he shall direct; and whose decision shall be final.

Sale of property if unclaimed, or if expenses unpaid.

4. If the property recovered under the next preceding section is unclaimed; or if the person claiming the same refuses or neglects to pay the amount due to the Commissioners under the next preceding section in respect thereof, such property, if of a perishable nature, may be sold forthwith, and if not of a perishable nature may be detained by the Commissioners at the risk and expense of all parties interested therein, and may be sold at any period not less than two months after the recovery thereof by public auction, and after the realization of the proceeds thereof, the amount due to the Commissioners as aforesaid shall be deducted therefrom and paid to the Commissioners, and the balance shall be paid to the person entitled to recover on his applying for the same; provided that such application be made within one year from the sale of such property, or good reason to the satisfaction of the Commissioners be shown why such application was not made. Otherwise such balance shall be held by the Commissioners, upon trust for the purposes of the said Act V of 1870.

Vessels not to have more than five pounds of powder, &c., on board.

5. In sections 29 and 31 of the said Act XXII of 1855, from such time as the Lieutenant-Governer of Bengal shall notify in the Calcutta Gazette, for the words "fifty pounds" wherever such words occur shall be substituted the words "five pounds," and, the said Act shall be thereafter read and construed as if the words hereby directed to be substituted were inserted in place of the words for which they are hereby directed to be substituted.

Duty of police officers.

6. It shall be the duty of all police officers to give immediate information to the Commissioners of any offence committed contrary to the provisions of the said Act V of 1870, or of Act XXII of 1855, or of any bye-laws or rules having the force of law prescribed in accordance therewith. Any police officer may arrest any person committing in his view any offence against any of the said provisions, if the name and address of such person be unknown. Such person may be detained at the station-house until his name and address shall be correctly ascertained.

Construction of Act.

7. This Act shall be read with and taken as part of the said Act V of 1870, and of the said Act XXII of 1855.

ing the intention in many places which it is unnecessary to mention in detail.

3. We have maintained throughout the original principle of the Bill, that the Commissioners should manage their resources, creating a fund by the imposition of one or more of those taxes which they consider most suited to the circumstances of the municipality and expending their income on those objects which appear most desirable for the maintenance and improvement of the municipality and for the welfare of the inhabitants, providing at the same time that the incidence of such taxes should be as equable on all classes as is possible, and that the gross amount realized should not press heavily in any place. It is not inconsistent with the principle of self-government to provide against possible errors arising from inexperience or want of prudence, and therefore the Bill makes provision for the control, when necessary, of the proceedings of Municipal Commissioners. The ratio operandi provided is that all general orders shall be issued by the Commissioners at a meeting, and that the Chairman, or, if the power be delegated to him, or in the absence of the Chairman, the Vice-Chairman, shall have the executive management of all matters subject to those orders. The government of the municipality will be vested in the Commissioners, and they will have full power of control in the administration of it.

4. In section 3 we have introduced definitions of "offensive matter," "rubbish," "movable property," "holding," "navigable channel," and "boat." The effect of these definitions will be to render the provisions of the Bill more clear and to avoid useless repetitions. We have omitted the proposed definition of "land," because it appears to us to contain nothing which is not understood to be covered by the word in its ordinary acceptation, and because no definition of the word appears to be required in any portion of the Bill. We have also omitted the definition of bazaar, because it is used only in schedule E, and the Commissioners are expressly empowered to define it from time to time. We have omitted the greater portion of the proposed definition of "road," because it is not very clear or intelligible, and because the first four lines contain all that is requisite. And we have substituted the definition of "owner," which is given in Act VII, 1867.

5. The section providing for the limits of the operation of the Act has been divided for the sake of clearness. We have also introduced a proviso limiting first class municipalities to places containing a certain population. And we have provided for the withdrawal of any place from the operation of the Act, if circumstances should make such a course expedient.

6. We have transferred to Part 1 the definition and limitation of third class municipalities, and the other provisions specifically relating to them will be found in Part 12 and in some of the sections of the last part; but no other portion of the Act will be extended to such municipalities without the express order of the Lieutenant-Governor, and the taxation therein will be confined ordinarily to the tax on persons. A section has been prefixed to each Part declaring the limits of its operation.

7. The Municipal Acts now extant will cease to have effect on the extension of this law to any place. We have not provided for the immediate repeal of those enactments, because some time will be required to make the necessary arrangements, but we have fixed a date after which they will cease and be wholly repealed. We have endeavoured to make this Bill complete in itself, and the entire removal of all such laws from the statute book is therefore desirable.

8. We have provided that in every first class municipality the number of Commissioners, in addition to official Commissioners, shall not be less than eight, and in the second class not less than four, and we have omitted the proposed maximum number. The official Commissioners must be salaried officers of Government, receiving a salary of not less than Rs. 100 a month. No Commissioner will be subject to removal except for corruption or continued neglect to discharge the duties of the office which he has undertaken.

9. The Magistrate of the district will be ex-officio Chairman if the municipality be at the sudder station, and the Magistrate of the division of the district will be ex-officio Chairman if the municipality be in the division; but we have provided that the Magistrate of the district may delegate such duties to an officer subordinate to him at the sudder station, and may authorize a subordinate officer to take charge of the municipality in a division of the district in case of a vacancy.

10. We have provided that the Commissioners may, with the sanction of Government, grant a salary to their Vice-Chairman, and that the Chairman may delegate to the Vice-Chairman any of his duties.

11. We have provided that dispensaries and other public institutions shall be made over to the Commissioners only on such conditions as they accept.

12. We have given to the Commissioners power to take land on lease, as well as to purchase it. The 20th section of the original Bill has been struck out, because Act X of 1870 provides for the acquisition of land by municipal bodies.

13. It has been deemed sufficient to require the Commissioners to meet once every month; and we have made it imperative on the Chairman to call a meeting on the requisition of three of the Commissioners. A meeting of the Commissioners will not be able to transact the business which must be done "at a meeting," unless such meeting has been called by the Chairman or Vice-Chairman, and unless four are present in a first class and three in a second class municipality. Minutes are to be recorded of the proceedings of all meetings, and the book will be open to the tax-payers.

14. We have provided that the Chairman, or in his absence the Vice-Chairman, shall exercise any of the powers of the Commissioners, as distinguished from the powers of the Commissioners at a meeting, at all times, and not merely in cases of emergency, as the original Bill provided, but we have given to the Commissioners at a meeting the power of staying for the future any of the proceedings of the Chairman of which they disapprove, which will afford, as it appears to us, a sufficient control over the administration of their business.

15. The appointment and dismissal of the subordinate officers and servants of the municipality must necessarily rest with the Chairman, but the power of regulating the number and the salaries of such employés is vested in the Commissioners, and their sanction is requisite to the appointment or dismissal of any officer whose salary exceeds Rs. 50 a month. We have also provided a check on possible extravagance, by requiring the sanction of the Magistrate of the district to the creation of offices with large emoluments, and we have declared that every servant of the municipality is a public servant within the meaning of the Penal Code.

16. It appears to us expedient that the Commissioners at a meeting, instead of the Chairman, should divide the municipality into wards; and that members of the Ward Committees should be elected, as Commissioners may be elected, wherever such course is feasible. We consider it advisable to omit the attempted definition of the powers of the Ward Committee, and to leave it open to the Commissioners to delegate to the Committee, subject to their own control, any of their own powers.

17. A section has been added for the purpose of disallowing the vote of a Commissioner on a question directly affecting his own interest.

18. Part III, Municipal Taxation.—We have provided a maximum of the taxation to be imposed on the inhabitants of any municipality, which it is hoped will allay the fears of those who have foreboded in the application of this law oppression and misery; and we have excluded from the limited amount all profits derivable from the ferries and toll-bars now in existence, and from channels and mooring dues, which only partially affect the residents. The incidence of the aggregate taxation will therefore be light, and we have deemed it unnecessary to retain the proposed maximum average in respect of the tax on persons. We have provided that the tax on persons and the tax on holdings shall not be imposed in the same municipality, and that the tax on trades and callings shall not be imposed by any municipal body which has adopted the tax on persons. It will be left to the Commissioners to select, with reference to the circumstances of the municipality, either the tax on persons or the tax on holdings, or the tax on holdings combined with the tax on trades and callings. We deem it expedient to omit the proposed tax "on public ceremonies, not exclusively religious, and requiring the attention of the police," because it involves much difficulty in distinguishing religious from other ceremonies, and might become a vexations impost on innocent amusements. Profits derivable from tolls imposed on navigable channels have been classed with those derivable from ferries and roads, which are now absorbed in the public revenue; and we have added mooring dues, which are now commonly but illegally realized by the riparian land-owners; they may afford legitimate and in some cases large profits to the municipality, and would enable the Commissioners to provide wharves and facilities for landing goods which are now greatly wanted.

19. Tax on persons.—By the original Bill it was proposed that the assessment list prepared by the Commissioners should be forwarded for revision to the Magistrate, that the assessment should remain in force for three years, and that at the end of that period a fresh assessment should not be necessary if the Magistrate should think it sufficient to revise the old assessment; and several sections were added providing for appeals from the assessment. The whole chapter was taken from Act VI of 1868. Under the rules which we have adopted, the submission of the list to the Magistrate will not be required. Notice of his assessment will be served on each person assessed by the Commissioners, and he will be at liberty to appeal to the Commissioners at a meeting; and when his assessment has been once sanctioned, he will be safe from further inquisition for three years, unless he asks for a revision on the ground of diminished means. No mere error in the assessment will be corrected; but during the three years the Commissioners may assess any person who was omitted from the list without authority, or whose liability to assessment has accrued since the formation of the list. Considering the many changes which will probably occur within three years, it is however necessary that there should be a thorough revision of the assessment at the end of that period. We have omitted the last section of the chapter, empowering the Commissioner of the division to direct the revision of the assessment, because by a section at the close of the Bill it is provided that all the proceedings of the Commissioners should be under the general control of the Magistrate of the district, the Commissioner of the division, and the Lieutenant-Governor.

20. Tax on holdings.—We have substituted the term "holdings" in lieu of "houses, buildings, and lands," for the sake of convenience. The original Bill, adopting the provisions of Act III of 1864, required the Commissioners to make an annual valuation of all holdings, to fix a rate for the ensuing year, and to sit for the purpose of hearing objections to such valuation and assessment. It appears to us sufficient to provide that the Commissioners shall make a valuation list, which shall be in force for three years, and that any person whose property is included in such list may apply for a revision of it. As soon as the rate has been fixed for the year, the assessment list will be prepared; a notice of his assessment will be served on the owner of each holding; and he will be at liberty to appeal to the Commissioners at a meeting. When the tax on a house is consolidated with the tax on the land on which it stands, and a dispute arises between the owner of the house and the owner of the land regarding the proportional amount for which either is liable, the Commissioners are empowered to settle the dispute. We have added two provisos to the section regarding the remission of tax during the vacancy of a house in order to prevent evasions; and we have allowed the remission of only one half of the tax otherwise due. Buildings used for public worship or charitable purposes have been exempted.

21. Tax on carriages and animals.—It was proposed in the original Bill to adopt the course provided in Act III of 1864, and to require the Commissioners to send to all persons supposed to be liable to the payment of the tax schedules to be filled up by them, from which schedules a list was to be prepared. It seems to us to be more convenient to require every person who owns a carriage, or a horse, or other animal liable to the tax, to apply half-yearly for a license on a statement furnished by himself, and to provide a penalty for neglect to take out a license for any carriage or animal. The Commissioners will fix and publish rates at the end of each year for the ensuing year, and the list kept will comprise only the licenses granted at those rates. We have therefore omitted the sections providing for appeals from these assessments. Power has been given to the Commissioners to inspect any stable or coach-house, and to summon and examine persons who have omitted to take out a license. The license is to be taken out during the first month of the half-year for all carriages and animals then in the possession of the licensee, and we have therefore omitted the sections, which declared that the ownership for any number of days in a quarter involved liability to the tax for the whole quarter, and exempted carriages under repair; but we have required every person to take out a license for the unexpired portion of the half year in respect of any carriage or animal acquired by him during the half-year. We have provided that this part shall not apply to hackney carriages in the suburbs of Calcutta, for which a license is paid under Act V of 1866.

22. Registration of vehicles without springs.—The original Bill left it optional with the owner of a vehicle without springs to take out a license or to register, but we think it expedient to compel the registration of all vehicles without springs, and to require the owner to take a license for every carriage on springs. We have empowered the Commissioners to seize and detain at any time any vehicle which has not been registered.

23. Tax on trades and callings.—We have exempted persons in the suburbs of Calcutta who have taken out a license under Act II of 1866, and we have provided for the payment of a proportional fee by a person commencing a trade in the course of the year.

24. Tax on processions.—We propose to alter materially the provisions for levying this tax. We omit all consideration of the number of persons joining in the procession or attracted by the spectacle; we require a license only when guns or fireworks are discharged, or an elephant is used, or more than four musicians are employed; and we have materially reduced the amount of the fees. We have interposed a few words to signify that marriage is not a religious ceremony within the meaning of this chapter; and we have added a section to avoid the application of this tax to travellers or other companies engaged in their business.

25. Duties on articles.—We have provided that the duty shall be levied, not on articles sold as was proposed, but on articles brought into a hath or market; that the duty on any article of food entering the limits of the municipality shall not exceed one per cent. of the value, and that the duty on any article brought into a market shall not exceed one pice in the rupee, or half a seer in a maund. And we have added a penalty for illegal or extortionate levy of such duties.

26. Tolls on ferries and roads.—We have re-cast this chapter, as the provisions contained in it were much confused; and we have provided one set of rules for ferries and one for roads. Many of the sections are necessarily similar, but it has been found impossible to amalgamate them without sacrificing clearness to space. It is left to the Government to assign to a municipality any existing ferry or toll-bar, and the Commissioners may acquire other ferries by purchase, and establish other toll-bars with the sanction of the Government. The tolls may be leased; and we have provided rules to ensure the payment of the tolls and the good conduct of the toll-collectors. The ferry toll-collector is empowered to refuse admission to the boat until the toll is paid, and therefore no provision is required for the recovery of unpaid tolls. There is this difference between ferry and road tolls, that foot-passengers are required to pay toll at a ferry but may pass the toll bar without payment.

27. Tolls on navigable channels.—We have introduced this new provision to meet any case in which the Government may be pleased to assign any such channel to a municipality, as the Dholai Khal, which has been vested in the Dacca municipality under the provisions of section 6, Act VII of 1870. But it was found unnecessary to prepare any new rules, as they are provided by Act V of 1864.

28. Mooring duties.—This is also a new tax, but it may be collected without difficulty, for we have provided that the Collector shall show a printed copy of the table of rates to the person in charge of the boat, and may detain the boat until the duty is paid.

29. Recovery of municipal taxes.—We have placed at the commencement of this part a rule requiring the Commissioners to keep open their office for certain fixed hours every day, in order that any person liable for any tax or other demand may be enabled to pay it without difficulty, and without the annoyance of notices, distress-warrants, &c., and we have directed that the receipt given for such payment shall state the tax to which the money is appropriated.

30. This part is necessarily confined to the recovery of the tax on persons and the tax on holdings, as all the other taxes are satisfied by paying license or registration fees, or by cash payments of tolls or duties, and the non-payment of them is punishable by fine.

31. Several municipalities have recommended that these taxes should be levied by monthly instalments; but it appears to us that quarterly demands would involve less annoyance and less expense than monthly instalments, the payment of which is enforced with regularity. It is said that a person of moderate circumstances feels less inconvenience in paying small sums frequently than a larger amount, although it is demanded after a longer interval, and it is said that the poorer classes would find it impossible to pay arrears, and that sums not realized at the time would be lost; but it seems to us that the very poor classes to which the argument would apply will be exempted from the tax, and otherwise we should prefer to sacrifice such small amounts to general convenience.

32. We have provided that the demand must be made by the Commissioners within six months and not less than one month from the time when the instalment became due, that is to say within three months from the close of the quarter for which it is due, as all instalments are payable in advance. The demand is to be made by serving a bill and notice on the defaulter, and if the amount due be not paid within ten days from the service of such bill, the Commissioners will be at liberty to proceed at once to recover it by distress and sale. We have required that the distress be made by actual seizure, and have provided that the Commissioners may authorize the officer in charge of the warrant to break open a door in order to effect the seizure. But ploughs, plough-cattle, and all implements of agriculture and trade, are exempted from distress.

33. We have omitted the section which authorized the Magistrate to distrain and sell property without the limits of the municipality on failure to recover within such limits. It is provided that the Commissioners may proceed by suit against a defaulter when they are unable to recover the sum due by distress, and we think that their claim should not have the force of a decree beyond their local limits, until they have obtained the judgment of a civil court in their favor.

34. Municipal Fund.—We have declared that the fund applicable to police purposes mentioned in Act XXI of 1857 and Act II of 1866 shall be deemed to be the municipal fund, in order to avoid any doubt which might arise.

35. We have omitted the enumeration of the "other works of public utility" to which a portion of the fund may be applied, as it appears to us more expedient to leave to them uncontrolled the selection of the objects on which the public money can be most usefully expended. We have also omitted "the inspection of schools" and "the training of teachers" among the objects to which the educational portion of the fund may be applied, because such matters appear to be beyond the scope of the municipality, and we have confined the permissive contribution to the fund of another municipality to objects from which the contributing municipality will derive benefit, providing also that such contribution shall not be made without the consent of the Commissioners. We have included wharfs, embankments, channels, and drains, among the purposes to which the fund shall ordinarily be applied.

36. We have required the Commissioners to keep their accounts open for the inspection of any tax-payer, and to furnish a quarterly statement of receipts and expenditure to the Magistrate of the district, which also will be published in their office for the information of the tax-payers. The annual budget estimates will be prepared three months before the close of the year, and will be submitted to the Commissioner of the division; but the decision of the Commissioners in respect of any estimate which the Commissioner of the division considers objectionable will be final. We have added a section authorizing the Commissioners to revise their estimates at any time when they consider it expedient to modify them. We have provided that no order for the payment of money shall issue without the signature of the Chairman or Vice-Chairman.

37. The Registration of Births and Deaths.—This registration will be compulsory in a first class municipality, but optional in one of the second class, as it involves the payment of the Registrar's salaries, which in a place of large local extent might be a heavy burthen on the fund. We have required the midwife to give notice of a birth, if the father and mother are incapacitated, and have omitted the occupier of the house; and the duty of reporting a death is imposed primarily on the nearest male relative of the deceased who was present; but we have provided that only one of the persons required to give information shall be punishable for one default. In all cases the person giving information of a death will not be bound to disclose the name of a female; and by the omission of the word "signature" in one of the columns of the forms of register, we have relieved him from the necessity of personally attending the office of the Registrar. We have materially reduced the amount of the fines, and we have added sections requiring the chokidar or constable to report every birth and death, and providing for the punishment of a Registrar who refuses or omits to register, or asks for remuneration, and of any person who gives false information to the Registrar.

38. Municipal Police.—By the provisions of Act II of 1866, the police force in the suburbs of Calcutta is appointed and controlled by the Commissioner of Police, and we have therefore treated it separately. The cost of the inferior officers of police only will be borne by the municipality, and the total amount chargeable for the cost of the municipal police is not to exceed the average rate of one and a half rupee per annum for each family of five persons, except in the suburbs of Calcutta where it will be two rupees. The municipal police force will be a portion of the police force of the country, but the strength of it will be determined by the Commissioners, and it will be under the control of the Chairman, who will have the power of appointment and dismissal. The Commissioners will settle the estimate, and the Chairman will disburse the requisite amount monthly in accordance therewith. We have omitted the word "substantially" in section 135 (of the original Bill), because the meaning of it is vague, and because the Chairman should not be allowed to exceed the estimate of his own authority. The tax-payers will have the opportunity of examining the police estimates with the other estimates for the ensuing year.

39. Intervention of Government.—The intervention of Government by transferring the administration to the Magistrate will be confined to cases in which the Commissioners neglect to provide for the payment of the municipal police, or to keep in repair the main roads of the district passing through the municipality. We have provided that the Commissioners shall nominate one member of the Committee appointed to report on the state of the municipality, and the Chairman will also be a member. And the only other object for which the Government will interfere to compel the imposition of a rate is the providing elementary education at a fair cost for children of the residents.

40. Municipal Regulations.—We have re-arranged the conservancy regulations of this part for the sake of convenience.

41. The Commissioners will be bound to provide places for the deposit of offensive matter; and they may provide carts or maintain an establishment for its removal. But the expense of such an establishment or machinery cannot be made imperative, and it must be left to the Commissioners to make such arrangements as may be most convenient for the residents and most suitable to the circumstances of the municipality. A resident will have the option of availing himself of any establishment entertained for such purpose on the payment of a suitable fee, but in any municipality in which common privies are established he will be held responsible for the cleanliness of his premises, and he will be liable to fine; and the Commissioners will have power to remove any offensive matter at his expense if he allows it to remain on his premises. The Commissioners will have liberty to provide public privies and urinals for the separate use of both sexes, but no fee will be charged for the use of them; when such conveniences exist, persons committing a nuisance will be liable to fine. We have thought it expedient to exclude the section which required Commissioners to keep boxes or other receptacles in the streets for the temporary deposit of rubbish. We have also excluded that part of the section which authorized the Commissioners to prescribe the design of a privy, retaining the other portion which requires that the privy be concealed from view.

42. We have added a section making the excavation of the ground within a man's premises, without the permission of the Commissioners, a punishable offence. Such excavations recklessly made when earth is wanted for any purpose are very injurious to health, and the Commissioners will usually be able to set apart some tank from the sides of which any person will be permitted to take the earth which he requires.

43. Obstructions and encroachments on roads.—We have modified section 175 of the original Bill by providing that the Commissioners may grant permission to a man to deposit building materials on a road, or to make an excavation therein, &c.; such an act done without permission will be treated as a public nuisance under the Penal Code. We have also added a section defining the power of the Commissioners to close a road for repairs or for other purposes. The servants of the Commissioners will be bound by this rule.

44. A projection from a house over a road will not be liable to removal unless it is less than 12 feet from the ground. We have declared that no compensation shall be awarded for the value of a portion of a road on which the owner of a house has at any time encroached.

45. In the section which provides that the occupier of a holding may recover from his landlord the cost of alterations or improvements which he has been compelled to pay by the Commissioners, we have introduced a clause providing that the Commissioners shall determine whether the liability justly lay on the owner or the occupier.

46. We have added sections regulating the manufacture, possession, and sale of gunpowder within the municipality, and providing for the punishment of any person lighting fire-works or a bonfire near a road, or using loud musical instruments at improper hours, or obstructing a road or a pathway: and we have provided for the destruction of dogs, and the suppression of brothels and lodging-houses of disorderly persons. We have also given power to the Chairman to issue orders for the conduct of assemblies and processions and the management of crowds.

47. Offensive Trades.—We have inserted several offensive and dangerous trades which are not to be established without the consent of the Commissioners; and we have provided that this restriction shall not affect any business now existing for two years after the extension of this Part to any place. After that period the sanction of the Commissioners will be required to the continuance of any such business; but such sanction is not to be withheld arbitrarily, or unless the business is likely to produce injury to the neighbourhood.

48. Burning Ground.—It has been provided that the question of closing a burning-ground shall be determined by a majority of the votes of the tax-payers if ten of them demand a poll; that no burial or burning-ground shall be closed until a new one has been provided; and that money may be contributed from the municipal fund towards the re-erection in a new burning-ground of a building which has become useless in consequence of the compulsory closing of an old burning-ground.

49. Vaccination and Inoculation.—We have reduced the penalty to which a person makes himself liable who enters a Municipality within 40 days from the date of his inoculation with the small-pox, or without a certificate.

50. Municipal Markets.—We have provided that every market, whether previously or newly established, shall be registered. A market previously existing will be registered without enquiry for the first year, but afterwards it will be treated as other markets, and a fresh license must be taken out every year on a renewed certificate that the place is not defective in respect of drainage, ventilation, supply of water, and paths within it of a proper width. The original Bill required that the owner of a place should be convicted three times of using it as a market without a license before the Magistrate could order it to be closed; it appears to us that this result should follow on the first conviction. We have omitted the sections which empowered the Commissioners to establish a price current of the articles sold, to prescribe the mode of sale of such articles, and to expel persons breaking regulations. We think that every one should be free to sell his own articles at his own price in an open market.

51. Third Class Municipalities.—The assessment of the municipality will be made in the same manner as the assessment of a first class municipality; but the tax will be realized by a more simple process. The president of the punchayet will publish at the commencement of each quarter a list of the defaulters, which list will serve as a notice of demand, and he will be authorized to proceed at once to realize the amounts due by distress and sale. But the sale will not take place for at least two days after the distress, and consequently the defaulter will have full opportunity of avoiding the sale. He may also appeal to the Magistrate, who will, if he finds any ground for interference, pass such order as may seem to be required. Implements of agriculture and trade are exempted from distress, and the punchayet will not be allowed to distrain if the arrear shall have been due for more than three months.

52. We have introduced some new sections to provide for the appointment and payment of chokidars. The punchayet on the first institution of the municipality will not be permitted to dismiss the present chokidars for the sake of appointing men of a different caste or others whom they would rather favor. If any service land is held with the office, the salary paid to the chokidar will be diminished by the amount of rent which he would otherwise have paid for such land, and he will receive no pecuniary allowance if the annual letting value of the land is equal to or more than the full amount of the salary fixed by the punchayet. But it is necessary to provide for the disposal of chakaran land held by a chokidar whose service is determined by dismissal or otherwise; and we propose to authorize the Magistrate of the district, under the orders of Government, to dispose of it in one of two ways; viz., either to leave it in the possession of the ex-chokidar subject in all respects to the terms and incidents under which he may have held it while in office, with this exception that in lieu of the duty of watch and ward which he was bound to perform he will pay to the punchayet one-half of the letting value of the land; or to make the land over to the zemindar on his agreement to pay to the punchayet one half of the letting value subject to the interest which the ex-chokidar may have in the land. It appears to us that under this system the interests of all parties concerned will remain intact; that the interest of the public will be secured by the payment of one-half of the rent to the punchayet; and that the zemindar and the ex-chokidar will be left to settle between themselves, either by a suit in court or otherwise, any questions which may arise regarding the nature of the services to be performed by the latter or the terms on which he may continue to hold the land.

53. It has been found in some places that the zemindar has realized a cess from the ryots professedly for the support of the chokidars, and that such cess has become incorporated in the rentals paid by the ryots, so that the one cannot now be separated from the other; the consequence of the imposition of the chokidari tax in such places is that the ryots have been compelled to pay twice over, once to the zemindar and once to the punchayet. In order to obviate this result we have provided that the Magistrate of the district shall make an enquiry, whenever such a state of things is alleged to exist; and that, if he finds the allegation to be true, he shall direct the punchayet to make arrangements either for the maintenance or for the discontinuance of the usage. It will not be maintained without the consent of the zemindar, and unless he contracts to pay the full salary of the chokidar, and in such case only two-fifths of the assessment will be realized from the tenants for the other purposes of the tax. If the zemindar declines to accept these terms, the tenants will be authorized to deduct from their rentals a sum equal to one half of the chokidari assessment which may be imposed on them by the punchayet, and the zemindar will be precluded from recovering from them so much of their rental. These provisions cannot be put in force, unless the amount of the chokidari dues which has been incorporated in the rental is unknown; and the punchayet will not be allowed to proceed on the assumption that the zemindar does collect such dues without the finding of the Magistrate of the district, from which finding an appeal will lie to the Commissioner of the division. It will be observed also that the enquiry to be made by the Magistrate will rarely involve much doubt, because it will not be difficult to ascertain how far the chokidar has been supported by a pecuniary salary received from the zemindar.

54. The duty of furnishing information of the appointment of a chokidar will lie on the punchayet, and all such appointments will be registered in the thana. We have revised the description of the duties of a chokidar, and we have inserted a detailed list of the offences in the commitment of which he may interfere of his own authority; and we have made more clear the rule regarding the intervention of the Magistrate in the case of neglect on the part of the punchayet to perform their duties.

55. Miscellaneous.—The first section in this part is in lieu of sections 200, 201, and 223 of the original Bill, the object of which was to define the magisterial powers with which the Commissioners and the members of a punchayet might be invested. We do not propose to confer on them any such power by virtue of their office; and we have merely indicated that under the provisions of the Code of Criminal Procedure the Lieutenant-Governor may invest them with any of the powers of a Magistrate.

56. We have laid down a more definite rule for the service of notices, &c., on owners of holdings who cannot be found. We have provided a specific rule for the formal publication of all orders and documents which the municipal authorities are required by the law to make public. And we have declared the procedure under which applications may be made to the Commissioners or the punchayet for the review of any order affecting the assessment of any person.

57. Considerable difficulty has been experienced in some municipalities in consequence of uncertainty regarding the ownership of a holding which has been assessed, or in regard to which expense has been incurred. In some cases the title or the liability under the title is disputed. A tank may belong to one person, while the banks of it are the property of another. And it has frequently occurred, when proceedings are taken against one person, that another whose name had been previously suppressed has set up a claim which necessitated the re-commencement of the proceedings. It seems to us in such cases fair that the law should extricate the municipal authorities from doubts which they are not competent to solve, and should provide facilities for recovering the amount due from the holding without determining the liability of any person. We have therefore provided that the holding shall be put up for sale with a perfect title to the purchaser, permitting any person to avoid the sale by payment of the money at any time before the completion of the sale; but in order to avoid hardship we have required that the notification of sale shall be published a second time after an interval of three months, and that the sale shall not take place for six months.

58. We have provided more fully for the settlement of any action against the municipality by tender of sufficient amends before the commencement or during the trial of it.

59. We have required that the consent of two-thirds of the Commissioners must be given to any bye-law or to the repeal of it, in order to give validity to it; and we have provided that every bye-law shall be reasonable and not inconsistent with this or any other law. And we have declared the power of the Government from time to time to make general rules, not inconsistent with the law, for carrying out the purposes of this Act.

60. We have inserted in schedule A, with a view to their ultimate repeal, all the laws which this Act is intended to supersede.

61. Subject to the above amendments we recommend that the Bill be passed.

I take exception to certain portions of this Bill as it has been settled by the Select Committee for the following reasons:—

There is no distinct provision in the Bill for introducing an elective system as was originally proposed. The Lieutenant-Governor has it is true the power, when he chooses to exercise it, to enact to be elected a certain number of Commissioners only; but the provisions in the Bill, that the Magistrate of the district or of the division will be invariably the Chairman, that there will always be a certain number of official Commissioners from among the salaried officers of Government, that the Commissioner of the division will exercise control in certain matters over the proceedings of the Municipal Commissioners, seem to be quite inconsistent with the principle of a true elective system or self-government.

The limitation of second as well as third class municipalities should in my opinion be based upon a stated area containing a certain average number of inhabitants per square mile, and not merely upon the number of inhabitants. This principle has been adopted in defining the limitation of first class municipalities, and I do not see any reason why the same should not be followed with regard to second and third class municipalities.

With regard to tax on persons, I think there ought to be a maximum limit to the liability of an individual, as is provided in the existing Acts VI of 1868 and 1870 respectively.

I object to the duty on articles brought for sale in a hath or market; I also object to mooring duties.

I think it is wrong in principle to permit the contribution of a portion of the fund of one municipality to any other municipality in any district or sub-division.

Very few of the moffussil municipalities I think are in a sufficiently advanced state to be fit for the application of the stringent municipal regulations contained in Part X of the Bill. I would put in a distinct clause exempting from its operation all second and third class municipalities.

I do not consider it to be within the legitimate functions of municipalities to lay out money in such speculations as the construction of municipal markets.

Small agricultural villages should not in my opinion be brought within the scope of an elaborate Municipal Code. I would therefore exclude third class municipalities altogether from this Bill, leaving the collection and administration of the Police Cess under Act VI of 1870, and giving power by a separate section in this Bill to the Chokidari Punchayet constituted under that Act to spend a portion of their funds on primary education.

I object to the alternative measure proposed in the Bill for the disposal of chakaran lands, as I think it is calculated to lead to great injustice to proprietors of lands.

I think it highly objectionable to sell real property under any circumstances for the purpose of realising municipal dues as proposed in section 281 of the Bill.

On these and other grounds I sign this report with reservation.

The 3rd July 1872. JOTEENDRO MOHUN TAGORE.

As my state of health will not permit me to attend the meetings of the Council, at which the report of the Select Committee on the Bill to amend and consolidate the law relating to municipalities will be taken into consideration, I avail myself of the opportunity (offered by the Secretary to the Government of Bengal in the Revenue Department, by his letter to me of yesterday's date,) to note down such further suggestions as I may have to offer in respect of the Bill.

PART III.—CHAPTER I.

Under this head I think it will be as well to omit the tax on persons according to their means and the property held by them within the limits of the municipality provided under clause (b) section 38. For obvious reasons it is not quite an equitable tax to be levied for municipal purposes. I took exception to it when the principle of the Bill was discussed at its introduction in Council, and I have seen no reason since to alter my opinion. It is a form of taxation nowhere resorted to for municipal purposes, and, considering the manner in which it is sought to be introduced in the municipalities of this country, it will assume the character of the worst form of an income tax, inasmuch as there is no minimum limit assigned to the means, nor any rate fixed at which such means are to be taxed, beyond what the Commissioners in the use of their discretion may deem proper. The only other limit assigned is, that the total amount raised by taxation of all kinds should not exceed a sum equal to Rs. 2, Rs. 1-8, and 12 annas per head of the population according to the class of municipality in which the same may be introduced. This will hardly be a cheque against arbitrary and exorbitant taxation in any particular instance as the average taxation per head of the population might be easily preserved, though a select few might be made to contribute to the bulk of the total amount.

PART X.—CHAPTERS I AND II.

I think the chapter in the Penal Code, regarding offences affecting public health, embraces all that is necessary, and in our present uncertain and imperfect knowledge of the laws of sanitation we might as well refrain from creating new offences and legislating on the subject. I have not failed to notice that a section has been very considerately introduced (section 175) providing "that no provisions of this part shall apply to any municipality until it shall have been extended thereto by order of the Lieutenant-Governor;" but it will be difficult to resist the pressure which will be very often brought to bear upon him by the local officers, supported it may be by medical opinion, for the enforcement of the provisions of this part as absolutely necessary for the preservation of health, or for the checking an epidemic which might break out in a municipality. It is not long since a fierce crusade was waged against the vegetable kingdom and stagnant tanks under the sanction of the medical authorities, as the only means of checking the epidemic fever which has been raging in different parts of the country, though I believe it has been now proved beyond dispute, by the report of local officers, that neither vegetation nor stagnant pools have had any connection whatever with the epidemic fever since it was raging virulently in places comparatively free from these so-called nuisances, whilst villages most obnoxious to them have entirely escaped from such visitations. Sections like 181, 191, 197, 199, and many others cannot be enforced without causing the greatest annoyance and vexation. It will be very difficult to make the people believe that these sections cover offences which are really injurious to health. They are quite accustomed to them, and have never felt any injurious consequences arising therefrom. Any attempt to enforce these sections will be regarded by them in the same light as when like measures were resorted to for purposes of putting down the epidemic fever; whereas if the so-called offences against sanitary rules were really injurious to health the Penal Code would cover them.

It is true that provisions similar to these obtain in the existing Municipal Acts; some of them indeed cannot be carried out without interfering with the absolute wants of the people. For instance, how are they to obtain earth for building their houses if they are not permitted to dig holes (section 199), and how are they to fill up these holes unless they bring earth from a distance, it may be of some miles, an obligation which cannot fail to to be a source of great oppression to them The same may be said of the provision (section 197) for cleansing and draining tanks. It is well known that the weeds and other aquatic plants, which grow on the surface of tanks, reappear as fast as they are removed, and the attempt to keep the tanks clear of such vegetation would be like Sysiphus' toil never ending and most expensive. The only effectual way to put down these nuisances, if they are really nuisances, is to fill up the tanks; but the question again arises, where is the earth to be got from? The truth is that provisions of this kind, without realizing to any appreciable extent the desired benefits, seem only to multiply the means and opportunities for annoyance and extortion by municipal underlings, who levy a black mail, and the poor tax-payers readily submit to it as the more inexpensive method of avoiding oppression of the law.

PART XII.—THIRD CLASS MUNICIPALITIES.

Viewing this part of the Bill in connection with Section 8, it would appear that it was intended to supersede Act VI of 1870, viz. the Village Chokidari Act, by the gradual extension of the provisions of this Part to places now covered, or intended to be covered, by the Chokidari Act. I admit that the important experiment of introducing municipal institutions in this country could not have been undertaken under better auspices than those of the present head of the Government. However opposed the opinions and convictions of the local officers may be to it, they will doubtless consider it their duty to give fair play and loyal support to the views and wishes of their chief; but I am decidedly of opinion that villages in such a backward state as those which will come under Part 12 are not ripe for it; there even the Chokidari Punchayet does not work satisfactorily, and to form the municipal institutions upon such villages would be simply to covet failure, and to imperil the prospects of the experiment in itself so interesting and important. Much better that the seed should be sown where the ground might be to some extent ready for it, but it would be simply a waste of time and energy to try it in places which are notoriously ill-suited for it. When the Village Punchayets are not fit to carry out equitably and satisfactorily the simple provisions of the chokidari law, with what prospect of success can they be charged with the administration of the complicated machinery of municipal self-government?

I don't think it necessary to make further remarks, as I had fully explained my views in respect of the detailed provisions of the Bill before the Select Committee, some of which, I am glad to say, have been adopted by them.

Bills of the Legislative Council of India.

Government of India.

LEGISLATIVE DEPARTMENT.

[Second Publication.]

THE following Bill was introduced into the Council of the Governor General of India for the purpose of making Laws and Regulations on the 20th June 1872, and was referred to a Select Committee with instructions to report thereon in a fortnight:—

NO. II OF 1872.

A Bill to legalize the repayment of money deposited in District Savings Banks in the names of Minors.

Whereas it is expedient to legalize the repayment of moneys deposited in District Savings Banks in the names of minors; It is hereby enacted as follows:—

Preamble.

Short title.

1. This Act may be called "The Minors' Deposits Act, 1872."

Local extent.

It extends to the whole of British India;

Commencement.

And it shall come into force on the passing thereof.

Repayment of deposits to minor or guardian.

2. Any deposit of money heretofore or hereafter made in any District Savings Bank by, or on behalf of, any person, who has not completed the age of eighteen years, may be repaid to him or to his guardian, together with the interest accrued thereon: and the receipt of himself or his guardian shall be a sufficient discharge.

All repayments under this Act shall be made by the Secretary to the Bank, subject to such rules as the Government of India in the Financial Department may, from time to time, prescribe.

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS.

The object of this Bill, which is founded on Statute 26 & 27 Vic., c. 87, s. 30 is to legalize the repayment of moneys deposited in District Savings Banks by or on behalf of minors, i.e., in the words of the Indian Succession Act, persons who have not completed the age of eighteen years.

Such deposits are often made by fathers on behalf of their minor children, and hardship is sometimes caused by the impossibility (as the law stands) of providing thereout for the maintenance, clothing and education of these minors.

[First Publication.]

The following report of a Select Committee, together with the Bill as re-settled by them, was presented to the Council of the Governor-General of India for the purpose of making Laws and Regulations on the 20th June 1872:

We, the undersigned, the members of the Select Committee, to which the Bill to consolidate and amend the law relating to the solemnization in India of marriages of persons professing the Christian Religion was recommitted, have the honor to present this final report

We have considered the papers noted in the margin, received after the presentation of the first report

From Officiating Chief Secretary to Government of Fort St George, No 48, dated 9th April 1872, and enclosures.

The Bill, as formerly settled and as published in the Gazette of India, applied so far as regards Native States) to Christian British subjects of Her Majesty. As there are many Native Christian subjects of Her Majesty in Native States, for whom it is desirable to provide, we have struck out the word "British" in section one, and in section nine we have authorised the Governor-General in Council to license persons to grant certificates of marriage to such Native Christians. Power to do this is conferred on the Governor-General in Council by Statutes 32 & 33 Vic., c. 98, s 1.

We have provided (section two) that the repeals to be effected by the proposed Act shall not invalidate any marriage confirmed by a repealed enactment (e. g., 14 & 15 Vic, c 40, s. 21), and that appointments made and licenses granted under any repealed Act shall be deemed to be respectively made and granted under the proposed Act.

Section eleven forbids a marriage to be solemnized in any place other than a church, where there is a church within five miles of such place. We have provided that this distance shall be measured, not as the crow flies, but by the shortest road.

Sections seventeen and forty-one provide that Ministers and Marriage Registrars shall not issue certificates if any lawful impediment, according to the law of England, be shown to their satisfaction We have struck out the words in italics

In sections twenty-five and fifty-one we have provided that the two witnesses there mentioned shall be exclusive of the person solemnizing the marriage.

Section sixty contains a clause declaring that in the case of marriage between Native Christians, the parties shall not stand to each other within the prohibited degrees of affinity. In the case of Natives there is no rule as to these degrees applicable throughout India. We have therefore struck out this clause and replaced it by a general provision that nothing in the Act shall validate any marriage forbidden by the personal law to which either of the parties is subject.

We have extended section sixty-six (as to forbidding the issue of a certificate by falsely representing oneself to be a person whose consent to the marriage is required by law) to cases where the person making the representation believes it to be false, or has not reason to believe it to be true.

Sections seventy-six and seventy-seven are intended to prevent monogamists from acquiring a right to practise polygamy by changing their religon. But we are of opinion that a bill regulating the solemnization of Christian marriages is not the proper place for such provisions, which affect persons other than Christians, and which relate to the essence of the contract of marriage, whereas the Act is intended only to govern its ceremonial and the mode of contracting it. And as we have reason to think that under the existing law a second marriage effected during the existence of a prior one contracted under the law of monogamy would be invalid, it seems to us more prudent to postpone the matter for further consideration and to make it the subject of a separate Act.

In section seventy-eight we have provided that a marriage, otherwise duly solemnized, shall not be void merely on account of irregularity in respect of the place of its solemnization.

We have empowered the Local Government to declare who shall in any place be deemed to be the District Judge, and we have authorised the Governor-General in Council to delegate to any officer the powers conferred by the Act in respect of Christians in Native States.

Lastly, we have saved marriages duly performed by Ministers, Consuls, and Consular Agents of foreign States.

We have found it necessary or expedient to amend the drafting of most of the sections, and we recommend that the Bill thus altered be passed.

Report of the Ranaghat Municipality for the year 1871-72.

No. 22 PM., dated Calcutta, the 15th June 1872.

Memo. by—H. A. COCKERELL, Esq, Offg. Commr. of the Presidency Division.

COPY of the papers noted in the margin submitted to the Government of Bengal in the Judicial Department, with reference to orders No. 2655 of 25th April.

Administration Report of the Ranaghat Municipality for the past year 1871-72, with the statement of income and expenditure.

2. This municipality owes much of its success to the careful supervision of the Vice-Chairman and the energy of one or two of its Commissioners. I have desired the Magistrate to make some inquiries regarding the scheme of drainage which the Commissioners propose to carry out with a view of giving them the benefit of his practical experience in such matters, and procuring for them if necessary the advice and assistance of the Executive Engineer. I observe that the average incidence of municipal taxation per head is 50 per cent. higher in Ranaghat than in Kishnaghur.

3. The recent census shows the population to be under four persons to each house.

No. 25, dated Ranaghat, the 7th May 1872.

From—BABOO RAM SUNKER SEN, Vice-Chairman of the Ranaghat Municipality.

To—The Chairman of the Ranaghat Municipality.

I HAVE the honor to submit my annual administration report of the Ranaghat municipality for the year 1871-72, together with a statement of actual receipts and disbursements for the same year.

CONSTITUTION.

2. At the beginning of the year the municipal body consisted of seventeen members, including the ex-officio members.

3. The following changes occurred during the year under report, viz. Baboo Srigopal Pal Chowdhuri and his brother Baboo Brojendro Gopal Pal Chowdhuri, two of the most zealous and energetic Commissioners, died; and Baboo Tarabillash Mitter, late Moonsiff of Ranaghat, also a valuable member, left the station in consequence of his transfer. Only one new member was added to the body by the appointment of Baboo Surendranath Pal Chowdhuri in September last.

Meetings and Attendance of the Commissioners.

4. Seven of the thirteen meetings called during the year were regularly attended, of these—

Baboo	Dwarkanath Pal Chowdhuri	attended	7 meetings.
,,	Keshub Chundra Pal Chowdhuri	,,	5 ,,
,,	Chunder Mohun Das	,,	5 ,,
,,	Beni Madhub Mookerjee	,,	5 ,,
,,	Raj Rajeshur Pal Chowdhuri	,,	5 ,,
,,	Radhamoi De Chowdhuri	,,	5 ,,
,,	Surendranath Pal Chowdhuri	,,	5 ,,
,,	Rakhal Das Mullick	,,	3 ,,
,,	Brojo Nath Pal Chowdhuri	,,	2 ,,

Baboos Ram Kumar Banerjee and Mothoora Lal De Chowdhuri, as in previous years, did not attend at all.

Receipts and Expenditure.

5. The total receipts of the past year amounted to Rs. 7,036-3-6, against Rs. 7,272-11-3 of the preceding year. The house tax yielded Rs. 3,509 8 3; the ferry, Rs. 2,556-7; the pound, Rs 681-6; and the license fees, fines, &c., Rs. 278-14-3. The annexed account shows a little decrease in the receipts as compared with those of the previous year. This may be attributed to the effects of the last inundation, which caused great disaster. About Rs. 370 of the ferry rent had to be remitted to the farmer in consideration of the loss sustained by him. There was also some decrease in the house tax owing to the same cause.

6. The total expenditure during the year was Rs. 6,416-7-8, leaving a balance of Rs. 964-6-6 at the end of the year.

Roads Metalled.

7. The following important roads, in all ¾ of a mile in length, were newly metalled during the year at a cost of about Rs. 1,800 :—

(a.) De Chowdhuri Street.

(b.) ¾ of the middle road.

(c.) The unmetalled portion of the Park Street and portions of the Park Street, Pal Chowdhuri Street, and the sub-division road, were re-metalled. Besides these the metalling of the Suruck Road, about half a mile in length, has been taken in hand about the end of the year.

Tanks.

8. No new tank was excavated during the year under review. About Rs. 875 were laid out in constructing pucca drains, and in sloping and turfing the embankment around the tank excavated in the preceding year. This tank, while it supplies water to nearly one-fourth of the towns-people, will also yield an income to the municipality from proceeds of fishery.

Kutcha Roads.

9. The kutcha roads were much in the same state as in the previous year, and repairs were effected at places most needed.

Drainage.

10. In my annual report for 1868-69, I remarked that the system of drainage then in vogue in this town was not in accordance with any scientific principle, and that the accumulation of rain water at places caused malaria. I am glad to state that during the year the municipality directed its attention to this important subject, and a drainage committee, consisting of the members noted in the margin, was appointed during the last rainy season in order to examine the existing drains and water-courses and to report on the best system of drainage that they might suggest. They unanimously condemned the present system of connecting the drains with the nearest tanks and ditches, and recommended river drainage. The drainage scheme proposed by the committee in their final report is very expensive and cannot therefore be completed in one year, owing to the limited income of the municipality; the work, however, has been taken up.

,, Brojendro Gopal Pal Chowdhuri.
,, Radhamoi De Chowdhuri.
,, Keshub Chundra Pal Chowdhuri.

,, Ram Sunker Sen.

11. In accordance with the suggestions of the committee two culverts were constructed during the year,—one at the junction of the De Chowdhuri and Park Streets, and the other at that of the Pal Chowdhuri Street and Amlakitola Lane. Several other temporary cross-drains were erected during the last rainy season for the speedy outlet of water, which will have to be replaced by masonry ones before the setting in of the rains. Of the three main pucka drains recommended by the committee, the one extending from the western extremity of the Bora Bazar road is already under construction. I would take this opportunity to present my thanks to Baboo Prasanna Gopal Pal Chowdhuri, brother of the late Baboo Sri Gopal Pal Chowdhuri, for gratuitously giving up the land required for the site of this drain. I am of opinion that the drainage work should be pushed on as proposed by the committee.

Conservancy.

12. The town was throughout the year neat and clean, and very few notices had to be issued for jungle cutting. For the first time since the introduction of the Municipal Act the municipality has been involved in lawsuit. A case has been brought against it by one Joydeb De Chowdhuri in the local Moonsiff's court against an order passed for the removal of a privy situated on the side of a road. As the case is sub judice, I refrain from making any comments on it.

Arboriculture.

13. About 150 new trees were planted during the past year, which, as well as those planted in previous years, were in a flourishing condition during the year under report.

Census.

14. A general census of the town was taken under Government orders on the 22nd January last. The result shows a total population of 8,857, of whom 2,976 were adult males, 3,571 females, 1,252 boys, and 1,058 girls, distributed over 2,234 houses. This gives an average of nearly four inmates to a house. The population according to the experimental census of 1869 was 7,162, which shows an increase of about 1,400 in three years, or nearly 500 per annum. Baboo Surendranath Pal Chowdhuri, to whom the supervision of the census was entrusted, acquitted himself satisfactorily in superintending the operations.

Sanitary Condition.

15. If to judge of the healthiness or otherwise of a place, the result of its mortuary returns may be taken as a fair criterion, Ranaghat was less healthy last year as compared with the previous years. The total number of deaths during the year was 139 or 1·5 per cent., against 91 or 1·04 per cent. of the preceding year. The greatest number of deaths was from fever. This increase in the rate of mortality is ascribed to the dampness caused by the late inundation, as will appear from the circumstance that there were only 29 deaths from April to August, whereas the number of deaths from September to March was 110. Cholera broke out in December last and carried off 21 persons. Measures were adopted to put a stop to its progress, and it disappeared in the latter part of January. In the month of November last a vaccinator was appointed by the municipality for vaccinating the children of the towns-people, and he vaccinated 252 boys and girls in the two months during which he was retained.

Working of the Bye-Laws.

16. The total number of persons summoned for breach of the municipal laws were 49, of whom 35 were fined, 4 warned, 6 acquitted, and 4 remained under trial at the close of the year. Of the 35 cases instituted during the past year, Baboo Chunder Mohun Das tried 10, the Vice-Chairman 8, Baboo Dwarkanath Pal Chowdhuri 7, Baboo Radhamoi De Chowdhuri 3, Baboo Brojendro Gopal Pal Chowdhuri 7, and Baboo Rakhal Das Mullick 1, and four cases were pending at the close of the year. Some difficulty was experienced in the speedy disposal of the cases in consequence of some of the Commissioners failing to attend punctually to hear the cases made over to them. It is in contemplation to make some satisfactory arrangement in this matter during the current year.

General Remarks.

17. On the whole, considering the disasters occasioned by the floods and cattle murrain, the town may be said to have fared better than the surrounding places. It presents a neat appearance and sickness is scarce, while there is no accumulation of dirt or filth anywhere.

18. During the past year a notable instance of the proverbial loyalty of the Hindoos was displayed by the people of Ranaghat on the occasion of the visit of the late lamented Viceroy to this place in one of his shooting excursions. At a very short notice all the inhabitants, both males and females, came out to greet His Excellency and gave him a reception in true native style, which was a source of much gratification to His Excellency. Again, when the sad and melancholy intelligence of the foul assassination of the late Viceroy reached Ranaghat, the whole town wore a gloomy aspect. The bazars and shops were closed, and all rejoicings and merry-makings stopped for the time being. The people held public meetings to express their grief and sympathy, and voted addresses of condolence to the Government of India and to Her Excellency the Countess of Mayo. The people were also not backward in manifesting their loyalty on the day of the general thanksgiving for the recovery of His Royal Highness the Prince of Wales.

11	Deoghur	,, 6th	72	The weather in south and south-east portion of district still continues to be more favorable than in the other portions In Deoghur itself and in north-west and west more rain is required. Heavy rain has set in this day Every appearance of its continuing for some time.	In those portions of districts in which much rain has fallen crops very promising and more rain is not required just yet In the other parts of district the want of rain is very much felt. The only crops on ground are those reported last week
12	Nya Doomka	,, 6th	2 53	Light showers and sunshine throughout the week.	Generah nearly all sown, and a good deal well forward. Ploughing in dhan lands now going on prior to planting Prospects good
13	Godda .	,, 6th	Heavy rain	Unusual drought up to Friday, when direction of wind changed from east to south-east and ultimately to south-west and north-west, bringing very heavy rain.	This rain will remove any immediate apprehension regarding the crops all of which will be backward, generah especially There is no doubt it has been general, but there has not been time to get information from the interior Before the rain fell there were indications of coming distress, and even now all such fears are not removed Great complaints are made about the very poor condition of the cattle owing to the long continued drought
14	Jamtara ..			.. ...		Return not received
15	Rajshahye	No date given Received 8th July	2 86	Half the week dry, with sunshine, and only slight drizzling rain or short showers and wind from south-east, the last half of the week wet, with prevailing wind from west.	The crops are promising well The rain in the last half of the week was wanted, and has been of real benefit to the amun and ous rice crops and indigo.	Public health good
16	Bograh ..	,, 6th	5 05	Frequent drizzling rain occasionally coming down in heavy showers Cool	There has been a good rain fall throughout the district All the crops promise well	Fever and bowel complaints have begun to show themselves.
17	Dinagepore ..	,, 6th	1 58	Want of rain reported all over the district, the rain during the last 36 Hours, however, has probably been general. Report for period not received from interior	Both bhadoi rice in the field and ropa dhan in the seed beds languishing for rain Jute and sugar-cane also require rain.

No.	District.	Date of return from each district	Rainfall at Sudder Station in inches.	Character of the weather in the district as far as known.	State and prospects of the crops at date.	REMARKS.
18	Maldah ..	1872 July 6th	2·21	The first four days cloudy and dry; the last three days rainy.	Satisfactory. The rain which has fallen during the past few days will be beneficial to the growing crops, viz bhadoi, amun, shama, &c.
19	Moorshedabad ...	,, 6th	3 09	Cloudy, and heavy showers of rain generally from the north-east. Heavy downpour on the 5th.	There is a prospect of a good ous rice crop, mulberry is looking well The amun rice crop is coming up in parts of the district. The crops have been generally benefited by the rain.	Dengue fever prevalent.
20	Pubna ..	,, 6th	0 93	The weather has been cloudy and cool, with strong easterly winds.	Crops of all kinds promise well, and there is every prospect of a good harvest.
21	Rungpore ..	,, 6th	7·10	Cloudy and heavy rain.	All crops good.
22	Burdwan	,, 6th	1·56	Sky overcast; east wind variable. Drizzling rain almost every day. Copious rain fell on the night of the 4th at the sudder station More rain is still wanted especially in the western part of the district	Prospect of ous crop not favorable; amun is being transplanted. Sugarcane and cotton are thriving well Prospects of other crops on the ground good.
23	Bancoorah ..	,, 6th	2 10	Generally cloudy, with occasional rains.	The rain that fell during the week is not sufficient. More rain is wanted. The transplantation of paddy seedlings has commenced; sugarcane, indigo, cotton, &c are thriving.
24	Beerbhoom	,, 6th	1 26	Except in the south of the district, rain has been very scanty throughout the district. In the early part of the week there was none at all, though the weather was cloudy. There was a good deal of rain.	For want of rain the rice crop is in a backward state. Seedlings are in many places ready for transplanting, but the ground is not ready to receive them for the above season. There may, however, still be a good crop if the rain is more abundant during the next week or two.
25	Hooghly ...	,, 6th	1 58	East and south wind with showers Cloudy.	Crop doing well.
26	Howrah ...	,, 6th	1 76	Wind varying from south to east Slight showers throughout the district during the week, and at the sudder station in the first part of the week only.	Satisfactory. Sowing still going on in the south.

There has been a heavy fall of rain in the south-east of the district, which has damaged the young amun plants; ous however thriving. Manufacture of indigo going on Spring sowings in Jhenida not looking very well, but in other parts the prospect of indigo promising 30	24-Pergunnahs ..	July 8th	·66	The weather was warm, with strong winds towards the beginning of the week. Mean temperature 83° Direction of the wind. S. E.	The ous is thriving, and prospects of this crop are favorable. Amun sowings have almost been completed towards the north and east; and at Buseerhaut the transplanting of amun has been commenced; but Diamond Harbour is behind hand in this respect. In the Soonderbun tracts more rain is wanted, specially to the eastward.

31	Dacca ...	„ 6th	3·25	Rainy and cloudy. Wind not so strong as last week	Prospects of crops good. The rivers have not risen since last report, and but little damage has been done.
32	Backergunge ...	„ 6th	9·95	Wet. Favorable to the crops.	Present state of crops fair; prospects cheering
33	Furreedpore ...	„ 6th	3·19	Drizzling rain during five days of the week; cloudy weather throughout	Rain is much wanted; the three inches that have fallen fell nearly all on one night. The season has been extraordinarily dry, and the ous crop is very poor in consequence The river has fortunately fallen before amun which is very backward from want of rain, and which had been drowned by the sudden and great rise of the river, had rotted.
34	Mymensing . .	June 29th	1·40	Weather generally fine, with high east and south-east winds and occasional showers, but scarcely any heavy rain.	The crops are at present in a satisfactory state, but more rain is wanted.
35	Sylhet ...	„ 29th	4·39	The heat this week has been very oppressive Maximum temperature of week 91°; minimum temperature of week 78°; range 15°. Mean of highest readings 91·6, mean of lowest readings 78·2°; approximate mean of week 84·90.	Dry weather very favorable for the crops Reports from Jaintea to the effect that 2 annas of the crop destroyed in pergunnah Chatul Accounts from Pathoria report favorably of the crops. Reports every where favorable.
36	Cachar ...	„ 29th	1·11	There was some rain on the night of the 22nd and 23rd June. It has been oppressively hot in the day time, and very dry. The wind is generally from the east Thermometer from 90° to 94° in a pucka house.	Owing to want of rain the ploughing has been entirely stopped, and it is now too late for any ous cultivation There is about half the ordinary area under this crop. Rain is much wanted for making the land ready for seedling for sail crop There are no signs of rain, unless we have some very shortly the prospects of the crops may give rise to anxiety. Tea in the north is doing pretty well. Blight is heard of on the south of the river.

37	Chittagong .	June 29th	5·89	Up to 26th the weather was dry and fine. On the evening of the 26th a drizzling rain came on which continued all night, and at intervals during the following day. On the 28th heavy rain fell. The weather is still cloudy and windy; some showers have fallen on the 29th, and more rain is expected. The late rain has probably been general over the whole district.	Partial injury to the early (ous) rice crop is apprehended; but the rain that has fallen in the latter half of the week will probably be in time to save a good deal. For the later crop the weather is favorable.
38	Noakhally or Bullooah	,, 29th	3·83	During the whole of the past week it has been blowing hard from the east and south-east. It rained almost every day.	The rain has done much good to the crops. River rising, and likely to damage crops on chur lands.
39	Tipperah ..	July 5th	5 1	Constant rain at head-quarters since Sunday last. In the north, however, the rain still holds off, the fall having only been 1·35; but this was calculated only up to 2nd July, and I believe that heavy rain fell on the 3rd and 4th.	The heavy rain has much benefited the crops of all kinds except in the north, where they were anxiously looking for rain (see preceding column). The ous crop is being harvested to the west, crop reported good.
40	Hill Tipperah ..	. ..	.. ...	.....	.....	Return not received.
41	Hill Tracts of Chittagong.	,, 29th	3 88	Cloudy; heavy rain on the 28th June.	Fair. Some anxiety was experienced owing to want of rain, but the timely fall of the 28th has dissipated the apprehensions entertained.
42	Cuttack .. .	,, 29th	13 25	Very heavy rain throughout the district.	The heavy rain will, it is feared, do injury to the land lately sown.
43	Balasore ...	July 6th	9 13	Cloudy and rainy all the week. A cyclone occurred on Monday morning.	It is as yet uncertain whether the young rice crop has been injured by the storm of Monday. The best judges think that it has not.
44	Pooree	ine 28th	16 71	Latterly very high wind and heavy rain.	A good time for the sandy tracts on the sea side. In the interior some fears expressed about the seed already put into the ground.
45	Hazareebaugh ..	July 6th	1·71	Cloudy and cool ..	More rain wanted, particularly to the west, where the rain has been very scanty. If we do not have a heavy fall of rain over the whole district very soon, half the Indian corn, goondlee, and murrooah, will be lost, as well as the rice on the high lands.
46	Lohardugga ..	,, 5th	2 11	Cool. Cloudy and light rain with strong south-westerly winds.	Generally the reports of all the crops are very favorable; but in Palamow sowing has not been able to be commenced for want of rain. It is much required, particularly in the centre of the sub-division.

No.	District.	Date of return from each district	Rainfall at Sudder Station in inches.	Character of the weather in the district as far as known.	State and prospects of the crops at date.	Remarks.

48	Singbhoom ...	June 29th	4 57	Seasonable ...	Very favorable
49	Durrung ...	„ 28th	·46	Sultry ...	Weather hot; want of rain much felt for ploughing operation. Tea yield good.
50	Nowgong ...	„ 29th	2 60	Very dry hot weather Cessation of rain since the last quarter of the moon two days ago.	The crops are doing well. Tea. ditto.
51	Seebsaugor ...	.....	.....	.....	. ..	Return not received.
52	Kamroop ...	„ 29th	3 11	Most mornings were gloomy and close, and the afternoons bright and hot. Rain not general.	The river has risen very high, and will probably cause some injury to the ous crop if it continues so; ous crop is being reaped, and the land is being ploughed for transplanting shalie. Prospects of tea, cotton, and sugarcane favorable.
53	Luckimpore ...	„ 29th	2·67	Rain deficient for this season owing to previous constant rain since beginning of the year. Wind from the north-east. Therm. max. ... 97° „ med. ... 86° „ min. ... 82°	Weather reported favorable for tea. Rice crop not yet planted out; nurseries thriving.
54	Khasi and Jynteah Hills.	„ 28th	0 23	The rain has been slight, and the sun which was much needed has done good.	The standing crops, viz Indian-corn and the paddy cultivation, are progressing favorably.
55	Naga Hills ..	„ 22nd	1·82	Rain more or less throughout the district. At Samoogoodting high winds have been very prevalent.	The prospects of the crops generally are reported to be satisfactory throughout the district
56	Julpigooree ...	.....	.....	... ..	.....	Return not received.
57	Gowalparah ...	„ 29th	·30	Bright and very hot generally in the district, with only a few slight showers of rain.	Crops are promising well. Reaping of asoo crops in low lands continues Hopes of good harvest are entertained from all parts of the district.
58	Garo Hills ...	„ 29th	2·40	Fine, clear Clouding in a little towards evening, with slight rain	In vicinity of Tura cotton is reported as thriving. Rice stunted for want of rain during previous weeks in much the same condition as already reported. No report this week from distant portions of district.

59	Darjeeling	July 6th	11·58	Seasonable Plenty of rain	In the hills, sumbah, kownie, and phaphur, crops are being reaped, the outturn in most places is small Chotta dhan, chotta bhootta, and chotta murwa are very backward, will be reaped in about a fortnight. Terai Sub-division — Bodhi dhan has suffered for want of rain Hosti dhan is being transplanted and has not suffered	Sickness is disappearing.
60	Cooch Behar ...	June 29th	3 48	Hot and sunny for last five days	The aus crop, which is now being reaped, is a good one The prospects of the amun crop are so far good, the weather having been favorable for the seedlings. Planting out the seedlings has scarcely commenced yet

The mean barometer as likewise the dry and wet bulb thermometer means are derived from the twenty-four hourly observations made during the day.

The dew-point is computed with the Greenwich constants. The figures in column 10 represent the humidity of the air, the complete saturation of which being taken at unity. The receiver of the lower rain gauge is 1½ feet, and that of the anemometer 70 feet 10 inches above the level of the ground. The velocity of wind, as indicated by Robinson's anemometer, is registered from noon to noon.

All candidates presenting themselves without such certificate will be required to appear before some person in Calcutta who will be selected for the purpose.

(b) Every candidate for an appointment of less than Rs. 100 will be required to prove either that he can ride as above, or that he can walk twelve miles within 3½ hours without difficulty or prostration, to be certified in the same manner as the riding.

RESOLUTION.

The 2nd July 1872.—With reference to the notification regarding the examination for civil appointments to be held in February next, and to the promise therein contained that classes for teaching the prescribed subjects will be immediately opened in the Hooghly College, the Lieutenant-Governor, after considering the report of a Committee on the subject, is pleased to sanction the following arrangements, and to direct that the classes shall be opened on 1st August next, or sooner if possible.

2. Eventually it is proposed to establish a two years' course for the purpose of teaching the prescribed subjects, but in the meantime a short course will be at once undertaken, in order to secure an early supply of candidates fitted for the public service, by adding to a good general education already received by capable and vigorous young men so much of the special subjects now required as may be attainable by earnest students in the time intervening before the examination.

3. Under instructions communicated to him, the Director of Public Instruction will at once obtain for the Hooghly College the best man he can find to teach drawing, surveying, and engineering. Probably an assistant on Rs. 50 or Rs. 75 per mensem would suffice, instead of an independent teacher, to enable him to carry on the ordinary school classes on these subjects as well as the college classes.

4. The Lieutenant-Governor is pleased to sanction the entertainment of a qualified man from the Medical College on a salary of Rs. 200 per mensem to teach the elements of Botany and Chemistry; and of a competent Bachelor of Law on Rs. 100 per mensem to teach the Criminal, Revenue, and General Law, required for the examination.

5. A suitable gymnasium will be set up immediately in the college, and an allowance of Rs. 40 per mensem is sanctioned for a teacher. Swimming and other athletic exercises will be included under the title of gymnastics. Arrangements will also be made to engage the services of a competent horseman with a couple of horses to teach riding.

6. All students of the college, and other persons whom the Principal may consider to be fit and eligible, and possessed of a sufficient education, will be admitted to the civil service class on payment of the ordinary college fees as now charged for Mahomedans and others respectively; that is to say, 1 rupee per mensem for Mahomedans, and Rs. 5 per mensem for all others. Boys of the upper classes of the collegiate school whom the Principal may consider to be fit and to be qualified to pass with credit the next University Entrance Examination may be admitted if they desire it.

7. An extra fee of Rs. 10 (once for all) will be charged for instruction in riding.

8. Students who elect to follow the full civil service course must continue to attend the English classes and any classes in which arithmetic and writing are taught, but attendance in the other classes will be optional with them.

9. Permission having been given to the present scholarship-holders to attend this course, no special scholarships need at present be provided for.

10. The following elementary books on Botany and Chemistry, as proposed by the Committee, will be studied by the students attending the civil service class, viz. —

Oliver's Manual of Indian Botany.

Roscoe's Lessons on Elementary Chemistry.

11. The following sums are sanctioned for the necessary preparations and apparatus, viz. —

	Rs.
For adapting the college building for class rooms	1,500
For school furniture	1,500
For a gymnasium, with apparatus ..	1,000
Apparatus for lectures on Drawing, Surveying, and Engineering ...	1,000
Apparatus for Botany and Chemistry	1,000
Total ...	6,000

12. The following allowances are also sanctioned, i.e.—

	Rs.
For chemicals ...	25	per mensem.
For a mallee ...	10	,,
For a compounder to assist in lectures on Chemistry	12	,,
Total ...	47	per mensem.

13. An allowance of Rs. 100 per mensem is also sanctioned for a lecturer on the prescribed law subjects at Patna.

14. Competent teachers of Drawing, Surveying, and Engineering, have already been sent to Patna, Dacca, and Cuttack.

Circular No. 34.

JUDICIAL.

To all Commissioners and all Magistrates of Districts,—
(dated Calcutta, the 1st July 1872.)

I AM directed to call your very particular attention to the new Code of Criminal Procedure, Act X of 1872, which will come into force on 1st September next.

2. The changes in the powers and position of Magistrates effected by the Code are so considerable, that it will be desirable to re-gazette all Magistrates with the powers which it is deemed desirable to invest them with under the new law. The Lieutenant-Governor accordingly wishes to have submitted to him complete lists of Officers and Honorary Magistrates, with the powers for which each is recommended. These are to be submitted by Magistrates of districts through the Commissioners.

3. Magistrates will now be first, second, and third class, and Special Magistrates (section 42). Also power is taken, and will be very freely used, for the creation of benches of Magistrates (sections 50 to 56), and powers of summary trial may be conferred on any first class Magistrate and on benches of Magistrates (sections 222 to 230).

4. The powers of Magistrates of the first and second class are considerably enlarged. Grievous hurt by dangerous weapons, false evidence, and some other offences hitherto exclusively triable by Courts of Sessions, may in future be tried by a Magistrate of the first class; and very large classes of cases of common occurrence, hitherto triable by a first class Magistrate only, are now made triable by a Magistrate of the second class, who has also now power to pass a sentence of solitary confinement.

5. In fact, it may be said that almost all offences are now either entered in column 7 of the schedule as triable by the Court of Sessions, or are triable by a Magistrate of the second class. Almost the only cases entered as triable exclusively by a Magistrate of the first class are a very few offences by or relating to public servants (Penal Code, sections 163, 166, 169); and against public justice (sections 204, 208, 209, 210, 211, 215, 216), which are not so much separate offences in themselves as offences occurring in the course of judicial proceedings. Practically, then, all sub-divisional officers and second class Magistrates invested with power to commit for trial will have, either in virtue of their own powers, or as qualified to hold preliminary inquiry in sessions cases, jurisdiction in nearly every case that can occur; and there is not the same necessity as before for giving first class powers, except where an officer is in every way fully qualified for such powers and there is real need for a Magistrate of that rank.

6. A second class Magistrate in charge of a sub-division has, as such, very large powers. Also, when in cases within his jurisdiction he deems a more severe punishment than he can give necessary, he can send on the file for orders to the Magistrate of the district after completing the trial. And in those sessions cases which are also triable by a first class Magistrate, if he deems that the case may best be tried by the latter officer, he can stop the preliminary inquiry at any stage and send the parties and witnesses on to the first class Magistrate.

7. All Magistrates in charge of sub-divisions will be able to hear on complaint, and to take up without complaint, cases within their jurisdiction; but the Lieutenant-Governor will invest all Magistrates of districts with power under section 48 to withdraw from any Magistrate subordinate to him the cognizance of any classes of cases which he may think proper to reserve.

8. No Magistrate other than the Magistrate of the district or of a sub-division of district has power to entertain any case (not made over to him) unless he is specially authorized to do so.

9. It will be observed that in most cases authority to hear complaints and exercise certain powers may be delegated by the Magistrate of the district to his subordinates; but there are some powers which can only be given by the Government: and when it is desired to give these powers to any officer, special application must be made. That will principally be necessary in the case of Magistrates not in charge of sub-divisions, the latter having by the law very large powers, subject to reservation by the Magistrate of the district.

10. A new provision of very great importance is that for giving power of summary trial (sections 222-250). This power must only be entrusted to first class Magistrates of approved efficiency and discretion. At the same time it will be a very great advantage that competent officers should exercise the power. The qualifications of each first class Magistrate must then be very carefully considered, and recommendation made accordingly to give or not to give him this summary power.

11. The Lieutenant-Governor hopes that he may be able very freely to use the power of appointing benches of Magistrates and special Magistrates. Most of the Honorary Magistrates may probably be utilized under these designations, and many new ones may be created for the purpose. The Lieutenant-Governor thinks it most desirable that petty assaults and such cases should be disposed of summarily (under the provisions of section 225) by a bench sitting say once a week, and composed either of one paid and one or two unpaid Magistrates or wholly of unpaid Magistrates. Possibly an arrangement might be made by which a sub-divisional officer or other paid Magistrate should visit by way of circuit several of the most important places in each sub-division, and sitting with the local Magistrates of each place dispose periodically of all the petty cases without any cumbrous procedure or record of evidence.

And whether as benches or as special Magistrates, the Lieutenant-Governor hopes that the leading men of each considerable Municipality might themselves dispose of the municipal and other petty cases. He will therefore freely and readily receive applications for the investing very many respectable men with powers as special Magistrates.

Under the provisions of section 52, the Magistrate of the district must make rules for the guidance of the benches of Magistrates sitting in his district, regarding the classes of cases to be tried, the times and places of sitting, the constitution of the bench, and the mode of settling differences of opinion. These rules will much depend on local circumstances, and the Lieutenant-Governor will therefore await the submission of proposed rules. They should be sent to the Commissioner, collated by him, and submitted to Government with his remarks.

12. In addition to the above noticed provisions for summary trial, there are other provisions of the new Code calculated to diminish the burden of an excessive and laborious record of the evidence.

There are some special provisions regarding evidence, sections 327 to 330; but the new section, which will give very great relief to all the Magistrates of the first and second class, is section 333. Under this provision these Magistrates will be relieved from taking full evidence, reading it over to the witnesses, &c., &c., in all cases of petty theft, house trespass, rioting, mischief, &c.,—in fact in all the common classes of cases, and will only be required to keep in all these, as well as in all summons cases, a mere memorandum or note of the substance of the evidence as it proceeds,—a process which ought not to be very long or tedious.

13. It is also to be observed that under the provisions of sections 361 and 362, the Magistrate has now a discretion in regard to the summoning of unnecessary witnesses, and will thus be able to keep cases within reasonable bounds.

14. The full and formal record of evidence will be confined then to exceptionally heinous and important cases. That being so, the Lieutenant-Governor thinks that the work will be quite manageable, and he does not propose to alter the present rule requiring Magistrates to take down with their own hands any evidence that must be recorded.

15. It is, however, different in regard to Sessions Judges. Except in so far as the enlarged powers of the Magistrates may relieve them of some cases, their procedure is not abbreviated. The Lieutenant-Governor has doubts whether all men are capable of taking down the evidence and conducting the cases efficiently at the same time, when a long trial and succession of trials is carried on from day to day and from week to week in the Sessions Court. With reference, therefore, to the provisions of section 335, the Lieutenant-Governor will be willing to consider the application of any overburdened Sessions Judge who may desire to be relieved of the duty of taking the full evidence in his own hand, and who would prefer to have a vernacular record of the evidence taken down by a skilled native writer, the Judge himself making only a memorandum of the substance of the evidence. This, however, will only be possible if a good and quick writer is available to take the evidence down.

16. In connection with the subject of evidence, it will be observed that section 126 leaves no doubt of the full power of the criminal courts to make use of the police diaries during a trial.

17. It is not necessary to enter here upon many other changes introduced by the new Code. The provisions regarding jurisdiction over European British subjects and other matters speak for themselves, and principally involve judicial considerations. The Lieutenant-Governor will then only add the hope that all officers will, without delay, make themselves thoroughly masters of the new Code, and he will hope for the early and careful submission of the lists called for by this circular, that he may be able in due time to confer the powers proper to be conferred on each class of officers and unpaid Magistrates, and so may at the earliest possible time give full effect to the new Code.

3. We have maintained throughout the original principle of the Bill, that the Commissioners should manage their resources, creating a fund by the imposition of one or more of those taxes which they consider most suited to the circumstances of the municipality and expending their income on those objects which appear most desirable for the maintenance and improvement of the municipality and for the welfare of the inhabitants, providing at the same time that the incidence of such taxes should be as equable on all classes as is possible, and that the gross amount realized should not press heavily in any place. It is not inconsistent with the principle of self-government to provide against possible errors arising from inexperience or want of prudence, and therefore the Bill makes provision for the control, when necessary, of the proceedings of Municipal Commissioners. The ratio operandi provided is that all general orders shall be issued by the Commissioners at a meeting, and that the Chairman, or, if the power be delegated to him, or in the absence of the Chairman, the Vice-Chairman, shall have the executive management of all matters subject to those orders. The government of the municipality will be vested in the Commissioners, and they will have full power of control in the administration of it.

4. In section 3 we have introduced definitions of "offensive matter," "rubbish," "movable property," "holding," "navigable channel," and "boat." The effect of these definitions will be to render the provisions of the Bill more clear and to avoid useless repetitions. We have omitted the proposed definition of "land," because it appears to us to contain nothing which is not understood to be covered by the word in its ordinary acceptation, and because no definition of the word appears to be required in any portion of the Bill. We have also omitted the definition of bazaar, because it is used only in schedule E, and the Commissioners are expressly empowered to define it from time to time. We have omitted the greater portion of the proposed definition of "road," because it is not very clear or intelligible, and because the first four lines contain all that is requisite. And we have substituted the definition of "owner," which is given in Act VII, 1867.

5. The section providing for the limits of the operation of the Act has been divided for the sake of clearness. We have also introduced a proviso limiting first class municipalities to places containing a certain population. And we have provided for the withdrawal of any place from the operation of the Act, if circumstances should make such a course expedient.

6. We have transferred to Part 1 the definition and limitation of third class municipalities, and the other provisions specifically relating to them will be found in Part 12 and in some of the sections of the last part; but no other portion of the Act will be extended to such municipalities without the express order of the Lieutenant-Governor, and the taxation therein will be confined ordinarily to the tax on persons. A section has been prefixed to each Part declaring the limits of its operation.

7. The Municipal Acts now extant will cease to have effect on the extension of this law to any place. We have not provided for the immediate repeal of those enactments, because some time will be required to make the necessary arrangements, but we have fixed a date after which they will cease and be wholly repealed. We have endeavoured to make this Bill complete in itself, and the entire removal of all such laws from the statute book is therefore desirable.

8. We have provided that in every first class municipality the number of Commissioners, in addition to official Commissioners, shall not be less than eight, and in the second class not less than four, and we have omitted the proposed maximum number. The official Commissioners must be salaried officers of Government, receiving a salary of not less than Rs. 100 a month. No Commissioner will be subject to removal except for corruption or continued neglect to discharge the duties of the office which he has undertaken.

9. The Magistrate of the district will be ex-officio Chairman if the municipality be at the sudder station, and the Magistrate of the division of the district will be ex-officio Chairman if the municipality be in the division; but we have provided that the Magistrate of the district may delegate such duties to an officer subordinate to him at the sudder station, and may authorize a subordinate officer to take charge of the municipality in a division of the district in case of a vacancy.

10. We have provided that the Commissioners may, with the sanction of Government, grant a salary to their Vice-Chairman, and that the Chairman may delegate to the Vice-Chairman any of his duties.

11. We have provided that dispensaries and other public institutions shall be made over to the Commissioners only on such conditions as they accept.

12. We have given to the Commissioners power to take land on lease, as well as to purchase it. The 20th section of the original Bill has been struck out, because Act X of 1870 provides for the acquisition of land by municipal bodies.

13. It has been deemed sufficient to require the Commissioners to meet once every month; and we have made it imperative on the Chairman to call a meeting on the requisition of three of the Commissioners. A meeting of the Commissioners will not be able to transact the business which must be done "at a meeting," unless such meeting has been called by the Chairman or Vice-Chairman, and unless four are present in a first class and three in a second class municipality. Minutes are to be recorded of the proceedings of all meetings, and the book will be open to the tax-payers.

14. We have provided that the Chairman, or in his absence the Vice-Chairman, shall exercise any of the powers of the Commissioners, as distinguished from the powers of the Commissioners at a meeting, at all times, and not merely in cases of emergency, as the original Bill provided, but we have given to the Commissioners at a meeting the power of staying for the future any of the proceedings of the Chairman of which they disapprove, which will afford, as it appears to us, a sufficient control over the administration of their business.

15. The appointment and dismissal of the subordinate officers and servants of the municipality must necessarily rest with the Chairman, but the power of regulating the number and the salaries of such employés is vested in the Commissioners, and their sanction is requisite to the appointment or dismissal of any officer whose salary exceeds Rs. 50 a month. We have also provided a check on possible extravagance, by requiring the sanction of the Magistrate of the district to the creation of offices with large emoluments, and we have declared that every servant of the municipality is a public servant within the meaning of the Penal Code.

16. It appears to us expedient that the Commissioners at a meeting, instead of the Chairman, should divide the municipality into wards; and that members of the Ward Committees should be elected, as Commissioners may be elected, wherever such course is feasible. We consider it advisable to omit the attempted definition of the powers of the Ward Committee, and to leave it open to the Commissioners to delegate to the Committee, subject to their own control, any of their own powers.

17. A section has been added for the purpose of disallowing the vote of a Commissioner on a question directly affecting his own interest.

18. Part III, Municipal Taxation.—We have provided a maximum of the taxation to be imposed on the inhabitants of any municipality, which it is hoped will allay the fears of those who have foreboded in the application of this law oppression and misery; and we have excluded from the limited amount all profits derivable from the ferries and toll-bars now in existence, and from channels and mooring dues, which only partially affect the residents. The incidence of the aggregate taxation will therefore be light, and we have deemed it unnecessary to retain the proposed maximum average in respect of the tax on persons. We have provided that the tax on persons and the tax on holdings shall not be imposed in the same municipality, and that the tax on trades and callings shall not be imposed by any municipal body which has adopted the tax on persons. It will be left to the Commissioners to select, with reference to the circumstances of the municipality, either the tax on persons or the tax on holdings, or the tax on holdings combined with the tax on trades and callings. We deem it expedient to omit the proposed tax "on public ceremonies, not exclusively religious, and requiring the attention of the police," because it involves much difficulty in distinguishing religious from other ceremonies, and might become a vexatious impost on innocent amusements. Profits derivable from tolls imposed on navigable channels have been classed with those derivable from ferries and roads, which are now absorbed in the public revenue; and we have added mooring dues, which are now commonly but illegally realized by the riparian land-owners; they may afford legitimate and in some cases large profits to the municipality, and would enable the Commissioners to provide wharves and facilities for landing goods which are now greatly wanted.

19. Tax on persons.—By the original Bill it was proposed that the assessment list prepared by the Commissioners should be forwarded for revision to the Magistrate, that the assessment should remain in force for three years, and that at the end of that period a fresh assessment should not be necessary if the Magistrate should think it sufficient to revise the old assessment; and several sections were added providing for appeals from the assessment. The whole chapter was taken from Act VI of 1868. Under the rules which we have adopted, the submission of the list to the Magistrate will not be required. Notice of his assessment will be served on each person assessed by the Commissioners, and he will be at liberty to appeal to the Commissioners at a meeting; and when his assessment has been once sanctioned, he will be safe from further inquisition for three years, unless he asks for a revision on the ground of diminished means. No mere error in the assessment will be corrected; but during the three years the Commissioners may assess any person who was omitted from the list without authority, or whose liability to assessment has accrued since the formation of the list. Considering the many changes which will probably occur within three years, it is however necessary that there should be a thorough revision of the assessment at the end of that period. We have omitted the last section of the chapter, empowering the Commissioner of the division to direct the revision of the assessment, because by a section at the close of the Bill it is provided that all the proceedings of the Commissioners should be under the general control of the Magistrate of the district, the Commissioner of the division, and the Lieutenant-Governor.

20. Tax on holdings.—We have substituted the term "holdings" in lieu of "houses, buildings, and lands," for the sake of convenience. The original Bill, adopting the provisions of Act III of 1864, required the Commissioners to make an annual valuation of all holdings, to fix a rate for the ensuing year, and to sit for the purpose of hearing objections to such valuation and assessment. It appears to us sufficient to provide that the Commissioners shall make a valuation list, which shall be in force for three years, and that any person whose property is included in such list may apply for a revision of it. As soon as the rate has been fixed for the year, the assessment list will be prepared; a notice of his assessment will be served on the owner of each holding; and he will be at liberty to appeal to the Commissioners at a meeting. When the tax on a house is consolidated with the tax on the land on which it stands, and a dispute arises between the owner of the house and the owner of the land regarding the proportional amount for which either is liable, the Commissioners are empowered to settle the dispute. We have added two provisos to the section regarding the remission of tax during the vacancy of a house in order to prevent evasions; and we have allowed the remission of only one half of the tax otherwise due. Buildings used for public worship or charitable purposes have been exempted.

21. Tax on carriages and animals.—It was proposed in the original Bill to adopt the course provided in Act III of 1864, and to require the Commissioners to send to all persons supposed to be liable to the payment of the tax schedules to be filled up by them, from which schedules a list was to be prepared. It seems to us to be more convenient to require every person who owns a carriage, or a horse, or other animal liable to the tax, to apply half-yearly for a license on a statement furnished by himself, and to provide a penalty for neglect to take out a license for any carriage or animal. The Commissioners will fix and publish rates at the end of each year for the ensuing year, and the list kept will comprise only the licenses granted at those rates. We have therefore omitted the sections providing for appeals from these assessments. Power has been given to the Commissioners to inspect any stable or coach-house, and to summon and examine persons who have omitted to take out a license. The license is to be taken out during the first month of the half-year for all carriages and animals then in the possession of the licensee, and we have therefore omitted the sections, which declared that the ownership for any number of days in a quarter involved liability to the tax for the whole quarter, and exempted carriages under repair; but we have required every person to take out a license for the unexpired portion of the half year in respect of any carriage or animal acquired by him during the half-year. We have provided that this part shall not apply to hackney carriages in the suburbs of Calcutta, for which a license is paid under Act V of 1866.

22. Registration of vehicles without springs.—The original Bill left it optional with the owner of a vehicle without springs to take out a license or to register, but we think it expedient to compel the registration of all vehicles without springs, and to require the owner to take a license for every carriage on springs. We have empowered the Commissioners to seize and detain at any time any vehicle which has not been registered.

23. Tax on trades and callings.—We have exempted persons in the suburbs of Calcutta who have taken out a license under Act II of 1866, and we have provided for the payment of a proportional fee by a person commencing a trade in the course of the year.

24. Tax on processions.—We propose to alter materially the provisions for levying this tax. We omit all consideration of the number of persons joining in the procession or attracted by the spectacle; we require a license only when guns or fireworks are discharged, or an elephant is used, or more than four musicians are employed; and we have materially reduced the amount of the fees. We have interposed a few words to signify that marriage is not a religious ceremony within the meaning of this chapter; and we have added a section to avoid the application of this tax to travellers or other companies engaged in their business.

25. Duties on articles.—We have provided that the duty shall be levied, not on articles sold as was proposed, but on articles brought into a hath or market; that the duty on any article of food entering the limits of the municipality shall not exceed one per cent. of the value, and that the duty on any article brought into a market shall not exceed one pice in the rupee, or half a seer in a maund. And we have added a penalty for illegal or extortionate levy of such duties.

26. Tolls on ferries and roads.—We have re-cast this chapter, as the provisions contained in it were much confused; and we have provided one set of rules for ferries and one for roads. Many of the sections are necessarily similar, but it has been found impossible to amalgamate them without sacrificing clearness to space. It is left to the Government to assign to a municipality any existing ferry or toll-bar, and the Commissioners may acquire other ferries by purchase, and establish other toll-bars with the sanction of the Government. The tolls may be leased; and we have provided rules to ensure the payment of the tolls and the good conduct of the toll-collectors. The ferry toll-collector is empowered to refuse admission to the boat until the toll is paid, and therefore no provision is required for the recovery of unpaid tolls. There is this difference between ferry and road tolls, that foot-passengers are required to pay toll at a ferry but may pass the toll bar without payment.

27. Tolls on navigable channels.—We have introduced this new provision to meet any case in which the Government may be pleased to assign any such channel to a municipality, as the Dholai Khal, which has been vested in the Dacca municipality under the provisions of section 6, Act VII of 1870. But it was found unnecessary to prepare any new rules, as they are provided by Act V of 1864.

28. Mooring duties.—This is also a new tax, but it may be collected without difficulty, for we have provided that the Collector shall show a printed copy of the table of rates to the person in charge of the boat, and may detain the boat until the duty is paid.

29. Recovery of municipal taxes.—We have placed at the commencement of this part a rule requiring the Commissioners to keep open their office for certain fixed hours every day, in order that any person liable for any tax or other demand may be enabled to pay it without difficulty, and without the annoyance of notices, distress-warrants, &c., and we have directed that the receipt given for such payment shall state the tax to which the money is appropriated.

30. This part is necessarily confined to the recovery of the tax on persons and the tax on holdings, as all the other taxes are satisfied by paying license or registration fees, or by cash payments of tolls or duties, and the non-payment of them is punishable by fine.

31. Several municipalities have recommended that these taxes should be levied by monthly instalments; but it appears to us that quarterly demands would involve less annoyance and less expense than monthly instalments, the payment of which is enforced with regularity. It is said that a person of moderate circumstances feels less inconvenience in paying small sums frequently than a larger amount, although it is demanded after a longer interval, and it is said that the poorer classes would find it impossible to pay arrears, and that sums not realized at the time would be lost; but it seems to us that the very poor classes to which the argument would apply will be exempted from the tax, and otherwise we should prefer to sacrifice such small amounts to general convenience.

32. We have provided that the demand must be made by the Commissioners within six months and not less than one month from the time when the instalment became due, that is to say within three months from the close of the quarter for which it is due, as all instalments are payable in advance. The demand is to be made by serving a bill and notice on the defaulter, and if the amount due be not paid within ten days from the service of such bill, the Commissioners will be at liberty to proceed at once to recover it by distress and sale. We have required that the distress be made by actual seizure, and have provided that the Commissioners may authorize the officer in charge of the warrant to break open a door in order to effect the seizure. But ploughs, plough-cattle, and all implements of agriculture and trade, are exempted from distress.

33. We have omitted the section which authorized the Magistrate to distrain and sell property without the limits of the municipality on failure to recover within such limits. It is provided that the Commissioners may proceed by suit against a defaulter when they are unable to recover the sum due by distress, and we think that their claim should not have the force of a decree beyond their local limits, until they have obtained the judgment of a civil court in their favor.

34. Municipal Fund.—We have declared that the fund applicable to police purposes mentioned in Act XXI of 1857 and Act II of 1866 shall be deemed to be the municipal fund, in order to avoid any doubt which might arise.

35. We have omitted the enumeration of the "other works of public utility" to which a portion of the fund may be applied, as it appears to us more expedient to leave to them uncontrolled the selection of the objects on which the public money can be most usefully expended. We have also omitted "the inspection of schools" and "the training of teachers" among the objects to which the educational portion of the fund may be applied, because such matters appear to be beyond the scope of the municipality, and we have confined the permissive contribution to the fund of another municipality to objects from which the contributing municipality will derive benefit, providing also that such contribution shall not be made without the consent of the Commissioners. We have included wharfs, embankments, channels, and drains, among the purposes to which the fund shall ordinarily be applied.

36. We have required the Commissioners to keep their accounts open for the inspection of any tax-payer, and to furnish a quarterly statement of receipts and expenditure to the Magistrate of the district, which also will be published in their office for the information of the tax-payers. The annual budget estimates will be prepared three months before the close of the year, and will be submitted to the Commissioner of the division; but the decision of the Commissioners in respect of any estimate which the Commissioner of the division considers objectionable will be final. We have added a section authorizing the Commissioners to revise their estimates at any time when they consider it expedient to modify them. We have provided that no order for the payment of money shall issue without the signature of the Chairman or Vice-Chairman.

37. The Registration of Births and Deaths.—This registration will be compulsory in a first class municipality, but optional in one of the second class, as it involves the payment of the Registrar's salaries, which in a place of large local extent might be a heavy burthen on the fund. We have required the midwife to give notice of a birth, if the father and mother are incapacitated, and have omitted the occupier of the house; and the duty of reporting a death is imposed primarily on the nearest male relative of the deceased who was present; but we have provided that only one of the persons required to give information shall be punishable for one default. In all cases the person giving information of a death will not be bound to disclose the name of a female; and by the omission of the word "signature" in one of the columns of the forms of register, we have relieved him from the necessity of personally attending the office of the Registrar. We have materially reduced the amount of the fines, and we have added sections requiring the chokidar or constable to report every birth and death, and providing for the punishment of a Registrar who refuses or omits to register, or asks for remuneration, and of any person who gives false information to the Registrar.

38. Municipal Police.—By the provisions of Act II of 1866, the police force in the suburbs of Calcutta is appointed and controlled by the Commissioner of Police, and we have therefore treated it separately. The cost of the inferior officers of police only will be borne by the municipality, and the total amount chargeable for the cost of the municipal police is not to exceed the average rate of one and a half rupee per annum for each family of five persons, except in the suburbs of Calcutta where it will be two rupees. The municipal police force will be a portion of the police force of the country, but the strength of it will be determined by the Commissioners, and it will be under the control of the Chairman, who will have the power of appointment and dismissal. The Commissioners will settle the estimate, and the Chairman will disburse the requisite amount monthly in accordance therewith. We have omitted the word "substantially" in section 135 (of the original Bill), because the meaning of it is vague, and because the Chairman should not be allowed to exceed the estimate of his own authority. The tax-payers will have the opportunity of examining the police estimates with the other estimates for the ensuing year.

39. Intervention of Government.—The intervention of Government by transferring the administration to the Magistrate will be confined to cases in which the Commissioners neglect to provide for the payment of the municipal police, or to keep in repair the main roads of the district passing through the municipality. We have provided that the Commissioners shall nominate one member of the Committee appointed to report on the state of the municipality, and the Chairman will also be a member. And the only other object for which the Government will interfere to compel the imposition of a rate is the providing elementary education at a fair cost for children of the residents.

40. Municipal Regulations.—We have re-arranged the conservancy regulations of this part for the sake of convenience.

41. The Commissioners will be bound to provide places for the deposit of offensive matter; and they may provide carts or maintain an establishment for its removal. But the expense of such an establishment or machinery cannot be made imperative, and it must be left to the Commissioners to make such arrangements as may be most convenient for the residents and most suitable to the circumstances of the municipality. A resident will have the option of availing himself of any establishment entertained for such purpose on the payment of a suitable fee, but in any municipality in which common privies are established he will be held responsible for the cleanliness of his premises, and he will be liable to fine; and the Commissioners will have power to remove any offensive matter at his expense if he allows it to remain on his premises. The Commissioners will have liberty to provide public privies and urinals for the separate use of both sexes, but no fee will be charged for the use of them; when such conveniences exist, persons committing a nuisance will be liable to fine. We have thought it expedient to exclude the section which required Commissioners to keep boxes or other receptacles in the streets for the temporary deposit of rubbish. We have also excluded that part of the section which authorized the Commissioners to prescribe the design of a privy, retaining the other portion which requires that the privy be concealed from view.

42. We have added a section making the excavation of the ground within a man's premises, without the permission of the Commissioners, a punishable offence. Such excavations recklessly made when earth is wanted for any purpose are very injurious to health, and the Commissioners will usually be able to set apart some tank from the sides of which any person will be permitted to take the earth which he requires.

43. Obstructions and encroachments on roads.—We have modified section 175 of the original Bill by providing that the Commissioners may grant permission to a man to deposit building materials on a road, or to make an excavation therein, &c.; such an act done without permission will be treated as a public nuisance under the Penal Code. We have also added a section defining the power of the Commissioners to close a road for repairs or for other purposes. The servants of the Commissioners will be bound by this rule.

44. A projection from a house over a road will not be liable to removal unless it is less than 12 feet from the ground. We have declared that no compensation shall be awarded for the value of a portion of a road on which the owner of a house has at any time encroached.

45. In the section which provides that the occupier of a holding may recover from his landlord the cost of alterations or improvements which he has been compelled to pay by the Commissioners, we have introduced a clause providing that the Commissioners shall determine whether the liability justly lay on the owner or the occupier.

46. We have added sections regulating the manufacture, possession, and sale of gunpowder within the municipality, and providing for the punishment of any person lighting fire-works or a bonfire near a road, or using loud musical instruments at improper hours, or obstructing a road or a pathway: and we have provided for the destruction of dogs, and the suppression of brothels and lodging-houses of disorderly persons. We have also given power to the Chairman to issue orders for the conduct of assemblies and processions and the management of crowds.

47. Offensive Trades.—We have inserted several offensive and dangerous trades which are not to be established without the consent of the Commissioners; and we have provided that this restriction shall not affect any business now existing for two years after the extension of this Part to any place. After that period the sanction of the Commissioners will be required to the continuance of any such business; but such sanction is not to be withheld arbitrarily, or unless the business is likely to produce injury to the neighbourhood.

48. Burning Ground.—It has been provided that the question of closing a burning-ground shall be determined by a majority of the votes of the tax-payers if ten of them demand a poll; that no burial or burning-ground shall be closed until a new one has been provided; and that money may be contributed from the municipal fund towards the re-erection in a new burning-ground of a building which has become useless in consequence of the compulsory closing of an old burning-ground.

49. Vaccination and Inoculation.—We have reduced the penalty to which a person makes himself liable who enters a Municipality within 40 days from the date of his inoculation with the small-pox, or without a certificate.

50. Municipal Markets.—We have provided that every market, whether previously or newly established, shall be registered. A market previously existing will be registered without enquiry for the first year, but afterwards it will be treated as other markets, and a fresh license must be taken out every year on a renewed certificate that the place is not defective in respect of drainage, ventilation, supply of water, and paths within it of a proper width. The original Bill required that the owner of a place should be convicted three times of using it as a market without a license before the Magistrate could order it to be closed; it appears to us that this result should follow on the first conviction. We have omitted the sections which empowered the Commissioners to establish a price current of the articles sold, to prescribe the mode of sale of such articles, and to expel persons breaking regulations. We think that every one should be free to sell his own articles at his own price in an open market.

51. Third Class Municipalities.—The assessment of the municipality will be made in the same manner as the assessment of a first class municipality; but the tax will be realized by a more simple process. The president of the punchayet will publish at the commencement of each quarter a list of the defaulters, which list will serve as a notice of demand, and he will be authorized to proceed at once to realize the amounts due by distress and sale. But the sale will not take place for at least two days after the distress, and consequently the defaulter will have full opportunity of avoiding the sale. He may also appeal to the Magistrate, who will, if he finds any ground for interference, pass such order as may seem to be required. Implements of agriculture and trade are exempted from distress, and the punchayet will not be allowed to distrain if the arrear shall have been due for more than three months.

52. We have introduced some new sections to provide for the appointment and payment of chokidars. The punchayet on the first institution of the municipality will not be permitted to dismiss the present chokidars for the sake of appointing men of a different caste or others whom they would rather favor. If any service land is held with the office, the salary paid to the chokidar will be diminished by the amount of rent which he would otherwise have paid for such land, and he will receive no pecuniary allowance if the annual letting value of the land is equal to or more than the full amount of the salary fixed by the punchayet. But it is necessary to provide for the disposal of chakaran land held by a chokidar whose service is determined by dismissal or otherwise; and we propose to authorize the Magistrate of the district, under the orders of Government, to dispose of it in one of two ways; viz., either to leave it in the possession of the ex chokidar subject in all respects to the terms and incidents under which he may have held it while in office, with this exception that in lieu of the duty of watch and ward which he was bound to perform he will pay to the punchayet one half of the letting value of the land; or to make the land over to the zemindar on his agreement to pay to the punchayet one half of the letting value subject to the interest which the ex-chokidar may have in the land. It appears to us that under this system the interests of all parties concerned will remain intact; that the interest of the public will be secured by the payment of one-half of the rent to the punchayet; and that the zemindar and the ex-chokidar will be left to settle between themselves, either by a suit in court or otherwise, any questions which may arise regarding the nature of the services to be performed by the latter or the terms on which he may continue to hold the land.

53. It has been found in some places that the zemindar has realized a cess from the ryots professedly for the support of the chokidars, and that such cess has become incorporated in the rentals paid by the ryots, so that the one cannot now be separated from the other; the consequence of the imposition of the chokidari tax in such places is that the ryots have been compelled to pay twice over, once to the zemindar and once to the punchayet. In order to obviate this result we have provided that the Magistrate of the district shall make an enquiry, whenever such a state of things is alleged to exist; and that, if he finds the allegation to be true, he shall direct the punchayet to make arrangements either for the maintenance or for the discontinuance of the usage. It will not be maintained without the consent of the zemindar, and unless he contracts to pay the full salary of the chokidar, and in such case only two-fifths of the assessment will be realized from the tenants for the other purposes of the tax. If the zemindar declines to accept these terms, the tenants will be authorized to deduct from their rentals a sum equal to one-half of the chokidari assessment which may be imposed on them by the punchayet, and the zemindar will be precluded from recovering from them so much of their rental. These provisions cannot be put in force, unless the amount of the chokidari dues which has been incorporated in the rental is unknown; and the punchayet will not be allowed to proceed on the assumption that the zemindar does collect such dues without the finding of the Magistrate of the district, from which finding an appeal will lie to the Commissioner of the division. It will be observed also that the enquiry to be made by the Magistrate will rarely involve much doubt, because it will not be difficult to ascertain how far the chokidar has been supported by a pecuniary salary received from the zemindar.

54. The duty of furnishing information of the appointment of a chokidar will lie on the punchayet, and all such appointments will be registered in the thana. We have revised the description of the duties of a chokidar, and we have inserted a detailed list of the offences in the commitment of which he may interfere of his own authority; and we have made more clear the rule regarding the intervention of the Magistrate in the case of neglect on the part of the punchayet to perform their duties.

55. Miscellaneous.—The first section in this part is in lieu of sections 200, 201, and 223 of the original Bill, the object of which was to define the magisterial powers with which the Commissioners and the members of a punchayet might be invested. We do not propose to confer on them any such power by virtue of their office; and we have merely indicated that under the provisions of the Code of Criminal Procedure the Lieutenant-Governor may invest them with any of the powers of a Magistrate.

56. We have laid down a more definite rule for the service of notices, &c., on owners of holdings who cannot be found. We have provided a specific rule for the formal publication of all orders and documents which the municipal authorities are required by the law to make public. And we have declared the procedure under which applications may be made to the Commissioners or the punchayet for the review of any order affecting the assessment of any person.

57. Considerable difficulty has been experienced in some municipalities in consequence of uncertainty regarding the ownership of a holding which has been assessed, or in regard to which expense has been incurred. In some cases the title or the liability under the title is disputed. A tank may belong to one person, while the banks of it are the property of another. And it has frequently occurred, when proceedings are taken against one person, that another whose name had been previously suppressed has set up a claim which necessitated the re-commencement of the proceedings. It seems to us in such cases fair that the law should extricate the municipal authorities from doubts which they are not competent to solve, and should provide facilities for recovering the amount due from the holding without determining the liability of any person. We have therefore provided that the holding shall be put up for sale with a perfect title to the purchaser, permitting any person to avoid the sale by payment of the money at any time before the completion of the sale; but in order to avoid hardship we have required that the notification of sale shall be published a second time after an interval of three months, and that the sale shall not take place for six months.

58. We have provided more fully for the settlement of any action against the municipality by tender of sufficient amends before the commencement or during the trial of it.

59. We have required that the consent of two-thirds of the Commissioners must be given to any bye-law or to the repeal of it, in order to give validity to it, and we have provided that every bye-law shall be reasonable and not inconsistent with this or any other law. And we have declared the power of the Government from time to time to make general rules, not inconsistent with the law, for carrying out the purposes of this Act.

60. We have inserted in schedule A, with a view to their ultimate repeal, all the laws which this Act is intended to supersede.

61. Subject to the above amendments we recommend that the Bill be passed.

I take exception to certain portions of this Bill as it has been settled by the Select Committee for the following reasons:—

There is no distinct provision in the Bill for introducing an elective system as was originally proposed. The Lieutenant-Governor has it is true the power, when he chooses to exercise it, to make to be elected a certain number of Commissioners only; but the provisions in the Bill, that the Magistrate of the district or of the division will be invariably the Chairman, that there will always be a certain number of official Commissioners from among the salaried officers of Government, that the Commissioner of the division will exercise control in certain matters over the proceedings of the Municipal Commissioners, seem to be quite inconsistent with the principle of a true elective system or self-government.

The limitation of second as well as third class municipalities should in my opinion be based upon a stated area containing a certain average number of inhabitants per square mile, and not merely upon the number of inhabitants. This principle has been adopted in defining the limitation of first class municipalities, and I do not see any reason why the same should not be followed with regard to second and third class municipalities.

With regard to tax on persons, I think there ought to be a maximum limit to the liability of an individual, as is provided in the existing Acts VI of 1868 and 1870 respectively.

I object to the duty on articles brought for sale in a hath or market; I also object to mooring duties.

I think it is wrong in principle to permit the contribution of a portion of the fund of one municipality to any other municipality in any district or sub-division.

Very few of the moffussil municipalities I think are in a sufficiently advanced state to be fit for the application of the stringent municipal regulations contained in Part X of the Bill. I would put in a distinct clause exempting from its operation all second and third class municipalities.

I do not consider it to be within the legitimate functions of municipalities to lay out money in such speculations as the construction of municipal markets.

Small agricultural villages should not in my opinion be brought within the scope of an elaborate Municipal Code. I would therefore exclude third class municipalities altogether from this Bill, leaving the collection and administration of the Police Cess under Act VI of 1870, and giving power by a separate section in this Bill to the Chokidari Punchayet constituted under that Act to spend a portion of their funds on primary education.

I object to the alternative measure proposed in the Bill for the disposal of chakaran lands, as I think it is calculated to lead to great injustice to proprietors of lands.

I think it highly objectionable to sell real property under any circumstances for the purpose of realising municipal dues as proposed in section 281 of the Bill.

On these and other grounds I sign this report with reservation.

The 3rd July 1872. JOTEENDRO MOHUN TAGORE.

As my state of health will not permit me to attend the meetings of the Council, at which the report of the Select Committee on the Bill to amend and consolidate the law relating to municipalities will be taken into consideration, I avail myself of the opportunity (offered by the Secretary to the Government of Bengal in the Revenue Department, by his letter to me of yesterday's date,) to note down such further suggestions as I may have to offer in respect of the Bill.

PART III.—CHAPTER I.

Under this head I think it will be as well to omit the tax on persons according to their means and the property held by them within the limits of the municipality provided under clause (b) section 38. For obvious reasons it is not quite an equitable tax to be levied for municipal purposes. I took exception to it when the principle of the Bill was discussed at its introduction in Council, and I have seen no reason since to alter my opinion. It is a form of taxation nowhere resorted to for municipal purposes, and, considering the manner in which it is sought to be introduced in the municipalities of this country, it will assume the character of the worst form of an income tax, inasmuch as there is no minimum limit assigned to the means, nor any rate fixed at which such means are to be taxed, beyond what the Commissioners in the use of their discretion may deem proper. The only other limit assigned is, that the total amount raised by taxation of all kinds should not exceed a sum equal to Rs. 2, Rs. 1-8, and 12 annas per head of the population according to the class of municipality in which the same may be introduced. This will hardly be a cheque against arbitrary and exorbitant taxation in any particular instance as the average taxation per head of the population might be easily preserved, though a select few might be made to contribute to the bulk of the total amount.

PART X.—CHAPTERS I AND II.

I think the chapter in the Penal Code, regarding offences affecting public health, embraces all that is necessary, and in our present uncertain and imperfect knowledge of the laws of sanitation we might as well refrain from creating new offences and legislating on the subject. I have not failed to notice that a section has been very considerately introduced (section 175) providing "that no provisions of this part shall apply to any municipality until it shall have been extended thereto by order of the Lieutenant-Governor ;" but it will be difficult to resist the pressure which will be very often brought to bear upon him by the local officers, supported it may be by medical opinion, for the enforcement of the provisions of this part as absolutely necessary for the preservation of health, or f r the checking an epidemic which might break out in a municipality. It is not long since a fierce crusade was waged against the vegetable kingdom and stagnant tanks under the sanction of the medical authorities, as the only means of checking the epidemic fever which has been raging in different parts of the country, though I believe it has been now proved beyond dispute, by the report of local officers, that neither vegetation nor stagnant pools have had any connection whatever with the epidemic fever since it was raging virulently in places comparatively free from these so-called nuisances, whilst villages most obnoxious to them have entirely escaped from such visitations. Sections like 181, 191, 197, 199, and many others cannot be enforced without causing the greatest annoyance and vexation. It will be very difficult to make the people believe that these sections cover offences which are really injurious to health. They are quite accustomed to them, and have never felt any injurious consequences arising therefrom. Any attempt to enforce those sections will be regarded by them in the same light as when like measures were resorted to for purposes of putting down the epidemic fever; whereas if the so-called offences against sanitary rules were really injurious to health the Penal Code would cover them.

It is true that provisions similar to these obtain in the existing Municipal Acts; some of them indeed cannot be carried out without interfering with the absolute wants of the people. For instance, how are they to obtain earth for building their houses if they are not permitted to dig holes (section 199), and how are they to fill up these holes unless they bring earth from a distance, it may be of some miles, an obligation which cannot fail to to be a source of great oppression to them The same may be said of the provision (section 197) for cleansing and draining tanks. It is well known that the weeds and other aquatic plants, which grow on the surface of tanks, reappear as fast as they are removed, and the attempt to keep the tanks clear of such vegetation would be like Sysiphus' toil never ending and most expensive. The only effectual way to put down these nuisances, if they are really nuisances, is to fill up the tanks; but the question again arises, where is the earth to be got from? The truth is that provisions of this kind, without realizing to any appreciable extent the desired benefits, seem only to multiply the means and opportunities for annoyance and extortion by municipal underlings, who levy a black mail, and the poor tax-payers readily submit to it as the more inexpensive method of avoiding oppression of the law.

PART XII.—THIRD CLASS MUNICIPALITIES.

Viewing this part of the Bill in connection with Section 8, it would appear that it was intended to supersede Act VI of 1870, viz. the Village Chokidari Act, by the gradual extension of the provisions of this Part to places now covered, or intended to be covered, by the Chokidari Act. I admit that the important experiment of introducing municipal institutions in this country could not have been undertaken under better auspices than those of the present head of the Government. However opposed the opinions and convictions of the local officers may be to it, they will doubtless consider it their duty to give fair play and loyal support to the views and wishes of their chief; but I am decidedly of opinion that villages in such a backward state as those which will come under Part 12 are not ripe for it; there even the Chokidari Punchayet does not work satisfactorily, and to form the municipal institutions upon such villages would be simply to covet failure, and to imperil the prospects of the experiment in itself so interesting and important. Much better that the seed should be sown where the ground might be to some extent ready for it, but it would be simply a waste of time and energy to try it in places which are notoriously ill-suited for it. When the Village Punchayets are not fit to carry out equitably and satisfactorily the simple provisions of the chokidari law, with what prospect of success can they be charged with the administration of the complicated machinery of municipal self-government?

I don't think it necessary to make further remarks, as I had fully explained my views in respect of the detailed provisions of the Bill before the Select Committee, some of which, I am glad to say, have been adopted by them.

254. No arrears shall be recovered by distress after the expiration of six months from the day on which the same shall have become due.

Application of tax.

256. The proceeds of the tax, together with any fines and other money realized under this Part, shall constitute a fund which shall be called "The Municipal Fund." The punchayet shall apply such fund in the first instance to the payment of chokidars, and may apply the surplus thereof within the limits of the Municipality to the supply of drinking-water for the residents or for their cattle, to the support of pathshalas or village schools, and to conservancy purposes.

Salary.

Present chokidars to be retained.

258. Subject to the above provision any person who, at the time of the extension of this Part to any place, is the chokidar thereof, or whose duty it is under any other designation to keep watch and ward therein, shall be appointed by the punchayet to be a chokidar therein, provided that in the opinion of the Magistrate he is competent to perform the duties set forth in section 268.

If incompetent.

259. If such person is in the opinion of the Magistrate incompetent to perform such duties, the punchayet shall appoint a proper person in his room, provided that the Magistrate of the district shall dispose of any chakaran land which he may have held under the provisions hereinafter contained.

If chokidar holds sufficient chakaran land.

260. If such person is remunerated by the enjoyment of chakaran land, whether held rent-free or on the payment of a quit-rent, and it shall appear to the punchayet that the amount of the net annual profits derivable by such person from such land, which amount shall be deemed to be the probable annual letting value of such land minus any quit-rent payable thereon, is not less than the amount of the salary fixed by the punchayet, such person shall be bound to perform the duties of a chokidar as defined in this Part without further remuneration.

If less than sufficient.

If it shall appear in such case that the said amount is less than the fixed amount of the salary, the punchayet shall pay to such person the difference between the said amount and the amount of the said salary by equal monthly instalments.

When a chokidar is dismissed,

261. Whenever any such person, who has been remunerated by the enjoyment of chakaran land, shall cease to hold such office, the Magistrate of the district, subject to such rules as the Lieutenant-Governor may from time to time prescribe, shall dispose of such chakaran land in either of the following ways; that is to say, or may be made over to the zemindar.

or he may make the land over to the zemindar, or other person who is entitled to the services of the holder thereof, subject to the payment to the punchayet of one-half of the annual letting value thereof minus one-half of any quit-rent due to himself, and subject also to any right or interest which may be vested in the holder thereof.

Arrear how to be recovered.

262. Any arrear of the amount due to the punchayet, on account of the annual letting value of such land, may be recovered as an arrear of tax by proceedings taken under the rules contained in this part, or as an arrear of rent by suit in a competent Court.

If the zemindar has been realizing chokidari duties,

263. If it shall appear to the Magistrate of the district, after inquiry duly made by him or by any other Magistrate, that in any such Municipality the landholder has, before the extension of this Act thereto, realized from the tenants, whether as a part of the annual rental of their tenures, or under any other denomination, any money or duties for the purpose of remunerating the chokidar or other person keeping watch and ward therein, and if the amount so realized cannot be distinguished from the rental or payment made under other denomination, he shall certify his finding to the punchayet, and it shall be lawful for the punchayet to maintain or to discontinue such usage. Provided that an appeal shall lie from such finding of the Magistrate of the district to the Commissioner of the division if preferred within sixty days.

Such usage may be maintained,

Such usage shall not be maintained unless the landholder consents to pay monthly to the punchayet the full amount of the salary of the chokidar which may be fixed by the punchayet. In such case the punchayet shall ascertain and record the names of the tenants from whom the chokidari duty is being realized by such landholder, and shall be responsible for the punctual payment of the salary of such chokidar, and shall have power to recover from the landholder any arrear of such salary under the rules provided in this Part for the recovery of arrears of tax. When such usage is maintained, the tax imposed on such tenants under the provisions of section 244 shall not exceed the rate of ten rupees for every one hundred inhabitants, and the proceeds of such tax shall be applied to the purposes set forth in section 256.

If it shall be determined to discontinue such usage, the assessment imposed under section 244 shall be made without reference to the amount realized by the landholder, and one-half of the amount assessed on each tenant shall be deducted from his annual rental, and the landholder shall not be entitled to recover such portion of the annual rental or to demand payment of any duty on such account under any denomination whatsoever.

or may be discontinued.

264. All the proceedings and orders of the punchayet regarding the appointment and payment of the chokidars shall be recorded, and a copy of such record shall be forwarded to the Magistrate of the district, who shall confirm, or disallow, or amend such orders as he may deem fit.

Proceedings to be recorded. Magistrate may revise orders.

265. Whenever the salary of any month shall not be paid in full to any chokidar on or before the 15th of the month following, such chokidar may apply to the Magistrate, who after calling upon the President for an explanation shall pass such order as he may deem fit.

Application by chokidar for payment of his salary.

266. Every chokidar on his appointment shall receive a certificate signed by the President by virtue of which he shall be vested with the powers, functions, and privileges of a chokidar. The rate of salary shall be specified therein. The President shall within seven days send information of such appointment to the police station within the limits of which the Municipality may be situate, and the officer in charge of such station shall cause such certificate to be registered in a book to be kept for that purpose, and shall report the same to the Magistrate.

Bills of the Legislative Council of India.

Government of India.

LEGISLATIVE DEPARTMENT.

[Second Publication.]

The following report of a Select Committee, together with the Bill as re-settled by them, was presented to the Council of the Governor-General of India for the purpose of making Laws and Regulations on the 20th June 1872:

We, the undersigned, the members of the Select Committee, to which the Bill to consolidate and amend the law relating to the solemnization in India of marriages of persons professing the Christian Religion was recommitted, have the honor to present this final report.

We have considered the papers noted in the margin, received after the presentation of the first report

From Officiating Chief Secretary to Government of Fort St. George, No. 48, dated 9th April 1872, and enclosures.

The Bill, as formerly settled and as published in the Gazette of India, applied (so far as regards Native States) to Christian British subjects of Her Majesty. As there are many Native Christian subjects of Her Majesty in Native States, for whom it is desirable to provide, we have struck out the word "British" in section one, and in section nine we have authorised the Governor-General in Council to license persons to grant certificates of marriage to such Native Christians. Power to do this is conferred on the Governor-General in Council by Statutes 32 & 33 Vic., c. 98, s. 1.

We have provided (section two) that the repeals to be effected by the proposed Act shall not invalidate any marriage confirmed by a repealed enactment (e. g., 14 & 15 Vic., c. 40, s. 24), and that appointments made and licenses granted under any repealed Act shall be deemed to be respectively made and granted under the proposed Act.

Section eleven forbids a marriage to be solemnized in any place other than a church, where there is a church within five miles of such place. We have provided that this distance shall be measured, not as the crow flies, but by the shortest road.

Sections seventeen and forty-one provide that Ministers and Marriage Registrars shall not issue certificates if any lawful impediment, according to the law of England, be shown to their satisfaction. We have struck out the words in italics.

In sections twenty-five and fifty-one we have provided that the two witnesses there mentioned shall be exclusive of the person solemnizing the marriage.

Section sixty contains a clause declaring that in the case of marriage between Native Christians, the parties shall not stand to each other within the prohibited degrees of affinity. In the case of Natives there is no rule as to these degrees applicable throughout India. We have therefore struck out this clause and replaced it by a general provision that nothing in the Act shall validate any marriage forbidden by the personal law to which either of the parties is subject.

We have extended section sixty-six (as to forbidding the issue of a certificate by falsely representing oneself to be a person whose consent to the marriage is required by law) to cases where the person making the representation believes it to be false, or has not reason to believe it to be true.

Sections seventy-six and seventy-seven are intended to prevent monogamists from acquiring a right to practise polygamy by changing their religon. But we are of opinion that a bill regulating the solemnization of Christian marriages is not the proper place for such provisions, which affect persons other than Christians, and which relate to the essence of the contract of marriage, whereas the Act is intended only to govern its ceremonial and the mode of contracting it. And as we have reason to think that under the existing law a second marriage effected during the existence of a prior one contracted under the law of monogamy would be invalid, it seems to us more prudent to postpone the matter for further consideration and to make it the subject of a separate Act.

In section seventy-eight we have provided that a marriage, otherwise duly solemnized, shall not be void merely on account of irregularity in respect of the place of its solemnization.

We have empowered the Local Government to declare who shall in any place be deemed to be the District Judge, and we have authorised the Governor-General in Council to delegate to any officer the powers conferred by the Act in respect of Christians in Native States.

Lastly, we have saved marriages duly performed by Ministers, Consuls, and Consular Agents of foreign States.

We have found it necessary or expedient to amend the drafting of most of the sections, and we recommend that the Bill thus altered be passed.

WHITLEY STOKES,
Secy. to the Govt. of India.

[First Publication.]

The following Preliminary Report of a Select Committee, together with the Bill as settled by them, was presented to the Council of the Governor-General of India for the purpose of making Laws and Regulations on the 4th July 1872 :—

We, the undersigned, the members of the Select Committee to which the Bill to consolidate and amend the law relating to the admission of appeals to Her Majesty in Council from judgments and orders of the Civil Courts was referred, have the honor to report that we have considered the Bill and the papers noted in the margin.

From Officiating Secretary to Chief Commissioner, Oudh, No. 344, dated 22nd January 1872, and enclosures.

We have expressly excluded matters of criminal jurisdiction from the operation of the proposed Act.

Section three of the Bill, as introduced, speaks of appeals from final decrees or orders made on repeal or revision under the law relating to appeals. We have struck out the words italicised.

Act II of 1863, section two, provides an appeal from interlocutory judgments. We have, therefore, struck out the word 'final' in the fifth paragraph of section three of the Bill as introduced.

We have provided (section four) that the amount or value of the subject-matter of appeals shall be computed according to the rules prescribed by the Court Fees' Act, 1870, sections seven and eight. An analogous rule is prescribed by Bengal Regulation XVI of 1797, section three.

We have provided for the case of the period prescribed for applications, under the proposed Act, expiring when the Court is closed, and for admitting, in proper cases, such applications after the prescribed period. Similar provisions are made in the new Limitation Act IX of 1871, section five.

We have followed in sections seven and eight the rules of the High Courts at Fort William and Bombay, and we have authorized the exclusion from the transcript of the record of formal documents, of papers which the parties agree to exclude, and of unnecessary accounts. This is in accordance with the present parties, and so far as regards formal documents, follows the rule prescribed by clause 2 of the order of the Privy Council, dated 13th June 1853.

Sections ten, eleven, and twelve, are modelled on rules of the High Court at Fort William.

In section thirteen we have authorized the Court, on receiving security for the performance of the decree of the Privy Council, to give any direction that it thinks fit respecting the subject-matter of the appeal.

In section nineteen we have empowered the High Courts to make rules regulating all matters connected with the enforcement of the proposed Act.

In section twenty we have made the amendments of Bengal Regulation III of 1828, section four, and Bombay Regulation XIX of 1827, section eight, necessitated by the proposed repeals.

Lastly, we have saved (section twenty-one) the exercise of Her Majesty's pleasure in receiving or rejecting appeals to Her in Council.

We have made many changes in the wording and arrangement of the Bill, and, before proceeding further with it, we recommend that it be published, with this preliminary report, in the Gazette of India, and sent for consideration to the various Local Governments and High Courts.

SCHEDULE.

A Bill to consolidate and amend the law relating to appeals to the Privy Council from decrees of the Civil Courts.

[AS AMENDED BY THE SELECT COMMITTEE.]

Whereas it is expedient to consolidate and amend the law regulating the admission of appeals to Her Majesty in Council from certain judgments, decrees and orders of the Civil Courts; It is hereby enacted as follows:—

Preamble

I.—PRELIMINARY.

Short title.

1. This Act may be called "The Privy Council Appeals Act, 1872:"

Extent.

It extends to the whole of British India, but it does not apply to any matter of criminal jurisdiction;

Commencement.

And it shall come into force on the passing thereof.

Repeal of enactments.

2. The enactments specified in the schedule hereto annexed are repealed to the extent mentioned in the third column thereof.

II.—ADMISSION OF APPEALS.

When appeals lie to Queen in Council.

3. Subject to such rules as may, from time to time, be made by Her Majesty in Council regarding appeals from the Courts of British India, and to the provisions hereinafter contained—an appeal shall lie to Her Majesty in Council,

(a) from any final judgment, decree or order made on appeal by a High Court or other Court of final appellate jurisdiction,

(b) from any final judgment, decree or order made by a High Court in the exercise of original civil jurisdiction, and

(c) from any other judgment, decree or order, when the High Court declares that the case is a fit one for appeal to Her Majesty in Council.

Value of subject-matter.

4. In each of the cases mentioned in clauses (a) and (b) of section three the amount or value of the subject-matter in dispute must be ten thousand rupees or upwards, or the judgment, decree or order must involve, directly or indirectly, some claim or question to or respecting property of like amount or value.

Such amount or value shall be computed according to the rules prescribed by the Court Fees' Act, 1870, sections seven and eight

Application to Court whose decree is complained of.

5. Whoever desires to present an appeal under this Act must apply by petition to the Court whose judgment, decree or order is complained of.

Time within which application must be made.

6. Such application must ordinarily be made within six months from the date of the judgment, decree or order aforesaid.

But if that period expires when the Court is closed, the application may be made on the day that the Court re-opens.

And where the applicant satisfies the Court that he had sufficient cause for not applying within the period so prescribed, the Court may admit his application within such other period as, under the circumstances of the case, it considers reasonable.

Certificate as to value or fitness.

7. Every petition under section five must (among other things) pray for a certificate either that as regards amount or value the case fulfils the requirements of section four, or that it is a fit one for appeal to Her Majesty in Council.

Upon receipt of such petition the Court shall direct notice to be served on the opposite party to show cause, within one month of the date of the service of the notice, why the said certificate should not be granted.

Refusal of certificate.

8. If such certificate be refused, the application shall be dismissed.

Security and deposit required on grant of certificate.

But if the certificate be granted, the Court shall require the applicant, within two weeks of the grant,

(a) to give security for the costs of the respondent, and

(b) to deposit the amount required to defray the expense of translating, transcribing, printing, indexing and transmitting to Her Majesty in Council two correct copies of the whole record of the suit, except

(1) formal documents directed to be excluded by any order of Her Majesty in Council in force for the time being;

(2) papers which the parties agree to exclude; and

(3) accounts or portions of accounts, which the officer empowered by the Court for that purpose considers unnecessary, and which the parties have not specifically asked to be included.

Admission of appeal and procedure thereon.

9. When such security has been given and deposit made to the satisfaction of the Court, the Court shall

(a) declare the appeal admitted,

(b) give notice thereof to the appellant and respondent, respectively,

(c) transmit to Her Majesty in Council, under the seal of the Court, two correct copies of the said record, except as aforesaid,

(d) give to either party one or more authenticated copies of any of the papers in the suit on his applying therefor, and paying the reasonable expenses incurred in preparing them, and

(e) give to either party an authenticated copy of any local Regulation, Act or Ordinance which he may require in the appeal.

Revocation of acceptance of security.

10. At any time before the admission of the appeal, the Court may, upon cause shown, revoke the acceptance of any such security and make further directions thereon.

Power to require further security or payment.

11. If at any time after the admission of the appeal, but before the transmission of the record, except as aforesaid, to Her Majesty in Council, such security appears inadequate, or further payment is required for the purpose of translating, transcribing, printing, indexing or transmitting the record, except as aforesaid, the Court may order the appellant to furnish, within a time to be fixed by the Court, other and sufficient security, or to make, within like time, the required payment.

If the appellant fail to comply with such order, the proceedings shall be stayed, and the appeal shall not proceed without an order in this behalf of Her Majesty in Council, and in the meantime execution of the judgment, decree or order appealed against shall not be stayed.

Refund of balance of deposit.

12. When the record, except as aforesaid, has been transmitted to Her Majesty in Council, the appellant may obtain a refund of the balance, if any, of the amount which he has deposited under section eight.

III.—Proceedings pending Appeals.

Powers of Court pending appeal.

13. The Court admitting any appeal under this Act, may

(a) direct the judgment, decree or order appealed against to be enforced, or

(c) give any other direction respecting the subject-matter of the appeal that it thinks fit.

Security to be furnished.

14. But the Court shall give no such direction unless and until the party applying therefor furnishes such security as it thinks fit for the due performance of the decree or order which Her Majesty in Council may make on the appeal.

Increase of security found inadequate.

15. If at any time during the pendency of the appeal the security so furnished by either party appears inadequate, the Court may, on the application on the other party, require further security.

In default of such further security being found, if the original security was furnished by the appellant, the Court may issue an order enforcing the judgment, decree or order appealed against as if he had furnished no such security.

And if the original security was furnished by the respondent, the Court, so far as may be practicable, shall compel him to deliver up the property forming the subject-matter of the appeal, and such property shall be dealt with according to the rules applicable to the case.

IV.—Execution of Decrees of Her Majesty in Council.

Certified decrees of Queen in Council to be executed.

16. The decrees or orders of Her Majesty in Council when duly certified shall be enforced and executed, subject to the directions of the High Court or other Court as aforesaid, by the Judge by whom the suit was originally tried and in the manner and according to the rules applicable to the execution of his original decrees or orders.

Petition for execution.

17. Whoever desires to enforce or obtain the execution of any such decree or order of Her Majesty in Council, shall present a petition to the Court which made the first judgment, decree or order appeal from, and the said petition shall be accompanied by a certified copy of the decree or order made in appeal and sought to be enforced or executed.

Appeal against order relating to execution.

18. An appeal shall lie from any decree or order made by such last-mentioned Court relating to the enforcement or execution of any such decree or order of Her Majesty in Council, in the same manner and subject to the same rules as an appeal from a decree or order made upon a petition for the enforcement or execution of the judgment, decree or order first appealed from.

V.—Miscellaneous.

19. The High Court may, from time to time, make rules consistent with this Act to regulate—

Power to make rules.

(a) the service of notices under section seven,

(b) the amount and nature of the security required under sections eight and eleven,

(c) the testing of such security,

(d) the estimate of the cost of transcribing the record,

(e) the preparation, examination and certifying of such transcript,

(f) the revision and authentication of translations,

(g) the preparation of indices to transcripts of records and of lists of the papers not included therein;

and all other matters connected with the enforcement of this Act.

All such rules shall be published in the local official Gazette, and shall thereupon have the force of law.

All rules heretofore made and published by any High Court relating to appeals to Her Majesty in Council shall, so far as they are consistent with this Act, be deemed to have been made and published hereunder.

20. The rules and restrictions referred to in Bengal Regulation III of 1828, section four, clause five, shall be deemed to be the rules and restrictions applicable to appeals under this Act from the decisions of the High Court of Judicature at Fort William in Bengal.

Construction of Bengal Regulation III of 1828, s. 4, clause 5.

And Bombay Regulation XIX of 1827, section eight, shall be construed as if for 'Regulation IV, A. D. 1827' the words and figures 'the Privy Council Appeals Act, 1872' were substituted.

Construction of Bombay Regulation XIX of 1827, section 8.

21. Nothing herein contained shall be understood to bar the full and unqualified exercise of Her Majesty's pleasure in receiving or rejecting appeals to Her Majesty in Council.

Saving of Her Majesty's pleasure.

Rainfall, Weather, and State and Prospects of the Crops.

Statement showing Rainfall, Weather, State and Prospects of the Crops in the different Districts of the Lower Provinces of Bengal, as reported to Government during the week ending 13th July 1872.

No.	District.	Date of return from each district.	Rainfall at Sudder Station in inches.	Character of the weather in the district as far as known.	State and prospects of the crops at date.	Remarks.
	Western Districts.	1872.		BENGAL.
1	Burdwan ...	July 16th	0·79	Hot.	Prospect of amun yet unknown. Ous and sugarcane not good; more rain wanted. In thannahs Burdwan, Roynah, Sanamukee, considerable area of rice lands as yet unploughed for want of rain.
2	Bancoorah ..	„ 13th	1·18	Generally cloudy, with occasional rains. There were heavy showers on the 12th and 13th at the sudder station, and also in the extreme south of the district.	Rain is still wanted for the transplantation of the paddy seedlings, especially in the high ground. The prospects of sugarcane, cotton, &c., are fair
3	Beerbhoom ...	„ 13th	4·85	From all quarters of the district the reports state that there has been some rain, but that more is required.	The planting out of seedling paddy has commenced where there was sufficient water. There has been a good deal more rain this week than last, and on the whole prospects seem favorable.
4	Midnapore ...	„ 13th	1·70	Cloudy; rain more or less almost every day.	Transplantation of paddy going on, excepting in Tumlook sub-division, where rain was reported to be wanted. Further report has been called for from the Deputy Collector.
5	Hooghly ...	„ 13th	·65	East and south wind most part of the week, with occasional light showers. Cloudy.	The planting out of the rice seedling is stopped for want of rain. A three or four-inch fall is required.
	Howrah ...	„ 13th	0·31	Slight showers throughout the district in the latter part of the week.	All the crops require more rain, particularly the amun dhan, which cannot be transplanted without more rain. Ous dhan and sugarcane have not suffered yet. In the south of the district cultivation is more backward than elsewhere.
	Central Districts.
6	24-Pergunnahs ...	„ 13th	86	Generally cloudy, with slight showers	Ous and jute thriving amun transplanting much retarded in south and east for want of rain. Sugarcane doing well.
	Nuddea ...	„ 13th	2·26	Sunshine and showers, with occasional high wind.	All crops very good.
8	Jessore ...	„ 13th	1·28	Seasonable on the whole. Rain wanted in the sudder sub-division.	State of all crops good. In the sudder sub-division the insect called "shenko poka" has appeared amongst the rice. Inquiries being made as to damage caused.
9	Moorshedabad ...	„ 13th	3·24	Weather showery. Heavy downpour on 12th instant. Greatest rain-fall at Jungipore, viz 7·71	The crops have been generally benefited by the rain but more rain is required in thannahs Bharutpore and Pulsa. The heavy downpour on the 12th instant has been injurious to all uncut indigo.	Dengue fever still prevalent.

* Received by telegraph on the same date.

10	Dinagepore ...	July 13th	1·21	Rain has been general throughout the district.	The rain has done great good to the bhadoi rice, jute, and sugarcane; the ploughing for ropa dhan is being pushed on.
11	Maldah ...	„ 13th	3·69	The first four days of the week rainy; the last three days cloudy and rather hot.	Satisfactory, so far an average crop is expected, i.e. of bhadoi and amun dhan.	Dengue fever has made its appearance.
12	Rajshahye ...	„ 13th	2·33	Fine, but occasional local showers; prevailing wind from the north-east.	General prospects of the paddy crops good. Teel has been harvested. Indigo is said to have suffered a little from the strong winds that have prevailed, but otherwise everything has been favorable for a good crop. The crop is now being cut. Mulberry, jute, and sugarcane, continue to thrive.	Public health throughout the district very good. The Ganges river has risen a good deal within the week.
13	Rungpore ...	„ 13th	1·03	Hot and sultry, with occasional rain. Storms threatening from the north-west but coming to nothing.	The rain has done good to all the crops. Two days bright sunshine, without rain, has done much towards ripening the rice crops (ous) which have been partly cut while there having been so much rain previously, the amun dhan already planted has not suffered. The indigo, it is feared, has suffered from the heavy rain, i.e. towards the south-west of the district.
14	Bograh ...	„ 13th	2·60	First half of week wet and damp; latter half was generally sunny and clear. Sultry and somewhat unhealthy.	There has been some rain generally throughout the district during the week. The ous crop promises fairly. Rice seedlings for the amun crop are looking well; they are for the most part still in nurseries, but transplanting has begun. More rain is needed.
15	Pubna ...	„ 13th	0·70	Scanty rains. Fine, with cloudy days and strong southerly and easterly winds with occasional squalls.	The jute crop is being cut. It has turned out well. Indigo crop is benefited by the more than usually gradual rise of the Ganges. The scarcity of rain is beginning to be bad for the ous crop; all others promising.
16	Darjeeling ...	„ 13th	7·41	Rather less rain than might be expected at this time of the year.	In the hills much the same as last week. From the early crops of the season not having been very abundant rice has risen in price considerably, but no distress is apprehended. The people in the eastern portion of the district have been effectually relieved by rice sent from Darjeeling. In the Terai the same as reported last week. No serious hardship is experienced. The bhadoi rice is reported slightly damaged owing to want of proper rain.	Cholera has reappeared both in the hills and in the plains. Every effort has been made to render medical aid, and Government has been applied to for four native doctors.

17	Julpigoree ...	July 13th	5·67	Rain fell heavily on 6th, 7th, 8th, and 9th; since then the weather has been fine. The sun rather powerful. This has been general in the Dooars. Rain has been less plentiful in south-west of the district.	Crops promise well. They are more forward in the Dooars than in the south-western portion of the district, where, owing to less rain falling, the transplanting of hemunti dhan has been delayed.
	Cooch Behar ...	„ 6th	3·12	Dry in the beginning of the week, afterwards showery.	Good; same as last week.
	Eastern Districts.
18	Dacca ...	„ 16th*	1·85	Very hot, with few showers. West of district wants more rain.	Good.
19	Furreedpore ...	„ 13th	1·61	Drizzling rain three days in the week; strong sunshine during the remaining period; weather close and sultry.	The weather is most peculiar and very unfavorable. It has again set in bright, sunny, and hot.
20	Backergunge ...	„ 13th	·88	On the whole fair.	Fairly advanced. Promising.

The mean barometer as likewise the dry and wet bulb thermometer means are derived from the twenty-four hourly observations made during the day.

The dew-point is computed with the Greenwich constants. The figures in column 10 represent the humidity of the air, the complete saturation of which being taken at unity. The receiver of the lower rain gauge is 1½ feet, and that of the anemometer 70 feet 10 inches above the level of the ground. The velocity of wind, as indicated by Robinson's anemometer, is registered from noon to noon.

No. 1075.—Simla, the 12th July 1872.—Notification.—Accounts.—Read again—

Resolution No. 3334, dated 14th December 1870, by which Provincial Services were separated from Imperial Services,

RESOLUTION.—By paragraph 16 of this Resolution the question of how the charge for the absentee and superannuation allowances of officers appointed after the date of the Resolution to any new office paid from Provincial Funds should be borne was left for subsequent consideration.

2. The Governor-General in Council is now pleased to declare that the Imperial Government will, until further orders, bear the charge for absentee pay in England, and for pensions or gratuities under the pension rules of all officers who are paid from Provincial Funds, whether their offices were created before or after the 14th December 1870.

3. To enable the Government of India to ascertain from time to time the additional charge thus imposed upon Imperial Revenues, the several Local Governments should submit annually, on the 1st April, a list of all new offices created during the preceding financial year chargeable to Provincial Revenues, and of all offices theretofore so chargeable abolished during the same period. The return should show the name and nature of the office created or abolished, the date of creation or abolition, and the amount of pay attached to it.

4. It is to be distinctly understood that nothing in this Resolution affects the general principle that service paid from Local Funds does not qualify for pension from the Imperial Government. For the purposes of this Resolution, service paid from Local Funds must be clearly distinguished from service paid from Provincial Revenues.

ORDER.—Ordered that this Resolution be published in the Gazette of India, copy being communicated to the Departments of the Government of India, to each Local Government, and to the Offices of Account and Audit.

Ordered also that the following addition be made to the Civil Pension Code:—

In Section 26 after "Government of India" add "or the Local Government in respect of establishments paid from Provincial Services," as the case may be.

RESOLUTION.

The 23rd July 1872.—The Government of India has sanctioned, subject to the approval of His Grace the Secretary of State for India, the Lieutenant-Governor's proposal to appoint to the vacant Judgeship of Beerbhoom a Judge on a diminished salary, equal to that of a first grade Magistrate and Collector, and to appropriate the saving of Rs. 7,000 per annum thus effected to raise the pay of the Magistrates and Collectors of two of the chief districts in Bengal by an extra allowance of Rs. 3,500 a year each.

2. Mr. E C. Craster, now officiating Judge of Beerbhoom, being a permanent Judge, will revert to his substantive appointment at Gya, and the Lieutenant-Governor is pleased to make the following arrangements under the provisional sanction accorded by the Government of India:—

Mr. S. H. C. Tayler, at present officiating Judge of Gya, is appointed to be Judge of Beerbhoom in the second grade, and to be also Additional Judge of Burdwan. He will draw pay equal to that of a Magistrate and Collector of the first grade, or Rs. 23,000 per annum.

Mr. Tayler is not, however, to leave Gya till relieved by Mr. Craster, and Mr. A. B. Falcon is appointed to officiate as Judge of Beerbhoom, second grade, and Additional Judge of Burdwan, till the arrival of Mr. Tayler at Beerbhoom.

Messrs. W. LeF. Robinson and A V. Palmer, the two senior Magistrates and Collectors employed in the executive branch of the service, who are also Magistrates and Collectors of large and important districts, will receive the extra allowance of Rs. 3,500 per annum each, saved from the pay of the Judgeship of Beerbhoom. This allowance will cease if these officers are employed in the Judicial line, and is for the present altogether provisional and liable to be withdrawn, if the Government may deem such a measure for any reason advisable in the interests of the public service.

Mr. E. E Lowis is promoted to the first grade of Magistrates and Collectors in succession to Mr. Tayler.

All these appointments and allowances will take effect from the date on which Mr. Craster reverts to his permanent appointment.

3. It is to be clearly understood that Mr. Tayler's appointment to Beerbhoom, the extra allowance to Messrs. Robinson and Palmer, and the promotion of Mr. E. Lowis, are wholly conditional on the approval of the Secretary of State, and that any increase drawn by the three last-named officers must be refunded if that approval be withheld.

Circular Orders by the High Court of Judicature at Fort William in Bengal.

No. 22.

To all Judges, Judicial Commissioners, Magistrates,—(dated Calcutta, the 28th June 1872.)

HIGH COURT, &c., CIVIL SIDE.
Present:
The Hon'ble Sir R. Couch, Kt., Chief Justice.
" F. A. Glover,
" W. Ainslie,
Judges of the Court.

THE Governor-General in Council, in Notification No. 1756, dated 8th March last, has, in the exercise of the powers conferred by Section 26 of the Court's Fees Act of 1870, directed that the stamps used to denote any fee chargeable under the said Act may be either impressed or adhesive; and the Court have reason to believe that on the present stock of impressed stamps being exhausted, the exclusive use of adhesive stamps for the above purpose will be enjoined. It is important therefore to provide against stamps of the latter description being affixed to documents written on paper unfitted for the purposes of record. It will also be convenient that the component parts of a record should be, as far as possible, of one uniform size.

2. The Government of India have approved of a description of paper, which appears well calculated to answer the purpose intended, being supplied to the vendors of Court's Fees Stamps for sale to the public at one pice per sheet. The size of this paper is 13½" long by 8½" wide, and samples can be obtained on application to the Superintendent of Stationery.

3. It may be a question whether Judicial and Magisterial Officers could refuse to receive an application or a petition merely because it was not written upon paper of a particular size or description, provided that it was of a kind sufficiently durable to be adapted for record; but they clearly should be justified in refusing permission to the stamping of a document written upon paper obviously unfitted for this purpose. If due notice be given that such a discretion will be exercised whenever necessary, and at the same time that paper of an approved quality can be obtained from the stamp vendor attached to each court, it is not likely that the public will refuse to make use of it.

4. The Court direct therefore that all Judges, Judicial Commissioners, and Magistrates of districts, will have a notice to the above effect put up in some conspicuous place in their courts, and that they will instruct their respective subordinates to do so likewise. The price at which this paper will be sold should be mentioned in the notices above referred to. The Superintendent of Stationery should also be communicated with through the Collector of the district as to the quantity of paper that will be required, which, at the outset, will probably not be large. This, however, will mainly depend upon the stock of impressed stamp paper in each district, and on this point the Court have no information.

By order of the High Court,

Registrar.

No. 23.

To all Civil and Criminal Authorities,—(dated Calcutta, the 3rd July 1872.)

AT the instance of His Honor the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal, the Court is pleased to direct all Civil and Criminal Authorities under their control to submit their annual indents to the Superintendent of Stationery for the authorized judicial forms in use in their own and their subordinate courts during the month of April of each year.

HIGH COURT, &c., CIVIL SIDE.
Present:
The Hon'ble Sir R. COUCH, Kt., Chief Justice.
„ F. A. GLOVER,
„ W. AINSLIE,
Judges of the Court.

2. Unless judicial indents are unusually large, they can, under ordinary circumstances, the Court are assured, be all complied with within two months' time of their receipt. Emergent indents however can be sent in, and will be complied with at any time of the year. The Court, however, expect that the necessity for submitting such indents will only arise under exceptional circumstances, such as could not reasonably have been foreseen at the time of the submission of the annual indent.

3. Emergent indents should be sent in through the High Court.

By order of the High Court,
Registrar.

Such usage may be maintained.

If it shall be determined to maintain such usage, the punchayet shall ascertain and record, subject to the supervision of the Magistrate of the district, the classes of the inhabitants by whom such remuneration is contributed, and the nature and amount or estimated value of the contribution for which each of such inhabitants is liable, and may from time to time recover any arrears of such contributions under the rules contained in this part for the recovery of arrears of such contribution or the value thereof, and shall be responsible for the punctual payment of such remuneration to the chokidar. If it shall appear to the Magistrate of the district, after inquiry duly made by him or by any other Magistrate, that in any such Municipality the landholder has, before the extension of this Act thereto, realized from the tenants, whether as a part of the annual rental of their tenures, or under any other denomination, any money or duties for the purpose of remunerating the chokidar or other person keeping watch and ward therein, and if the amount so realized cannot be distinguished from the rental or payment made under other denomination, he shall certify his finding to the punchayet, and it shall be lawful for the punchayet to maintain or to discontinue such usage. Provided that an appeal shall lie from such finding of the Magistrate of the district to the Commissioner of the division if preferred within sixty days.

The decision of the said Commissioners or punchayet, or of a majority thereof, in such cases shall be final. No such application shall be received after the expiration of two months from the time when publication under section 278 has been completed, unless good grounds be shown to the satisfaction of the said Commissioners or punchayet; and in no case shall such application be received after the expiration of ten days from the service, under section 276, of the first bill or other demand for payment. Commissioners may bring suit instead of distraining, or on failure of distress.

282. Instead of proceeding by distress and sale, or in case of failure to realize thereby the whole or any part of any tax, expenses, or charges, recoverable under the provisions of this Act, the Commissioners or punchayet may sue the person liable to pay the same in any court of competent jurisdiction.

Power to sell unclaimed holdings for money due.

283. If money be due to the Commissioners or punchayet in respect of any holding, the owner of which is unknown or the ownership of which is disputed, on account of any tax, expenses, or charges, recoverable under the provisions of this Act, it shall be lawful for the Commissioners or punchayet to publish twice at an interval of three months a notification of sale of such property, and after the expiry of not less than three months from the date of the last publication, unless the amount recoverable be paid, to sell such property to the highest bidder, who shall at the time of sale deposit the full amount of the purchase money. Such sale shall have the effect of a conveyance of such property to the purchaser free of all encumbrances. The Chairman or President shall furnish to the purchaser a certificate stating the particulars of the property purchased, and such certificate shall be full evidence of title. Any person may pay the amount due at any time before the completion of the sale, and may recover such amount by a suit in a court of competent jurisdiction from any person beneficially interested in such property. After payment of the amount recoverable by the Commissioners or punchayet, the surplus, if any, shall be paid on demand to any person who establishes his right to the satisfaction of the Commissioners or punchayet or in a court of competent jurisdiction, or, if unclaimed for a period of one pun-year, shall become vested in the Commissioners or punchayet and be transferred to the Municipal Fund.

284. The Commissioners or punchayet may make compensation out of the Municipal Fund to any person sustaining any damage by reason of the exercise of any of the powers conferred by this Act.

No action to be brought against the Commissioners or their officers, until after one month's notice of cause of action.

285. No action shall be brought against the Commissioners, or against a punchayet, or any of their officers, or any person acting under their direction, for anything done in pursuance of this Act until the expiration of one month next after notice in writing shall have been delivered or left at the office of the Commissioners, or in the case of a third class Municipality affixed at some conspicuous place therein, or delivered or left at the place of abode of such person, explicitly stating the cause of action and the name and place of abode of the intended plaintiff; and unless such notice be proved the court shall find for the defendant. Every such action shall be commenced within three months next after the accrual of the cause of action, and not afterwards; and no plaintiff shall recover more than the amends tendered in any such action if tender of sufficient amends shall have been made before such action brought; or if a sufficient sum of money shall have been paid into court after such action brought and before the day fixed for the final hearing of the same by or on behalf of the defendant; and if judgment shall be given for the defendant, or the plaintiff become nonsuit, or discontinue any such action after issue joined, the defendant shall recover his full costs incurred after tender or payment as aforesaid.

No charge to be instituted under this Act without consent of Commissioners.

286. The Commissioners may direct any prosecution for any public nuisance, and may order proceedings to be taken for the recovery of any penalties under the provisions of this Act and for the punishment of any persons offending against the same, and may order the expenses of such prosecution or other proceedings to be paid out of the Municipal Fund. No charge of an offence created by this Act or any bye-law made in pursuance thereof shall be instituted without the order or consent of the Commissioners, and no such charge shall be instituted except within three months next after the commission of such offence.

Control of proceedings.

287. All the proceedings other than judicial proceedings of the Chairman or of the Vice-Chairman, or of the Municipal Commissioners, or of the punchayet or of the president thereof, or of the Magistrate of the district, except as otherwise specially provided, shall be subject to the control of the Commissioner of the division; and all the proceedings of the Commissioner of the division shall be subject to the control of the Lieutenant-Governor.

Commissioners empowered to make bye-laws.

288. It shall be lawful for the Commissioners or punchayet with the sanction of the Lieutenant-Governor, to make bye-laws, and to repeal, alter, or amend the same, as to them shall seem meet, for carrying out the purposes of this Act, and for the prosecution and suppression of all such nuisances as are not punishable under this Act or any other law; and to appoint by such bye-laws such fines as they shall deem necessary for the punishment of any infringement thereof:

Provided that no fine so to be appointed shall exceed the sum of fifty rupees, or of five rupees per diem in case of a continuing infringement;

Provided that no such bye-laws shall be made, repealed, altered, or amended unless at least two-thirds of the whole number of the Commissioners or punchayet shall be present;

Provided that every such bye-law shall be reasonable and not inconsistent with any law in force, or contrary to the provisions of this Act;

Provided that no such bye-law, nor the repeal, alteration, or amendment of any such bye-law, shall be of any force until the expiration of one month after the same shall have been published in the manner directed in section 278 with the sanction of the Lieutenant-Governor.

Bye-laws until repealed or altered, to be of like effect as if inserted in this Act.

289. All bye-laws, when the same shall have been duly confirmed and published, shall, until the same be repealed or altered, be of the like effect as if they were inserted in this Act.

Power of Lieutenant-Governor to make rules.

290. It shall be lawful for the Lieutenant-Governor, by an order published in the Calcutta Gazette and within the Municipality as prescribed in section 278, to make such rules as he may consider expedient for carrying out the provisions of this Act, and at any time to revoke or amend the same, provided that no such rule shall be inconsistent with the provisions of this Act. THE following Report of the Select Committee on the Bill to provide for the due appropriation of certain educational and charitable endowments, with the amended Bill, is, by order of the President, published for general information :—

We, the Select Committee appointed to consider the Bill "to provide for the due appropriation of certain educational and charitable endowments" and the list of endowment funds presented to us, have the honor to make the following report :—

We have proposed to limit the number of trustees to five. We have provided for trustees framing a scheme for the administration of an endowment in the event of its purposes being vague or unascertainable.

We have defined the securities in which trustees may invest endowment funds.

We have adopted a provision of Act XX of 1863 providing for the Court throwing out in limine a groundless complaint against a trustee or manager.

We have provided against the inconvenience of having to re-endorse such securities on the appointment of new trustees.

We recommend that the Bill as amended by us be passed.

AMENDED BILL.

Preamble.

WHEREAS there are at present endowments granted in money or in land for certain educational and charitable purposes, in respect of which either no person has been originally nominated a trustee, or there is now no trustee living or capable of being appointed under the instrument of endowment; and whereas it is expedient to provide for the due appropriation and management of all such endowments; It is enacted as follows :—

Vesting of endowment.

1. All moneys or lands heretofore granted, or which may be hereafter granted by any person or persons for any charitable or educational purposes, not being purely religious, within any district within the territories subject to the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal, for which no person or persons have been nominated trustees or trustee, or for which there may not be any living trustee, or any power of appointing a trustee under the instrument of endowment, are hereby vested in such trustees as the said Lieutenant-Governor shall, as soon as possible after the passing of this Act, nominate, as hereinafter provided.

Appointment of trustees.

2. For every district in respect of which any such endowments have been made, whereof at the time of the passing of this Act or thereafter there shall not be any trustee living or capable of being appointed under the instrument of endowment, the said Lieutenant-Governor shall nominate not more than five trustees in whom such endowments shall vest; provided that the chief executive officer for the time being of such district shall be nominated as one of the trustees in respect of such endowments. Such trustees shall have in all respects the same powers as if they had been appointed by the donor under the instrument of endowment. Where there is no instrument of endowment it shall be their duty to draw up a scheme for the management and appropriation of the estate, and submit the same for the sanction of the Lieutenant-Governor, who shall have power to alter and amend the same. After such scheme has been sanctioned, the endowment shall be administered in all respects under the provisions thereof, and the trustees shall have such powers as are in the said scheme provided. It shall be lawful for the Lieutenant-Governor, on the recommendation of the trustees, from time to time, to modify such scheme.

Appropriation of endowments.

3. It shall be the duty of such trustees to take order that all endowments so vested in them as aforesaid shall be duly appropriated to the purposes for which they were destined by the respective donors thereof, or by virtue of any scheme sanctioned under the next preceding section, so far as the same can be ascertained, and to invest the same in securities of the Government of India or in stock or shares of railways guaranteed by the Government of India and to apply the yearly proceeds or income thereof to the purposes aforesaid; provided that the trustees may, with the sanction of the said Lieutenant-Governor, devote any portion of the capital sum or value of the said funds to any especial object for the furtherance of the above-mentioned purposes.

Suits in court.

4. Any person interested in the purposes to which any endowment, not being for a purely religious purpose, may have been intended, may, without joining as plaintiff any of the other persons interested therein, sue before the civil court the trustee, manager, or superintendent by whom such endowment may be administered, or any trustee appointed under this Act, for any misfeasance, breach of trust, or neglect of duty, committed by such trustee, manager, or superintendent in respect of the trusts vested in, or confided to, them respectively, and the civil court may direct the specific performance of any act by such trustee, manager, or superintendent, and may give such relief and make such orders and directions in relation to the matter of such suit as appear to it proper, and may decree damages and costs against such trustee, manager, or superintendent, and may also direct the removal of such trustee, manager, or superintendent. The interest required in order to entitle a person to sue under this section need not be a pecuniary or a direct or immediate interest, or such an interest as would entitle the person suing to take any part in the management or superintendence of the trusts. Provided that any trustee nominated under this Act, shall not be liable for damages on account of any act done or omitted by him bonâ fide for the furtherance of the objects of the trust; and provided also that any cost which may be awarded against any trustee as aforesaid in a suit instituted under this section may, if the said trustee be found to have acted bonâ fide, be defrayed from the endowment vested in such trustee under this Act.

Preliminary application for leave to institute suit.

5. No suit shall be entertained under this Act without a preliminary application being first made to the court for leave to institute such suit. The court, on the perusal of the application, shall determine whether there are sufficient primâ facie grounds for the institution of a suit, and if in the judgment of the court there are such grounds, leave shall be given for its institution. In calculating the costs at the termination of the suit, the stamp duty on the preliminary application shall be estimated, and shall be added to the costs of the suit. If the court shall be of opinion that the suit has been for the benefit of the trust, and that no party to the suit is in fault, the court may order the costs, or such portion as it may consider just, to be paid out of the estate.

New trustees.

6. The Lieutenant-Governor may at any time nominate and appoint a new trustee or trustees for any endowment which by virtue of this Act has been vested as aforesaid, and also may at any time remove any trustee so appointed as aforesaid.

Estates and securities to vest in successor on appointment.

7. Upon any trustee ceasing to hold office, whether by resignation, removal, or death, all estates and securities which vested in him as such trustee shall cease to be vested in him, and shall vest in his successor in office immediately upon his appointment thereto.

PART VI.

Bills of the Legislative Council of India.

Government of India.

LEGISLATIVE DEPARTMENT.

[Second Publication.]

The following Preliminary Report of a Select Committee, together with the Bill as settled by them, was presented to the Council of the Governor-General of India for the purpose of making Laws and Regulations on the 4th July 1872 :—

We, the undersigned, the members of the Select Committee to which the Bill to consolidate and amend the law relating to the admission of appeals to Her Majesty in Council from judgments and orders of the Civil Courts was referred, have the honor to report that we have considered the Bill and the papers noted in the margin.

From Officiating Secretary to Chief Commissioner, Oudh, No. 344, dated 22nd January 1872, and enclosures.

We have expressly excluded matters of criminal jurisdiction from the operation of the proposed Act.

Section three of the Bill, as introduced, speaks of appeals from final decrees or orders made on repeal or revision under the law relating to appeals. We have struck out the words italicised.

Act II of 1868, section two, provides an appeal from interlocutory judgments. We have, therefore, struck out the word 'final' in the fifth paragraph of section three of the Bill as introduced.

We have provided (section four) that the amount or value of the subject-matter of appeals shall be computed according to the rules prescribed by the Court Fees' Act, 1870, sections seven and eight. An analogous rule is prescribed by Bengal Regulation XVI of 1797, section three.

We have provided for the case of the period prescribed for applications, under the proposed Act, expiring when the Court is closed, and for admitting, in proper cases, such applications after the prescribed period. Similar provisions are made in the new Limitation Act IX of 1871, section five.

We have followed in sections seven and eight the rules of the High Courts at Fort William and Bombay, and we have authorized the exclusion from the transcript of the record of formal documents, of papers which the parties agree to exclude, and of unnecessary accounts. This is in accordance with the present parties, and so far as regards formal documents, follows the rule prescribed by clause 2 of the order of the Privy Council, dated 13th June 1853.

Sections ten, eleven, and twelve, are modelled on rules of the High Court at Fort William.

In section thirteen we have authorized the Court, on receiving security for the performance of the decree of the Privy Council, to give any direction that it thinks fit respecting the subject-matter of the appeal.

In section nineteen we have empowered the High Courts to make rules regulating all matters connected with the enforcement of the proposed Act.

In section twenty we have made the amendments of Bengal Regulation III of 1828, section four, and Bombay Regulation XIX of 1827, section eight, necessitated by the proposed repeals.

Lastly, we have saved (section twenty-one) the exercise of Her Majesty's pleasure in receiving or rejecting appeals to Her in Council.

We have made many changes in the wording and arrangement of the Bill, and, before proceeding further with it, we recommend that it be published, with this preliminary report, in the Gazette of India, and sent for consideration to the various Local Governments and High Courts.

SCHEDULE.

A Bill to consolidate and amend the law relating to appeals to the Privy Council from decrees of the Civil Courts.

[AS AMENDED BY THE SELECT COMMITTEE.]

Whereas it is expedient to consolidate and amend the law regulating the admission of appeals to Her Majesty in Council from certain judgments, decrees and orders of the Civil Courts; It is hereby enacted as follows:—

Preamble.

I.—PRELIMINARY.

Short title.

1. This Act may be called "The Privy Council Appeals Act, 1872:"

Extent.

It extends to the whole of British India, but it does not apply to any matter of criminal jurisdiction;

Commencement.

And it shall come into force on the passing thereof.

Repeal of enactments.

2 The enactments specified in the schedule hereto annexed are repealed to the extent mentioned in the third column thereof.

II.—ADMISSION OF APPEALS.

When appeals lie to Queen in Council.

3. Subject to such rules as may, from time to time, be made by Her Majesty in Council regarding appeals from the Courts of British India, and to the provisions hereinafter contained—

an appeal shall lie to Her Majesty in Council,

(a) from any final judgment, decree or order made on appeal by a High Court or other Court of final appellate jurisdiction,

(b) from any final judgment, decree or order made by a High Court in the exercise of original civil jurisdiction, and

(c) from any other judgment, decree or order, when the High Court declares that the case is a fit one for appeal to Her Majesty in Council.

Value of subject-matter.

4. In each of the cases mentioned in clauses (a) and (b) of section three the amount or value of the subject-matter in dispute must be ten thousand rupees or upwards, or the judgment, decree or order must involve, directly or indirectly, some claim or question to or respecting property of like amount or value.

Such amount or value shall be computed according to the rules prescribed by the Court Fees' Act, 1870, sections seven and eight.

Application to Court whose decree is complained of.

5. Whoever desires to present an appeal under this Act must apply by petition to the Court whose judgment, decree or order is complained of.

Time within which application must be made.

6. Such application must ordinarily be made within six months from the date of the judgment, decree or order aforesaid.

But if that period expires when the Court is closed, the application may be made on the day that the Court re-opens.

And where the applicant satisfies the Court that he had sufficient cause for not applying within the period so prescribed, the Court may admit his application within such other period as, under the circumstances of the case, it considers reasonable.

Certificate as to value or fitness.

7. Every petition under section five must (among other things) pray for a certificate either that as regards amount or value the case fulfils the requirements of section four, or that it is a fit one for appeal to Her Majesty in Council.

Upon receipt of such petition the Court shall direct notice to be served on the opposite party to show cause, within one month of the date of the service of the notice, why the said certificate should not be granted.

Refusal of certificate.

8. If such certificate be refused, the petition shall be dismissed.

Security and deposit required on grant of certificate.

But if the certificate be granted, the Court shall require the applicant, within two weeks of the grant,

(a) to give security for the costs of the respondent, and

(b) to deposit the amount required to defray the expense of translating, transcribing, printing, indexing and transmitting to Her Majesty in Council two correct copies of the whole record of the suit, except

(1) formal documents directed to be excluded by any order of Her Majesty in Council in force for the time being;

(2) papers which the parties agree to exclude; and

(3) accounts or portions of accounts, which the officer empowered by the Court for that purpose considers unnecessary, and which the parties have not specifically asked to be included.

Admission of appeal and procedure thereon

9. When such security has been given and deposit made to the satisfaction of the Court, the Court shall

(a) declare the appeal admitted,

(b) give notice thereof to the appellant and respondent, respectively,

(c) transmit to Her Majesty in Council, under the seal of the Court, two correct copies of the said record, except as aforesaid,

(d) give to either party one or more authenticated copies of any of the papers in the suit on his applying therefor, and paying the reasonable expenses incurred in preparing them, and

(e) give to either party an authenticated copy of any local Regulation, Act or Ordinance which he may require in the appeal.

Revocation of acceptance of security.

10. At any time before the admission of the appeal, the Court may, upon cause shown, revoke the acceptance of any such security and make further directions thereon.

Power to require further security or payment.

11. If at any time after the admission of the appeal, but before the transmission of the record, except as aforesaid, to Her Majesty in Council, such security appears inadequate, or further payment is required for the purpose of translating, transcribing, printing, indexing or transmitting the record, except as aforesaid,

the Court may order the appellant to furnish, within a time to be fixed by the Court, other and sufficient security, or to make, within like time, the required payment.

If the appellant fail to comply with such order, the proceedings shall be stayed,

and the appeal shall not proceed without an order in this behalf of Her Majesty in Council,

and in the meantime execution of the judgment, decree or order appealed against shall not be stayed.

Refund of balance of deposit.

12. When the record, except as aforesaid, has been transmitted to Her Majesty in Council, the appellant may obtain a refund of the balance, if any, of the amount which he has deposited under section [illegible].

III.—Proceedings pending Appeals.

Powers of Court pending appeal.

13. The Court admitting any appeal under this Act, may

(a) direct the judgment, decree or order appealed against to be enforced, or

(c) give any other direction respecting the subject-matter of the appeal that it thinks fit.

Security to be furnished.

14 But the Court shall give no such direction unless and until the party applying therefor furnishes such security as it thinks fit for the due performance of the decree or order which Her Majesty in Council may make on the appeal

Increase of security found inadequate

15. If at any time during the pendency of the appeal the security so furnished by either party appears inadequate, the Court may, on the application on the other party, require further security.

In default of such further security being found, if the original security was furnished by the appellant, the Court may issue an order enforcing the judgment, decree or order appealed against as if he had furnished no such security.

And if the original security was furnished by the respondent, the Court, so far as may be practicable, shall compel him to deliver up the property forming the subject-matter of the appeal, and such property shall be dealt with according to the rules applicable to the case.

IV.—Execution of decrees of Her Majesty in Council.

Certified decrees of Queen in Council to be executed

16. The decrees or orders of Her Majesty in Council when duly certified shall be enforced and executed, subject to the directions of the High Court or other Court as aforesaid, by the Judge by whom the suit was originally tried, and in the manner and according to the rules applicable to the execution of his original decrees or orders.

Petition for execution.

17. Whoever desires to enforce or obtain the execution of any such decree or order of Her Majesty in Council, shall present a petition to the Court which made the first judgment, decree or order appeal from, and the said petition shall be accompanied by a certified copy of the decree or order made in appeal and sought to be enforced or executed.

Appeal against order relating to execution.

18. An appeal shall lie from any decree or order made by such last-mentioned Court relating to the enforcement or execution of any such decree or order of Her Majesty in Council, in the same manner and subject to the same rules as an appeal from a decree or order made upon a petition for the enforcement or execution of the judgment, decree or order first appealed from.

V.—Miscellaneous.

Power to make rules.

19. The High Court may, from time to time, make rules consistent with this Act to regulate—

(a) the service of notices under section seven,

(b) the amount and nature of the security required under sections eight and eleven,

(c) the testing of such security,

(d) the estimate of the cost of transcribing the record,

(e) the preparation, examination and certifying of such transcript,

(f) the revision and authentication of translations,

(g) the preparation of indices to transcripts of records and of lists of the papers not included therein;

and all other matters connected with the enforcement of this Act.

All such rules shall be published in the local official Gazette, and shall thereupon have the force of law.

All rules heretofore made and published by any High Court relating to appeals to Her Majesty in Council shall, so far as they are consistent with this Act, be deemed to have been made and published hereunder.

Construction of Bengal Regulation III of 1828, s. 4, clause 5.

20. The rules and restrictions referred to in Bengal Regulation III of 1828, section four, clause five, shall be deemed to be the rules and restrictions applicable to appeals under this Act from the decisions of the High Court of Judicature at Fort William in Bengal.

Construction of Bombay Regulation XIX of 1827, section 8.

And Bombay Regulation XIX of 1827, section eight, shall be construed as if for 'Regulation IV, A. D. 1827' the words and figures 'the Privy Council Appeals Act, 1872' were substituted.

Saving of Her Majesty's pleasure.

21. Nothing herein contained shall be understood to bar the full and unqualified exercise of Her Majesty's pleasure in receiving or rejecting appeals to Her Majesty in Council.

Annual Report on the Government Cinchona Plantations in British Sikkim.

No. 350, dated Royal Botanic Garden, Calcutta, the 27th May 1872.

From—G. KING, ESQ., M.B., Supdt., Botanic Garden, and in charge of Cinchona Cultivation in Bengal.

To—The Offg. Secretary to the Government of Bengal.

I HAVE the honor herewith to submit the annual report on the Government cinchona plantations in British Sikkim for the official year ending 31st March 1872.

Tenth Annual Report on the Government Cinchona Plantations in British Sikkim. By GEORGE KING, ESQ., M.B., Superintendent, Botanical Garden, and in charge of Cinchona Cultivation in Bengal.

I RECEIVED charge of the cinchona cultivation in Sikkim from my predecessor, Mr. C. B. Clark, on the 10th July 1871. Since doing so, I have had an opportunity of visiting the Government cinchona plantations both on the Nilgiris and in Ceylon, and, by the courtesy of the proprietors, many of the private plantations as well.

2. Natural features of the Rungbee Valley.—As none of the reports of my predecessors contain a description of the natural features of the Rungbee Valley, where the cinchona cultivation is conducted, it may be of advantage to the better understanding of what is to follow if I begin this report by giving a short sketch of these.

3. The Rungbee valley* runs almost due west and east. At its western end it is shut in by a ridge of mountain more than 6,000 feet high, in which the Rungjo stream has its origin. By its eastern extremity, which opens into the valley of the Teesta, the Rungjo stream escapes to join its waters with those of that river. Compared to its length, which is only about sixteen miles, it is a wide valley, measuring from crest to crest probably little less than four miles, but contracting towards its mouth. The southern side of the valley is formed in its upper (western) half by a high range continuous with Sinchul and not much inferior to it in height,† the slopes of which above the zone of cultivation are covered with a dense virgin forest of most luxuriant growth. About half way down the valley, at a point called Mungoot this high range curves away to the south-east, throwing out a low ridge called the Mungpoo spur, which running in an easterly direction forms the southern side of the Rungbee valley along its lower (eastern) half. In the valley intervening between this Mungpoo spur and the main ridge, runs the Ryang stream. The ridge along the north of the Rungbee valley is, on the other hand, low and pretty nearly cleared of forest. Its western part is indeed occupied by the plantation of the Pomong Cinchona Association, which is separated from that of Government by the Rungjo stream. The Government plantation forms an irregular belt at the bottom of the valley and along its southern side, and has therefore a northern exposure. This belt extends from the margin of the Rungjo stream upwards along the slopes to a height above the sea of about 3,500 feet Cinchona cultivation was first begun by Government at the western end of the valley on the piece of ground known as Rungbee Proper, and has gradually been extended eastward or down the valley. The eastern portion covers the ground locally known as Rishap, and, as will be subsequently explained, the extensions now being made are still eastward of Rishap.

* The valley ought properly to have been named after the Rungjo, which is its chief stream; the Rungbee is but a small tributary of the Rungjo. The smaller stream has, however, been allowed to give its name to the valley, and it is too late now to alter the arrangement.

4. The climate of the Rungbee valley is peculiar. Being so completely shut in upon all sides, it is protected in a striking degree from wind, and up to the higher limits of the cinchona belt the air is rarely stirred by even the gentlest breeze - a state of things in striking contrast to that obtaining in the Nilgiris, where in exposed places great and permanent injury is done to the cinchona plants by the high winds. At the lower levels frost is completely unknown, and the climate is indeed sub-tropical; while on the higher southern and western slopes frost, and even snow, are the order of the day during the cold season. Occasionally heavy hail-storms pass over the valley, tearing to pieces the thin broad leaves of the red-bark trees. The mischief thus done is, however, rapidly recovered from. The rainfall is heavy, but not equally so in all parts of the valley. The warm vapour-laden air passing up from the plains has its moisture condensed into clouds by the cool, high, forest-clad ridges that form the northern and western boundary of the valley, and for a great part of the year the higher parts of these are enveloped in drizzling fog. Even at the driest season one is struck by the amount of mist which, condensed at the higher elevations, almost every evening creeps well down their slopes, while the whole of the opposite side and of the lower part of the valley continue quite clear. During the monsoon the rainfall on these high southern ridges must be very great Some idea of its extent may be formed from the fact that at a bungalow standing in the south-western corner of the valley, at an elevation of only 5,000 feet, and thus far below the crest, the rainfall for the year averages about 200 inches. At lower levels in the valley the rainfall is very much less, and no part of the Government cinchona cultivation is exposed to such a downpour. For example, at the Rishap plantation hut (2,000 feet above the sea), where a rain-gauge has been kept for some years, the average is shown to be about 120 inches, and as the mouth of the valley and the Teesta are approached, the climate becomes very much drier. The northern side of the valley being itself comparatively low and cleared of forest, and being besides beyond the influence of the high ranges, shares in the drier climate

5. Now the greater part of the Government plantation lies under the high southern ridge just described, the drainage water of which consequently passes through it on its way to join the Rungjo. This drainage is carried off by numberless streams, most of which originate a good way up the slopes, but much of it also passes underground for a great part of its course, and comes to the surface only a short way above the Rungjo. Moreover, on becoming superficial, a great deal of this water, scorning to be confined in channels, spreads itself over a considerable extent of ground and forms swamps. It is needless to say that in such places cinchona will not grow. The most disagreeable peculiarity about these swamps, however, is that they are sometimes unexpectedly formed at places which previously appeared quite dry. This is probably due to the extreme irregularity of the surface, to the inequality of the soil and sub-soil, and to the frequency of the enormous boulders, both superficial and underground, which have been rolled down the mountain side by the action of the weather But whatever the cause may be, the effect is that wherever one of these swamps is formed, any cinchona that may have been planted there dies out rapidly. Further down the valley and below the point where the higher range bends away to the south-east and throws out the low Mungpoo spur as its eastern continuation and as the southern side of the Rungbee Valley, these conditions do not occur. The lower slopes there have not only a much lighter rainfall, but they have only their own drainage to get rid of, and are not required to transmit also that of a high forest-clad mountain extending several thousand feet above them. It is in these drier parts that the extension of the plantation made during the past year has been carried on.

6. Condition of the plantation.—The trees of red-bark cinchona (C. succirubra), of which the plantation mainly consists, are in my opinion in a state of health which on the whole may be considered as satisfactory. Many of the older trees are indeed extremely healthy and vigorous. Originally planted six feet apart, alternate lines of these have in some places been thinned out, and yet, standing at a distance, one is unable to detect where the thinning has taken place, so completely do the leafy heads of the trees hide the soil. Experience has shown that for the first year or two the plants grow slowly, but that as soon as their heads are large enough to meet and to give shade to the soil, they start away with great vigour. The reason of this lies in the tendency the plant has to throw out fine superficial rootlets, which ramify close to the surface of the ground, and for the the very life of which protection from the sun's rays is necessary.

7. Cinchona Officinalis.—The species yielding the crown bark of commerce has not answered well in any part of Sikkim; and so sickly were the plants at Rungbee during their visit in February 1871, that the commission appointed to report on the plantation recommended the abandonment of crown bark cultivation. A large proportion of the plants of this species have died out, and over almost the whole area of permanent Officinalis plantation Succirubra has been substituted. I am not without hope, however, that on drier spots than have hitherto been tried the species may yet be got to grow. Only 100,000 plants of Officinalis are now returned as in permanent plantation.

8. Cinchona Calisaya.—The plant yielding the yellow bark of commerce, and a sort second to none in value, promises to do well in Sikkim. From the difficulty of propagating this species artificially, the progress made has hitherto been slow. A few trees have, however, now begun to yield seed. This is scrupulously saved for sowing, and every effort is being made to extend the cultivation of this most valuable species, which with Succirubra must be our stand-by in Sikkim. There are now about fifty acres of Calisaya planted out, but I hope before next year greatly to enlarge the area. It is interesting to note that whereas Officinalis has done well in the Nilgiris; Calisaya has hitherto thriven badly there, and is indeed now little cultivated.

9. Grey bark, although rich in the other alkaloids, is found to be poor in quinine. The cultivation of the species yielding it (C. micrantha, nitida, and peruviana,) has therefore been practically abandoned for some years. The 29,000 old trees in permanent plantation look well, and are growing rapidly.

10. Disease.—In his evidence given before the Cinchona Commission in February last year, Mr. McIvor, Superintendent of the Nilgiri Plantations, gave rather an alarming account of a disease prevalent at Rungbee, and expressed it as his opinion that there were on the plantation at the time his evidence was taken (28th February 1871,) 100,000 plants of the age of from four to six years which would die before the end of the year, and that this disease would make the formation of a permanent cinchona plantation at Rungbee or Rishap impossible. The same gentleman has since entered into greater detail on this subject in a report addressed to the Madras Government, and which, having been noticed in an English scientific periodical, has apparently got into circulation in England.

No. 9 dated Ootacamund, 25th April 1871.—from W. G. McIvor, Esq. Superintendent of the Government Cinchona Plantations, to the Acting Secretary to Government, Revenue Department, Fort St. George.

11. Opinions of this sort, so strongly expressed by such an eminent cinchona cultivator, naturally led me to examine the whole plantation carefully and with some anxiety. Since doing so I have had the advantage of going over all the Government and most of the private cinchona gardens on the Nilgiris in company with Mr McIvor, and I must candidly say I cannot agree with him in his gloomy views regarding either the present condition or probable future of the cinchona enterprise in Sikkim. The four to six year old plants particularly referred to by Mr. McIvor have been most carefully watched. They form some of the best pieces of the plantation, and I am glad to say that at the end of March 1872, that is thirteen months after Mr. McIvor's prophecy was made, they were not only in life, but growing vigorously, and that the dreadful mortality predicted by Mr. McIvor does not seem even now to be impending. In his report Mr. McIvor enters on some calculations illustrative of his anticipations as to the small outturn of bark which will be yielded at Rungbee owing to this disease and to other causes, and concerning one of the finest plots of trees on the plantation he writes as follows:—

"On the thirty acres of red-bark near the Rishap bungalow, already mentioned as being "the finest and most uniform on the Sikkim plantations, each alternate row of plants was cut "down when three and half years old. The produce obtained from these plants was 40 "maunds (equal to 3,200lb) of dry stem and branch bark. The quantity of bark on the trees "left standing on the ground would thus be 40 maunds also. Previous to the alternate line "of trees being removed, about 20 maunds (equal to 1,600lb) of bark from thinning had been "obtained from the same piece of ground. I thus estimate that if these 30 acres had been "entirely cut down, they would have yielded a total produce of 100 maunds, or 8,000lb of "dried stem and branch bark, or 273lb per acre." Now these thirty acres were a few months ago carefully pruned and slightly thinned, and the bark obtained from the prunings and thinnings was daily weighed. It amounted to no less than 26,159lb when wet, which is equal to more than 8,000lb when dry. In other words, the bark actually obtained in the course of an ordinary cultural operation, undertaken without reference to bark, and by which the trees are supposed to have benefited, is equal to more than twice the amount, which, according to Mr. McIvor's estimate, would have been got by cutting them all down for the sake of their bark. Nor has the pruning knife been used severely, for the ground on which the trees stand is still in deep shade from their spreading heads. Mr. McIvor prefaces his report to the Madras Government by saying—"I would respectfully call attention to the fact that I "visited the Himalayan plantations at a season of the year when the plants are in the worst "condition. My observations were made during a short stay and at an unfavorable time, and "my impressions as to the condition of cinchona cultivation in the north of India might have "been somewhat modified had my visit been made at a more favorable season." He advances his opinion that "permanent plantations of those species (C. succirubra and C. calisaya) "cannot be formed in British Sikkim," "with the deepest regret," and I have no doubt whatever will be very glad to learn that the two predictions concerning these plantations in which he enters on special details have not been fulfilled.

12. Mr. McIvor, in the body of his report and in his evidence, refers to only one disease, and that he calls "canker." After very careful examination it appears plain to me that two distinct forms of disease occur in the Sikkim plantations,—the one, a constitutional malady affecting the whole plant and usually fatal; the other, local and by no means fatal. The former disease is confined entirely to trees which have been originally planted in damp situations, or in situations which have become damp subsequently by the oozing of drainage water in the way already explained. Disease first attacks the roots of such trees. Its existence becomes apparent by the discolorization of their leaves, which ultimately all fall off. Gradual shrivelling of the cortical and woody tissues then takes place from the root upwards, and before this process has gone far the death of the plant has begun. This disease is in fact apparently nearly identical with that known to gardeners in England as "canker;" it is not in any way infectious or contagious, as some appear to think. It depends entirely on a local cause, namely excess of moisture in the soil; and where that does not exist, it cannot occur. In the cinchona planted on the western end of the Rungbee Valley (the peculiarities of which will be borne in mind) patches of trees killed by this disease are not uncommon. Such patches are invariably co-extensive with damp, watery soil, and should never have been planted. At the time they were planted there was absolutely no experience whatever on the subject of cinchona cultivation to appeal to; the peculiar physical conditions of the Rungbee Valley, as above explained, were unknown; and the idea prevailed that cinchona in its natural habitats delights above all things in shade, moisture of soil, and a misty atmosphere. The mode of planting adopted was to form a continuous belt, and where these damper places fell in the line of extension, they were not passed over. I am assured that for some years many of the patches that have now died out from this form of disease were for the first two or three years extremely healthy, and I do not think that those who planted them can be charged with any want of judgment. But with the experience now accumulated, showing as it does that cinchona suffers more from an excess of shade and moisture than from the opposite conditions, it would be folly to plant in similar places. I have accordingly decided to do so only on such selected spots as possess good and equal soil with free drainage, and all the plants recently put out are in such situations. The recurrence of this first and fatal form of disease need not therefore I hope be anticipated.

13. The second form of disease does not affect the entire constitution of the plant, but manifests itself in patches on the stem and branches. The appearance of one of these patches is as if some escharotic had been dropped on the bark, which is of a dark, unnatural colour, shrivelled, dry, and brittle; occasionally these appearances extend to the wood, but as a rule they do not. In size the patches vary; many are about the size of a shilling, others are much larger. They are not numerous on one tree, and are often confined to a single branch. When small, no apparent affection of the general health of the plant occurs, and growth goes on unchecked. Where, however, a large patch occurs on a small tree, involving the bark pretty nearly all round the stem, death results. Death from this disease is however, as far as my observations go, not common: and it is a well-established fact that a tree which has been extensively affected will, when cut down, throw up from its stump perfectly healthy shoots; while in hundreds of trees at Rungbee I have seen illustrations of recovery, the little patches of diseased bark being thrown off and replaced by perfectly healthy tissue, and the plant apparently as robust as if it never had been attacked. I had not sufficient leisure last year during the season at which this affection is most prevalent, namely the rains, to make successive observations on the state of the diseased tissues, and I am prepared with no theories about its cause; I hope, however, to find out something during the approaching rains. This disease is not confined like the last to certain spots, but is found on plants in all parts of the plantation. I do not think it is to be feared much, and I certainly do not concur in Mr. McIvor's views concerning its dangerous nature. In my opinion it must be accepted as one of the drawbacks attending the cinchona experiment in Sikkim, in the same way as high winds and dear labour have to be accepted in the Nilgiri cultivation. Orchard-planting is not given up in the south of England because apple trees are especially subject to canker, nor are plantations abandoned in Scotland because a deadly disease (compared to which this form of cinchona disease is a trifle) attacks the larch.

14. Summary of the year's work.—During the past year 166,285 plants of Cinchona succirubra and 14,500 of Cinchona calisaya have been added to the permanent plantation. Propagation has been carried on vigorously, and the seed and nursery beds at present contain 600,000 young plants of the former and 147,500 of the latter species. The whole of the plantation has been carefully gone over, and every sickly plant has been rigorously cut down, while the healthy ones have been pruned and thinned. This has taken a great deal of time and labor, but I am convinced they have not been ill bestowed. A considerable extent of new land has been cleared and prepared for planting, and will be covered with cinchona as soon as the weather is favorable. Some new plantation roads have been made, and the old ones have also been kept in repair.

15. Yield of bark.—Nearly a hundred and sixteen thousand pounds of green bark (equal to about thirty-nine thousand pounds of dry bark) have been collected from the prunings and thinnings above mentioned, not a single tree having been cut merely for the sake of its bark. In accordance with the recommendation of the Cinchona Commission, a quantity of the best of this bark has been packed for transmission to England. The smaller bark, which it is considered more profitable to utilize in the manufacture of alkaloid, has, conformably to the instruction of Government, been stored up, pending the appointment of a quinologist. The bark will not deteriorate by being kept, and its storage costs nothing.

16. Expenditure and revenue.—The budget allotment for the past year for all purposes was Rs. 63,621, and the expenditure Rs. 50,463-13-5, showing a saving of Rs. 13,157-2-7. The present is the first year in which revenue has been received for the sale of bark. During the year 7,016lb were sold by auction in the London market. The bark was very varied in quality, a large proportion of it consisting of small quills of little value. The average price realized per pound was about one shilling and five pence, and the total amount received was equivalent to Rs. 5,068-1-2. When the mixed quality of the bark is considered, I think the result of this the first sale may be looked upon as favorable The sum of Rs 783-14 was received as rent for small patches of land within the cinchona reserve which are unsuited to our cultivation and which have been let to natives This amount was paid into the civil treasury at Darjeeling.

17. General considerations.—The production in India of cinchona bark as a crop cannot, I think, fairly be considered as yet beyond the condition of an experiment. It has indeed been demonstrated that cinchona trees can be grown successfully up to the age of about ten years, and that their bark is quite as rich in alkaloids as that obtained from the South American forests; but whether they will reach maturity remains to be seen. It has still to be settled how the bark crop can most advantageously be taken, and the respective merits of the systems of mossing as invented and practised by Mr McIvor, of systematic coppicing, and of working forest-fashion by selection and thinning, cannot be determined without much additional experience. Connected with the commercial aspect of the matter, there are as unsettled problems the probable extent to which the price of the drug will be affected by the introduction into the European market of the large quantities of bark which must soon begin to be turned out by the various Indian and Colonial plantations that have been established, the amount by which the demand for preparations of cinchona will be increased by the fall in their price, which is almost certain to take place, and finally, the advantages or disadvantages of the manufacture of an amorphous preparation at the plantation as opposed to the complete separation of each alkaloid in a pure form, or to the more primitive plan of exporting all the bark to England and of taking prepared alkaloids in exchange as part payment.

18. It is, however, a matter of satisfaction that substantial progress has been made towards the realization of the great object which Government had in view in undertaking this experiment,—namely, "to secure for the fever-stricken millions of India the inestimable blessing of an abundant and cheap supply of the only specific for the most deadly of all Indian diseases." That object will not be thoroughly secured until a febrifuge in some efficient form is procurable in every village in India. The amount of fever prevalent in the rural districts is, I believe, much greater than is usually supposed, and for its alleviation the sufferers have at present as a rule nothing more effectual than some selections from the wonderful farrago of substances known as "native medicines," few of which have much therapeutic influence in malarious fever. Any preparation of cinchona is to many a villager a thing unknown, unseen, unheard of. The amount of labor lost annually to the State by reason of the prevalence of fever is simply incalculable, while the loss of life is enormous; and I have no hesitation in saying this state of matters is to a great extent preventible by the dissemination of a cheap febrifuge.

19. As to the probable quantity of quinine that could be used in the Bengal Presidency, I calculate as follows:—There are in the provinces of Bengal, Orissa, Assam, Burmah, Behar, Oude, the North-Western Provinces, Central Provinces, and Punjab, probably a hundred millions of inhabitants, all more or less subject to fever, and it is I think no extravagant estimate to allow five grains of quinine per annum to each, which is equal to a total of 65,000lb or about 29 tons. In these circumstances it is probably premature to fear that too many cinchona trees are being planted.

20. In conclusion my acknowledgments are due to Mr. Gammie, the resident manager of the plantation, and to Messrs. Biermann and Jaffrey, for the efficient and hearty way in which they have performed their duties.

GEORGE KING,
Supdt., Botanical Gardens, and in charge of Cinchona Cultivation in Bengal.

Resolution by the Government of Bengal, dated Calcutta, the 13th July 1872.

Read—The Report on Cinchona Cultivation in Bengal, by Dr G. King, Superintendent of the Botanical Garden, for the year 1871-72.

RESOLUTION.—Dr. King prefixes to his report on the year's operation an interesting sketch of the topography, climate, and characteristics of the valley, in which are situate the Government cinchona plantations of British Sikkim. The differences of temperature, rainfall, and soil, at different parts of the valley make it possible to give the fullest trial to the different species of cinchona. It might be added to Dr. King's sketch that all the Government plantations are on the right bank of the Rungjo stream, and that on the left or less wooded side of the valley is a flourishing plantation of cinchona belonging to a private company, on whose lands 1,085* acres are already planted with cinchona (chiefly succirubra), and from which 25,830lb of bark were yielded in the year 1871.

2. Last year's (1870-71) report noticed the proceedings of the cinchona commission, which, after visiting all the plantations very carefully, pronounced against the attempt to grow C. officinalis (crown bark) in Sikkim, and recommended the Government to make the C. succirubra (red bark) the staple of its plantations. One member of the committee, a gentleman versed in cinchona cultivation, expressed a fear that the Sikkim plantations would suffer greatly from the "canker" to which its trees were liable. The present report shows that the recommendations of the commission have been carried out, and that the C. succirubra has almost entirely taken the place of the C. officinalis. The plantations of both C. succirubra and C. calisaya (yellow bark) are reported to be doing extremely well; the success of the yellow bark species is particularly satisfactory, as the bark of this variety is richer in alkaloids and more valuable than the red bark. Dr King seems confident that, so far as the observations of one year warrant a conclusion, the plantation has not to fear destruction from "canker;" and he appears to hope that the red bark and yellow bark trees, which have done so well during the past five years, may continue to do well; he observes, however, that cinchona cultivation in India is still an experiment, and "it remains to be seen whether they (the trees) will reach maturity."

3. The Lieutenant-Governor had the satisfaction of visiting the Rungbee plantations in company with Dr. King last autumn, and he found the cinchona cultivation to be,—to all outward appearance,—a very much more successful and business-like affair than he had, after reading the reports, supposed to be. He saw hundreds of acres of plantation, with trees averaging from 12 to 25 feet high, and hundreds of acres more, with trees averaging from 3 feet to 10 feet high. Exclusive of the marshy gaps described in Dr. King's 12th paragraph, the trees looked as healthy and well grown as ordinary trees in the best plantations to be seen on English or Scotch estates. The C. calisaya has a smaller, duller-colored leaf than the C. succirubra, and the yellow bark plantations are as yet on a very small scale and do not from a distance look so flourishing as the red bark; but individual trees of the calisaya species are, when closely examined, to all appearance quite as healthy as the succirubra trees. The table appended to Dr. King's report, giving the growth of individual trees of both species, which have been carefully marked and observed during the last two years, shows that—

Ten C. succirubra trees 7½ years old have attained an average height of 20½ feet, and grew on an average 1⅛ feet during the last six months.

Ten C. succirubra trees 4½ years old, but planted at a lower altitude than the other 20, have attained an average height of 18½ feet, and grew on an average 1½ feet during the last six months.

Ten C. calisaya trees 4½ years old, and grown at the same altitude as the last-mentioned red bark trees, (namely) 2,000 feet above the sea, have attained an average height of 18 feet, and grew on an average one foot during the last six months.

These trees were not selected as specially luxuriant trees, but were taken as average specimens of the plantations to which they belonged. The highest trees of which measurements are given by Dr. King was a 7½ year old succirubra 26½ feet high.

4. It is as yet too soon to speculate upon the weight of bark which the cinchona plantations may hereafter yield annually; but the yield of the thinnings and prunings of thirty acres of plantation, as shown in Dr. King's 11th paragraph, warrants an expectation that the average yield of the red bark trees may be fairly good. The price (1*s.* 5*d.* per lb) obtained in London for the first consignment of Rungbee bark was satisfactory; but until the first few consignments have been worked up, and the percentage of alkaloids obtainable from the Sikkim bark is known in London, we cannot estimate the value of the bark, nor can we reckon on getting 1*s.* 5*d.* per lb for all we may send home. The total yield from the prunings and thinnings of the year was 39,000lb of dry bark, some of the best of which has again been sent home for sale in London. If the dry bark will yield 3 per cent of useful alkaloids, the produce of the year under review would give 1,170lb of alkaloid, which might be worth to Government Rs. 25 a lb, or Rs. 29,250 in all

5. The extensions and plantation operations of the year (paragraph 14) appear to have been systematically maintained, more than 200,000 trees having been added to the permanent plantations. The extensions are almost entirely at lower altitudes than the earlier plantations, as the cinchona is found to thrive best in the lower parts of the valley.

6. The Lieutenant-Governor considers that Dr. King and Mr. Gammie have conducted the cinchona plantation affairs satisfactorily and economically during the year under review. The important problem now to be solved is the best and most economical process of preparing alkaloids on the spot at Rungbee. There will be some 60,000 or 70,000lb of dry bark ready for the quinologist by the end of the current season, and the Lieutenant-Governor hopes that by the beginning of the cold weather arrangements for providing a competent quinologist may be effected. When freight from Rungbee to Calcutta is nearly Rs. 1½ a maund, it will clearly be cheaper to prepare the alkaloids on the spot (if the work can be well done) rather than send home to Europe 100 maunds of dry bark, which can produce only 3 maunds of alkaloid.

Report on the Fever in the Burdwan District called for in No. 2039, dated 13th May 1872, from Government of Bengal.

No. 367, dated Burdwan, the 6th July 1872.

From—C. T. BUCKLAND, Esq., Commissioner of the Burdwan Division.

To—The Offg. Secy. to the Government of Bengal, Judicial (Medical) Department.

ON the receipt of your No. 2039 of 13th May, I requested the Magistrates of Hooghly and Burdwan to send me with the least practicable delay a complete and concise review of the fever relief operations in each district. I requested that the report might embrace a notice of every topic connected with the fever during the past season, and I desired the Magistrates also to put forward any suggestions that they might wish to offer regarding the conduct of operations for the relief of the sick and needy during the coming season.

2. I have now the honor to submit in original a report, No. 205, dated 28th ultimo, from Mr. Metcalfe, the Magistrate of Burdwan, in which that officer has given such a very complete description of the proceedings in connection with the fever last year, that he seems to have omitted only one thing which I am now bound to supply. Mr. Metcalfe has omitted to state that he himself and his servants suffered most severely from repeated attacks of the fever, and notwithstanding all the danger and discomfort which thus attended him, he persevered, whenever and so long as his health permitted, in his exertions to provide for the relief and comfort of the sick and suffering people.

3. Mr. Metcalfe has borne testimony to the eminent services of the medical officers Dr. Jackson, the Sanitary Commissioner, and of Dr. Elliot, the late Civil Surgeon of Burdwan. I have already reported to Government the high opinion which I entertained of Dr. Jackson's services in expressing my wish to see the report, which I presume Dr. Jackson has submitted to Government, as to the results of his observations and experience; and I can hardly add anything to what I have already stated, officially and demi-officially, as to the value of the services of Dr. Elliot, whose life was almost sacrificed to the fever in the discharge of his arduous duties. I have also had occasion to represent the meritorious services of Sub-Assistant Surgeon Denobundhoo Dutt, who has been worn to a shadow by his exertions and sufferings from repeated attacks of fever.

4. Into the history or causes of the fever it is not my intention to enter. The lengthy quotation which the Magistrate has made (paragraph 63) from the report by Dr. Elliot will be found to contain a much more valuable opinion than I could hope to offer. I understand that Dr. Jackson's opinion agrees very much with that of Dr. Elliot, and, as usually happens, the more experience and opportunity of observation each officer enjoys, the more careful he is not to commit himself to any theories as to the causes. There is an old report in the Asiatic Society's Researches of about 1805 by a learned Dr. Balfour, who studied and propounded what he called the "solar-lunar" theory of the causes of fever in Bengal; but, except that it shows that fever prevailed very extensively in Bengal nearly a century ago, there is little to be learnt from the theory of the learned doctor, although he seems to have enjoyed the patronage and assistance of Lord Teignmouth and the other leading officials and non-officials of the day. As Mr. Metcalfe has concisely remarked (paragraph 64), "theory has failed to suppress the fever." Ever since I joined this division in 1869, it has been my endeavour not to seek for theories, but to contend with the enemy in the field.

5. I have waited as long as possible in the hope of receiving a complete report from the Magistrate of Hooghly. Mr. Pellew sent in a brief report on the 8th ultimo in reply to my call, but it was so wanting in particulars that I was obliged to call on him for a further report. As I am now going away on leave, my successor will have to forward the report of the Magistrate of Hooghly.

6. I have only to add that I have no new measures to recommend in addition to the system hitherto in force, and which must be continued, that a dispensary shall be established wherever the prevalence of the fever in any village, or cluster of villages, renders it necessary and desirable. It is to be regretted that we cannot obtain more supervising power from experienced English medical officers, but it is almost impossible to obtain the services of officers having the experience and knowledge of the native character and language that would be so useful. If any one has observed how difficult it is to get his private servants, or the people who come within his immediate influence at a sudder station to take English medicines properly and regularly, and to submit themselves to reasonable treatment, he will easily conceive how much of the effect is lost when medicine is given to a set of ignorant and doubting people in the villages, who probably do their best to destroy the valuable properties of the English drugs by combining with them (as they fancy) the prescriptions of the kobirajes or the wise and aged women of the village. But it is our duty to persevere in spite of every difficulty and discouragement, and the only reward that is to be expected is in finding that expressions of gratitude and satisfaction on the part of the people to whom relief is afforded are becoming more numerous.

No. 205P, dated Burdwan, the 28th June 1872.

From—C. T. Metcalfe, Esq., Magistrate of Burdwan.

To—The Commissioner of the Burdwan Division.

In reply to your letter No 265, dated 21st ultimo, I have the honor to forward a report on the fever relief operations in this district, embracing the period from the outbreak of the fever in July 1871 to the end of May.

1. I have had in view in this report, without entering into unnecessary particulars, to give a general review of the operations of the last six months.

2. An apology is also due for the apparent delay in the submission of the report, but I had called for from the police, and had hoped to have been able to submit, a statistical table showing the proportion of deaths to the population, as taken at the recent census. Another cause which has helped to delay this report has been ill-health since the first week in this month.

3. I had also hoped to have obtained from the police stations information regarding the advance of the fever and the places where it gradually broke out, but the result of these inquiries has not been satisfactory, and the information is prima facie inaccurate and valueless.

4. I cannot perhaps preface this report better than to quote the opening paragraph of the Government resolution of the 9th of January 1872.

5. "The fever, which has for more than ten years past been raging in the districts on "both sides of the Hooghly, has during the past three seasons chiefly shown itself in Burdwan "and Hooghly.

6. "In 1869 it broke out with great violence in the town of Burdwan, and afterwards "at different places in both districts; the number of persons attacked was very large and the "mortality lamentably heavy.

7. "The fever did not again show itself with anything like the same virulence until "July 1871, when it once more broke out within the municipal limits of the town of "Burdwan.

8. "Native doctors with medicines were promptly placed at the disposal of the "municipality, but the disease went on spreading within the town, and additional medical "assistance had soon to be afforded, and food depôts established for the relief of the sick, as "the majority of those attacked were so debilitated by the fever of previous years that they "broke down at once under the attack, and were too poor to procure assistance and food for "themselves.

9. "In Burdwan no less than nine special dispensaries have been established, four in the "town, and five in the district; while a European medical officer and twenty-two sub-assistant "surgeons and native doctors have been despatched to the aid of the civil surgeon, and are "now doing what they can to relieve the people and check the disease."

10. This resolution was penned in January, and it is necessary to revert to what the state of the fever was in the earlier portion of the year. On the 24th of July a communication was received from the civil surgeon, intimating the re-appearance of the fever in the town, and urging on the Municipal Commissioners the expediency of adopting measures for the relief of the sufferers. This communication was treated by the Magistrate as Chairman of the municipality, and at a special meeting it was determined to open two dispensaries at Sankarepokur and Kamirhaut. Towards the close of August the fever broke out very violently in the western suburbs of the town, especially in the parts marginally noted. This led to the opening of a dispensary at Kanchunnuggur. On the 13th of September two food depôts were opened in connection with these dispensaries, and a visiting native doctor was entertained to attend the more sickly in their homes. Towards the close of September the Kanchunnuggur food depôt being badly attended was removed to Kazirhaut. Subsequently, the relief operations, both medical and food, were extended on the 20th of November to the Kattrapottah mehal, where great sickness was prevailing.

11. At the latter end of September I took charge of the district, and it is no exaggeration to say that at that time almost every human being resident in the town was more or less affected by fever. In the public offices clerks and amlah, as well as higher officials, were suffering from repeated attacks, and many were quite prostrated and unfit for work.

12. On one occasion I received letters from every official subordinate to myself placing themselves on the sick list.

13. The district police were utterly prostrated. Scarecrows of constables were to be seen stalking about unequal to any duty. Men were fit for work one day and laid up for five or six.

14. The unfortunate jail darogah and the whole of his family were for weeks sufferers. The jail hospital was filled to overflowing, and the prisoners, if any, that actually escaped the fever became weak and bloodless, with every appearance of scurvy. The most miserable objects were to be seen attending the dispensaries for food and medicine.

15. In the earlier part of October the civil surgeon, who had suffered most severely from the effects of the epidemic, took leave, and left the district on the 13th of October. One European, a Mrs. Gisborne, had already succumbed to the disease, and her husband was nearly at death's door. The sickness was prevalent throughout the East India Railway Company's premises, and several had to leave the place as the only chance for their lives. Households were without servants; the municipality without sweepers or scavengers. Many ludicrous scenes arose from the helplessness of persons suffering from the epidemic. A criminal tending the constable in whose custody he travelled. A jail darogah carried about to his current duties in the arms of his warders; whilst from the interior of the district came lamentable accounts of fever-stricken villages. Vide Appendix A.

16. Nearer to Burdwan it was found necessary to open a dispensary at Serai Tikur and Mahatta. Accordingly, opportunity was taken of the timely arrival of two hospital assistants on the evening of the 4th of November to post them at the above villages, and the itinerant sub-assistant surgeon, who had been employed within the municipality, was ordered off to Mahachanda to open out a dispensary there.

17. The Deputy Magistrate of Cutwa, Baboo Jogessur Mookerjea, also reported that great sickness prevailed at Munguleote. He was directed to remove his head-quarter dispensary temporarily from Cutwa to Munguleote, and direct the sub-assistant surgeon to give such relief to the neighbouring villages as he could till further aid should arrive.

concisely remarked (paragraph 64), "theory has failed to suppress the fever." Ever since I joined this division in 1869, it has been my endeavour not to seek for theories, but to contend with the enemy in the field.

5. I have waited as long as possible in the hope of receiving a complete report from the Magistrate of Hooghly. Mr. Pellew sent in a brief report on the 8th ultimo in reply to my call, but it was so wanting in particulars that I was obliged to call on him for a further report. As I am now going away on leave, my successor will have to forward the report of the Magistrate of Hooghly.

6. I have only to add that I have no new measures to recommend in addition to the system hitherto in force, and which must be continued, that a dispensary shall be established wherever the prevalence of the fever in any village, or cluster of villages, renders it necessary and desirable. It is to be regretted that we cannot obtain more supervising power from experienced English medical officers, but it is almost impossible to obtain the services of officers having the experience and knowledge of the native character and language that would be so useful. If any one has observed how difficult it is to get his private servants, or the people who come within his immediate influence at a sudder station to take English medicines properly and regularly, and to submit themselves to reasonable treatment, he will easily conceive how much of the effect is lost when medicine is given to a set of ignorant and doubting people in the villages, who probably do their best to destroy the valuable properties of the English drugs by combining with them (as they fancy) the prescriptions of the kobirajes or the wise and aged women of the village. But it is our duty to persevere in spite of every difficulty and discouragement, and the only reward that is to be expected is in finding that expressions of gratitude and satisfaction on the part of the people to whom relief is afforded are becoming more numerous.

On the 13th of November Dr. Elliot returned from leave.

19. Whilst every exertion was being made to meet the demands of the fever-stricken villages in the Burdwan and Mungulcote and Bood-Bood circles, a report was received from the sub-assistant surgeon in charge of the Akloky dispensary, suggesting that it should be either closed or transferred, as there was little or no sickness. This statement was the more remarkable in the face of the police reports that fever was increasing every day in violence; and in order to test the truth of this assertion, Sub-Assistant Surgeon Denobundhoo was at once ordered off to inquire and report.

20. So far from the sub-assistant surgeon's report being found true, the condition of the southern tract may be summed up in the following words: viz., that the whole of South Burdwan presented one uniform and lamentable scene. With some few exceptions, whole villages were utterly prostrated and suffering from the debilitating effects of fever.

21. It was further shown that large rice fields intervened in this part of the district between each village Roads there are none, not even village tracks. The country is intersected by nullahs. All these local features added to the difficulties of the sick and weak attending merely central dispensaries.

22. The result of the sub-assistant surgeon's inquiries were reported in this office No. 188, dated the 9th of December, in the following words: "The fever has for some time "past been increasing in severity. I had hoped, and indeed been led to expect, that with the "approach of the drier weather much of the severity of the disease would have abated; this "hope has not been realized, and it becomes necessary again to ask for the services of more "native doctors"

23 The Government promptly responded to this call, and in their No. 4131, dated the 14th of December, sanctioned carte blanche the purchase of clothing and other necessaries for the sick. It was becoming daily more apparent that, in order to supply aid efficiently, the operations must be largely extended, and to effect anything like real good to the community, it would be necessary to establish dispensaries in every second or third village

24. With a view to obtaining greater local knowledge of what we had to deal with, Dr. Elliot and I started off for the southern portion of the district The results of our inspection were fully detailed in the reports* submitted to Government

* From Dr Elliot, Civil Surgeon of Burdwan, No 492, dated 18th December.
From Magistrate of Burdwan, No 193, dated 16th December 1871

Dr. Elliot writes:—"Since my report of the 8th of December there has been no abate-"ment either in town or district; new cases prevail in villages lying to the north-west of the "district. In Bood-Bood sub-division reports of the prevalence of the fever are so general "that it would be difficult to say where the disease is not. The same type of fever prevails "throughout with urgent congestive complications at first, and enlargement of spleen and "liver afterwards."

Dr. Elliot further reported.—"On the 13th of December I visited the villages Sreeram-"pore, Sreekristopore, Rajahrampore. After minute inspection, having visited from house to "house, I saw upwards of 300 people, all sick in different stages of the disease. Many were "prostrated with fever, others in great debility and poverty eking out a miserable existence, "without proper nourishment, covering from cold, or care of any kind. The mortality has "been, and is still, very great."

25. As fast as the native doctors arrived or locally could be entertained they were deputed into the interior. On the 20th of December the Deputy Inspector-General of Hospitals paid his second visit of inspection to Burdwan. He found that there had been a considerable increase of sickness in the district generally during November and December; that the food and clothing were essential in association with medical relief for the treatment of the sick.

26. At the latter end of December the more fever-stricken portions of the district had been divided for the purposes of supervision into three circles, and the eleven dispensaries opened up to the 23rd of November had expanded into the following 21 :—

27. In connection with the fever, on the 20th of December, the Officiating Sanitary Commissioner of Bengal also visited and inspected Burdwan and its neighbourhood, writing on the causes of the fever. Dr. Payne in the 14th paragraph of his letter thus sums up—"It needs but little penetration to see that the people are suffering from the disease which is well known in fenny regions, and from its equally well-known accompaniments and consequences. Nor can the dry appearance of the immediate surface soil be long a source of deception, for every way-side puddle shows that there is stagnant water within a foot of the surface even at this season of the year, and the general state of the sub-soil is a matter of necessary inference. So far the connection between the state of the ground and that of the people is obvious enough, and the remaining point for inquiry, viz. the manner in which the state of things has been brought about, is scarcely less clear from the reports of the inquirers who have surveyed the fever districts. That there has been a gradual silting up of the natural drainage outlets is an established fact. It is on record that some of the water-courses which now are unequal to the drainage of the fields or their banks were formerly navigable by large vessels, and that the progress of this evil should have been accelerated by the Damoodah embankment, is but a natural result of intercepting the mass of water which annually scoured the channels and maintained their depth. An opinion prevails on the spot that the embankment through other means has caused the fever. It is thought that a healthy influence in the annual supply of fresh water by inundation filling the tanks and cleansing the lands has been lost, and that the fertilizing effect of the river silt is removed to the impoverishment of the lands and of the people; but these two beneficial agencies are indirect in their relation to malarious disease, and it is not necessary to include any such in estimating the effects of embanking the river; for by mere mechanical process of scouring the channels the inundation must have without doubt provided that for want of which the districts are to all appearances suffering gradual depopulation. These words were penned in December, based on local impressions of the features of the district as they then exhibited themselves to Dr. Payne.

28. I have now brought the narrative of aid operations to the end of December, at which period the disease was still very violent; the mortality had been excessive, and those left were all more or less diseased and enervated, as far as this district is concerned, and so this cheerless old year passed away.

29. It was now determined to hold more minute inquiry into the actual condition of the mofussil villages. With this object, in company with Dr. Jackson, I visited day by day a very large number of villages both on the southern and eastern portions of the district. We found a very large proportion of sick in houses bedridden, who had no chance of ever seeing a doctor. Many were women, purdah nushins, others unable through sickness to visit the neighbouring dispensaries

30. In conjunction with Dr. Jackson, whose exertions in ascertaining the extent of and prescribing for the sick were most meritorious, information was daily sent to Dr. Elliot at head-quarters of the villages most requiring medical aid.

31. Dr. Elliot responded to these calls as fast as the professional men were despatched from Calcutta or elsewhere A centre store department had been organized at Burdwan, and as each native doctor or sub-assistant surgeon arrived he received his supplies and was at once posted to a village.

32. As soon as it became generally known that the Government were dispensing open-handed aid, applications and petitions for the opening of dispensaries came pouring in from all quarters, some to my office, others to the civil surgeon. Each case was separately dealt with, and the actual requirements of each village inquired into by local inspection either by the sub-divisional officers or one of the supervising medical surgeons. This led to a far wider range of medical aid, and at the latter end of January forty-five dispensaries were working at an estimated monthly expenditure of Rs. 4,696-8-0.

33. It was found necessary in some localities to place dispensaries within a mile of each other, as both the Sanitary Commissioner and I found persons suffering from violent fever and others recovering, residing within half a mile of a dispensary, who had never sought or received medical aid of any kind. This was notoriously the case both at Ichla Bazar and Kanchunnuggur in the town of Burdwan, and at Gopalbereh and the neighbouring villages in the Oochalun circle. In other places again, such as at Akloky, a neighbouring dispensary was found necessary in order to draw off the press of patients from Akloky, where the numbers were so large that it was impossible for the sub-assistant surgeon to treat them properly. This clustering of dispensaries naturally gave rise to much consultation, but the arrangements first made were adhered to as affording the most efficient aid to the sick.

34. The visiting from dispensaries to neighbouring villages was also insisted upon, but has, I fear, never been performed in the way it should have been, and this notwithstanding the supervision to which the sub-assistant surgeons and native doctors had been subjected.

35. The Medical Department are perfectly well acquainted with the shortcomings of the class of sub-assistant surgeons and native doctors; serious notice of the conduct of the chief culprit has been taken, and I therefore do not propose further to enlarge on their many iniquities. A very large portion of the w[illegible] which has fallen on the civil surgeon in connection with the relief measures has arisen from the perversity and bad conduct of the class I have referred to. There are a few honorable exceptions. Towards the end of January the fever had abated.

36. In my reply to Commissioner, No. 34, dated the 30th of January, I reported as follows:—

The fever is not so severe as it was in November and part of December, but a very large proportion of the population are still subject to repeated attacks. Spleen disease is very general. I also offered the following observations, viz.:—

There is a marked difference between the physical appearance of the people afflicted with fever, who reside near the Damooda where there are no bunds, and those who reside on the northern side where there are bunds, and that whatever the cause of the present fever, whether malarious, endemic, or epidemic, it is effected in greater or lesser degree by local causes, and that in those localities where water-supply is the purest, the fever seems to cause amongst the greater portion of the population lesser deterioration of physical strength.

37. I arrive at the conclusion that in no place which I have visited in the district has the fever so deteriorating an effect as in and about the sudder station of Burdwan. I am satisfied that the chief cause of the excessive sickness and debility of the persons resident here is due to the impure and unwholesome water which they drink, although that impure water may not be the primary cause of the fever itself.

37½. In this month Baboo Bhugoban Chunder Bose, Personal Assistant to the Commissioner, was transferred to Burdwan to supervise the food and clothing relief. On the 13th of September two food depôts had been opened within the municipality, and had been carried on under the supervision of the Municipal Commissioners and under the direct management of the Secretary to the Municipality.

It had been strongly urged by the Medical Department that to give medicines to persons who had insufficient food to nourish their bodies was useless, and that medical aid must be supplemented by good and wholesome diet. The earlier operation on account of the food depôts may be the better detailed in the following tabular form :—

The total cost of the food relief from the commencement of the operations to the end of November amounted to Rs. 1,075, and the expenditure had been hitherto borne by the municipality; but at this point their resources failed, and the expenditure was henceforth borne by funds advanced by Government from subscriptions, &c. 38. Baboo Bhugoban Chunder was relieved of all judicial and revenue work and employed chiefly in visiting and opening food depôts, 1*st*, in the Mungulcote circle, and 2*nd*, in the Bood-Bood and Burdwan circles, with occasional visits to Sreekistopore. He was also employed in travelling through the centre of the district to ascertain if there were any places requiring aid to which none had been hitherto sent.

39. At his recommendation several dispensaries were opened and food relief started in conjunction with medical treatment. The dispensaries by the middle of February had increased to fifty, and many had been transferred from localities where the fever had abated and the attendance farther off.

40. In connection with these dispensaries there were working the following relief centres :—

Mungulcote Circle.—Mungulcote, Chanuk, Mahachanda, Kurmon, and Palassy.

Burdwan Circle.—Katrapottah, Kazirhaut, Baldangah and Seraietikur.

Bood-Bood Circle.—Bhalkee, Bood-Bood, and Gulshee.

These had come into existence as the demand was created.

41. There had been some apprehension that they would be largely resorted to by all classes, even by those who were well-to-do ; these fears were not realized. Experience shows us that even the poorer classes have the greatest aversion to partaking of cooked food when issued from a relief depôt, and that it is only when hunger pinches that they resort there. Children* who have been brought in the early mornings have had milk offered to them, but the mothers have invariably declined, saying I have a cow at home, why should she take milk here ?

* Of well-to-do persons.

42. Blankets were kept in store at each depôt, and distributed as occasion called for. The medical officers in charge were authorized both to distribute and indent for more clothing as required.

43. On the 28th of February your memorandum of the 27th idem was received, conveying to the Maharajah of Burdwan notice of the special satisfaction of the Government of India at the contribution made by His Highness in furtherance of the relief operations, which notice was duly communicated to the Maharajah.

44. Between the 15th of March and 20th of April 108,661 persons sought relief at the dispensaries within the district. As compared with 114,042 in the month of April, the figures for which are given separately, many of these figures necessarily represent the same persons over and over again Still the number above stated actually attended and received medicine and advice.

During this period many relapses occurred congestion of the liver complicating many of the cases. In several of the villages where it had completely subsided the fever again broke out, though in a moderate degree, during the third and fourth weeks of March. Sub-Assistant Surgeon Denobundhoo Dutt, who had experience of a previous year, was of opinion that the fever was worse during the present hot season than it was during the past season of 1871-72. Some new cases of fever were also observed in Digulgram, Gopalbereh, and Bamoniah, although on the neighbouring villages none were reported.

45. The Karolia dispensary was moved to Ausgram at Dr. Robinson's suggestion, and the sickness at Shor, a large village with 2,500 inhabitants, and at Dignuggur, with a population of 4,000, were the special subjects of inquiry. The fever also during this period was occurring violently at Talit and in the neighbouring eighteen villages. At Potunda, Palta, Bhytia, great sickness prevailed. At Amrah dispensary there was an attendance of over 220 per diem. Patients coming from fourteen neighbouring villages.

The following villages also received special attention, and were reported on by Dr. Robinson and other superintending officers :—

Bursool near		Saktighur.
Jowgram ,,		Mymaree.
Jabooie	..	Approximate fourteen miles north-east of Burdwan.
Bejoy	..

46. During the month of March 7,528 indigent sick were fed at the depôts. The average attendance being 252 per diem, at a cost of Rs 487-0-7, at the rate of Rs. 15 per diem, of which Rs. 12 was for food, and Rs. 2 for establishment. The daily average cost was 11⅞ pie per head, and the monthly expenditure Rs. 1-15 per head, of which Rs. 1-8-11 was for feeding, and 6 annas 4 pie for establishment.

During the month of April 9,387 indigents were relieved at a cost of Rs. 552-10-3, or Rs. 18-6-8¼ per diem.

47. In this month a correspondence was carried on with the Municipal Commissioners' office regarding the checks to be placed on persons seeking food relief, more particularly within the town of Burdwan, with a view to prevent persons capable of working from receiving gratuitous relief. The following rules were put in force :—

1st.—Identification of each pauper by the headmen of the village, and certification that he or she was a proper object for charity.

3rd.—The issue of food simultaneously with that from the Maharajah's golabaree. The distance preventing the beggars who resort to the latter from again presenting themselves at the depôts.

48. For the mofussil depôts the system of food relief adopted was as follows :—

The headmen of the village drew up a list of those known to be in actual want of food; in other words who lived by labor, and being unable to labor, were deprived of the means of existence. Such persons received depôt tickets when sick from the medical officer and received rations. I found the system to work well and far more satisfactorily than where the matter was left to the native doctor and the peon without any responsible agents. Stores of the best quality of rice and dhal were obtained from Calcutta and left in the custody of the village headmen. I have no reason for thinking that the trust was abused.

49. The state of the public health had been gradually improving throughout the latter part of the month of March and April. In the former month I reported on this improvement, attributing it chiefly to the drier weather. The most wretched creatures I wrote are, however, still to be seen: women with shrivelled-up bodies and attenuated limbs; others with swollen feet and faces; others again whose mouths are in a state of ulceration.

50. Amongst those seeking relief I find the following circumstances to be very general: a woman with one or two children, the remnants of a family of the working class; the rest having died. Both women and children have suffered from fever and are debilitated; the sole chances of persons similarly situated rested in our food depôts.

51. In this and the following month accounts began to be received of fever in the still more western* villages of the district, and the special Deputy Collector was sent out to inquire and report on Kastpore, Dharamtola, Shimshimi, Ramnogore, Vikrampore, Sharool, Durbarpore, where there had been seventy-five deaths. Balam, where 100 had died and 64 found sick. Adra, where 141 sick were found and five deaths had occurred in one night. Shenda and Russickpore, Shikarpore, Goligram, and Bheddiah (on the rail) Shor, Dignuggur, and Balkee. To these relief was administered such as lay in our power. At Adra, Bheddiah, Shor, Dignuggur, dispensaries were established.

Fever had been reported in some in December

52. In the northern portion of the district, i.e., in the Munguleote or Cutwa sub-division, a general improvement in the health of the people was manifest. Dr. Jackson visited the greater part of the division, and, although finding a good deal of sickness prevalent, was of opinion that the type of the fever was not so severe as in the Roynah Circle.

53. He commented on the jungly state of pergunnah Poorbusthulee, a tract where the fever five years ago committed great havoc, and indeed, I may say, nearly depopulated the villages.

54. Before closing this portion of my report I wish to add a few lines regarding the mortality and its registration. The following statement will show the difference in population of the town of Burdwan between 1869-72 :—

		Census. 1869.	1872.
Total number of houses		14,048	17,631
Males	Adults	15,867	12,310
	Children	7,380	4,386
Females	Adults	17,135	12,772
	Children	5,739	3,269
Total population		46,121	32,687

The result shows a numerical decrease in the population of the municipality during the past three years of about 13,000 persons, or taking births into calculation say 15,000.

55. For the mofussil villages registrations have been attempted of the names of the parties dying, their residence, caste, &c. The pound mohurirs have been appointed registrars, and the village chowkeedar on giving his hazeree at the thannah also gives information regarding the names and number of persons who have died within that week.

The result of these figures is as follows :—

	Male.	Female.	Total.
July	372	266	638
September	659	387	1,046
October	1,189	831	2,020
November	1,733	1,018	2,751
December	2,258	1,357	3,615
January	1,306	920	2,226
February	791	477	1,268
March	982	570	1,552
Total	9,898	6,233	16,131

In practice, however, the chowkeedar himself often falls sick or fails to inform himself of the actual mortality of the village, and many perish who are never registered.

56. The subjoined statements show the number of persons relieved in the different dispensary circles during the month of May, as also the comparative statement of sickness as shown by the register of attendance during the months of April and May. The registers show a satisfactory decrease of 9,824 persons :—

From all sides reports are received of the improvement in the public health: the case at present treated are chiefly chronic cases.

During the month of May 8,948 indigent sick were fed; the average being 288 per diem.

In the month of April the average was 353; the cost incurred for the month of May aggregates Rs. 417-11-10, at the rate of Rs. 16-0-6 per day, of which Rs. 13-7-9 is for food, and Rs. 2-8-9 for establishment.

57. The amount of subscriptions realized have been separately notified.

58. Although there is at present a lull in the disease, I am apprehensive of a further outbreak towards the latter end of July.

59. To meet a possible increase of sickness, I am of opinion that blankets should be largely distributed in July to the poorer classes, and every dispensary should be well stocked with medicines in anticipation of the great demand which, I fear, will arise.

As during the rains there is great difficulty in locomotion, I should request that six elephants from the Commissariat Department may be ordered to Burdwan for the use of the supervising medical agency.

60. Before closing this portion of my report I have to bring to your favorable notice the assistance which I have received from Baboo Juggessur Mookerjee, Deputy Magistrate of Cutwa, whose reports kept me fully acquainted with the outbreak in his sub-division, and who I found very active in visiting and reporting on the condition of the people. Also from Baboo Protapnarain Sing, Deputy Magistrate of Bood-Bood, who has lately given great attention to the subject of this fever. From Baboo Bhugoban Chunder Bose and Baboo Bogolanund Mookerjee who succeeded him I received ready aid, and I have to record my satisfaction in the discharge of their duties.

61. The services of the medical officers will doubtless be noticed in that department; but I cannot close this portion of my report without recording my sense of the loss the district has sustained in the transfer of Dr. Elliot, late civil surgeon, whose organization of the medical agency was admirable.

62. The subject of the possible causes and remedies of this destructive disease have been so fully and carefully treated and described both in Mr. Adley's, C.E., reports of the 25th of June and 10th of September 1869, and Dr. Smith's No. 253, dated 12th of May, published in the Government Gazette at page 412 of the 29th of June 1870, that any suggestions which I might offer would necessarily be a mere recapitulation of those recorded by more able and scientific writers. I am not aware that any action has hitherto been taken by Government on the common sense suggestions therein offered, viz. in deepening the beds of rivers and removing silts from the natural water-courses of the country; in regulating sluices in bunds; in legislating for setting aside village tanks for water-supply, for the prevention of burials of dead bodies on the sides of tanks or in the beds of rivers, for the proper disposal of the dead, for the draining of railway cuttings, and to these suggestions it is difficult to add; but if practical acquaintance with the prevailing disease through a series of years and in different localities is at all like to enable a professional man to arrive at any conclusion, the opinion of Dr. Elliot, late civil surgeon of Burdwan, who has seen the disease in all its various stages in Jessore, Hooghly, and Burdwan, is fairly entitled to careful consideration.

63. At paragraph 27 I have quoted at length an extract from Dr. Payne's report, based on his own observations on the outward state of the district in the month of December. I would now quote Dr. Elliot's very precise review of the conditions under which the present fever prevails:—

"It would appear to be no new disease that is now laying waste portions of the district of Burdwan; it is an exaggeratedand congestive form of malarious fever, most frequently of the intermittent, but also of the remittent type, generally assuming the most intense and a splenic character in localities where the recognized predisposing causes of disease preponderate most.

"As outbreaks of the disease have from time to time occurred, it has been attributed at different periods of its progress to a variety of circumstances happening accidentally or simultaneously with the outbreak.

"Excessive falls of rain during certain seasons, want of sufficient rainfall during others, the cyclone in 1864, the famine in 1866, have each in succession been assigned as the predisposing cause in localities where their influence had been felt. Road, railway, and river embankments, changes in the course of large rivers, the silting and drying up of the channels of their tributaries, are thought to have obstructed drainage, and exercised a prejudical influence on certain tracts by the retention in them of subsoil moisture and damp.

"Fever of the same type as that now prevalent had occurred during a variety of seasons before the cyclone or famine years. It had been prevalent in districts adjacent to Hooghly and Burdwan before the construction of river or railway embankments, and since their existence it has not been more prevalent in localities, the physical condition of which may have been affected and changed thereby than in others many miles distant, where the same influence cannot have reached.

"The silting up of river and drainage channels is not new; the process must have been a gradual one, and it does not appear that subsoil water is nearer the surface now than it had ever been. It has not been observed to have occurred in rivers of other districts over an area and proportionate to that invaded by fever, neither in the present instance has the outbreak confined itself to the area over which the exciting cause is supposed to have operated; for fever appears to be passing, or may have already passed, into villages of contiguous districts which are not inundated, and when the formation of the soil differs from that of Burdwan and other low-lying districts.

"The embankment on the Damoodah on the left side has shut out the river from the tract of country to the eastward. From want of annual inundation the water collected in tanks and ponds has not been changed, or the channels of streams and water outlets sufficiently scoured and cleansed.

"Fever prevails extensively at the present time in a tract of a country so circumstanced, situated on the left bank of the river Damoodah, the physical conditions and drainage of which may have undergone a material change since the construction of the river embankment; but the disease is equally prevalent in other localities on the opposite bank of the river where the country now remains in the condition in which it had ever been, and cannot have been, so influenced. I refer to tracts included in the thannahs of Selimabad on the left, and Roynah, Indoss, and Khundghose on the right bank of the Damoodah.

This is not quite the fact; the southern banks have silted, and there is not the flow of water of former years.

"The physical condition of the country around Burdwan city and suburbs has probably been much altered by railway and river embankments. Disease has decimated the place for three years, but the outbreak does not appear to have been in any way influenced by the altered condition of the tract, for sickness is hardly more prevalent in villages on the left, than in those on the right bank of the river, where the same obstruction to drainage and inundation, from the causes mentioned, does not exist. Other causes predisposing to disease, such as impure water, damp, defective conservancy, &c., are very general in Bengal where the disease is and where it is not. It attacks with equal severity villages on the banks of running streams where water-supply is good and those in which it is most impure and unwholesome.

i.e., the Banka.

"With regard to food there is no reason for supposing that the population of Burdwan were in worse circumstances in this respect before the outbreak than they had ever been, for, with the exception of 1866, the crops had been good and rice everywhere abundant.

Except in the matter of milk-disease. The increasing demand for butcher's meat, the increased cultivation of the country, destroying the fallows and grazing ground, have all tended to diminish very seriously the supply of milk.

"The rich and poor have suffered alike; but the former, from being placed in more favorable conditions, have fared better. In attempting to account for the unusual outbreak of fever in this district, too much importance must not be attached to mere local insanitary conditions. The type of disease is intensified by them when it occurs in localities where they predominate. It may be said that, as a rule, disease manifests itself with most virulence, and is generally attended with the largest amount of mortality when witnessed in localities in which insanitation, damp and dirt are most apparent. This is not always the case, and in the history of the endemic now under report, it will be found that villages in which there has been the greatest amount of insanitation have not invariably suffered most; whereas other places in which the same insanitary conditions were less, or hardly at all apparent, have had severe visitations of fever.

I would rather say that the disease has attacked all alike, both rich and poor.

Quite in accordance with my own observations in the cases of numerous villages, and I doubt not that Dr. Jackson, in his report on the present year, will confirm this statement.

"It is necessary to trace the disease through a series of years during different seasons under a variety of local conditions before a correct idea can be formed of the real causes which have tended to produce it. It is only by taking an equally comprehensive view of the subject that a scheme sufficiently extensive to be effective can be entered into for its reconstruction or alteration.

"When other unfavorable conditions exist, such as packing and crowding of inmates in small huts, want of the ordinary precautions for the preservation of health, with reference to the use of pure water, nutritious food, clothing suitable to season, &c., it can only be said that people who are so circumstanced invite disease, and are in a condition peculiarly favorable for its development and dissemination.

"Apart from all those conditions, however, I am disposed to believe that some other influence is at work, the operation of which is not fully understood, for which changes are constantly occurring with reference to the state of soil, season, and water-supply; there must also be a tendency to change in the condition of the people."

64. In opposition to, or in addition to, this view, I offer no opinion. Theory has failed to suppress the fever.

Whatever the destructive influence which may have been at work on the past, we have now to deal with the future.

The sanitary action which has been taken as regards Burdwan under the sanction of the municipality may be described as follows:—The collection and cremation of vast number of bones found lying on the banks of the Damoodah.

1*st*.—The introduction of a thorough system of latrine conservancy.

2*nd*.—And of a purer drinking water-supply into the river Banka and into the town.

3*rd*.—The cleansing of this stream and its future conservancy are under consideration only on account of the want of funds.

4*th*.—The cleaning and renovation of tanks

For the mofussil villages.—Under the authority of Government dispensaries have been established, and the distribution of food and clothing to the sick freely sanctioned; and in this position we await the sickly season now approaching.

List of villages as they were stricken by the fever and the sickness became general, referred to in paragraph 15 of the report.

READ—

A letter No. 367, dated 6th July 1872, from the Commissioner of the Burdwan Division, submitting a review of the fever relief operations in the district of Burdwan, from the outbreak of the fever in July 1871 to May 1872.

1. The Lieutenant-Governor is glad to believe that as regards the season which has passed, and the assistance which has been rendered to those suffering from the effects of the fever, all that was possible has been done. It is very consoling to know that there is now a lull in new cases, but the Government must necessarily look with much anxiety as the season advances to see whether the fever breaks out virulently again, and must make all preparations to cope with the disease. No aid has therefore been even temporarily withdrawn, but on the contrary improved supervision has been provided, and the large body of medical officers now in the district are doing what they can to raise the general standard of health.

2. Six elephants have been lent by the Government of India for the use of the supervising medical agency. A sufficient supply of quinine has been indented for, and bark from the cinchona plantations at Rungbee has been sent to be tried as a decoction. The Medical Department will be again instructed to strain every resource to supply good men in case of further outbreaks, and in the mean time the services of the young supernumerary sub-assistant surgeons are being utilized.

3. His Honor observes that as regards the causes of the disease and its ultimate prevention there is still a mystery; but while several reports on the drainage of various parts of the district are under consideration, a comprehensive survey of the country, with a view to map out the whole system of drainage, has been undertaken by the officers of the Irrigation Department, who are now levelling it with a view to placing beyond doubt the exact physical facts.

4. In event of a fresh outbreak, the question of funds must demand very serious attention, as the expenses are already very heavy, and the Government of India has not yet given any grant-in-aid for this purpose. The Lieutenant-Governor, however, does not doubt that the public will be liberal, and that from some source money will be forthcoming to meet such great and indubitable suffering.

5. The acknowledgments of Government are again specially and most fully due to Mr. C. T. Metcalfe, the Magistrate of Burdwan, for his great and self-denying services during the epidemic. The Lieutenant-Governor cannot too often express his appreciation of Mr. Metcalfe's energy and devotion while himself suffering severely from the attacks of fever.

6. To Dr. Jackson, the Sanitary Commissioner, Dr. Elliot, the late Civil Surgeon of Burdwan, and to Sub-Assistant Surgeon Denobundho Dutt, the acknowledgments of Government are also due for their exertions to provide for the relief of the sufferers; as well as to all the other officers who have done their duty under such trying circumstances.

ORDER.—Ordered that a copy of the report with this Resolution be published in the Calcutta Gazette, and that a copy be forwarded to the Commissioner of the Burdwan Division, and to the Inspector-General of Hospitals, Indian Medical Department, for information.

Rainfall, Weather, and State and Prospects of the Crops.

Statement showing Rainfall, Weather, State and Prospects of the Crops in the different Districts of the Lower Provinces of Bengal, as reported to Government during the week ending 20th July 1872.

No.	District.	Date of return from each district.	Rainfall at Sudder Station in inches.	Character of the weather in the district as far as known.	State and prospects of the crops at date.	Remarks.
BENGAL.
	Western Districts.	1872.
Burdwan Division. 1	Burdwan	July 23rd*	1·46	Fair.	Transplanting of Amun stopped for want of rain. Ous and other crops not favorable.	Public health not good. New cases of fever have also occurred during week in several places.
2	Bancoorah ..	„ 20th	1·60	Cloudy, with drizzling rains, and a heavy shower on the 18th at the sudder station.	The little rain that fell during the week has been of no use except that of the 18th. Unfavorable accounts have been received from all quarters. The transplantation of paddy crops is at a stand-still, and apprehensions are being entertained of a scanty crop, if there be not sufficient rain in a week or ten days. The sugar cane, cotton, &c., are however doing well.	A few cases of cholera in the south.
3	Beerbhoom ..	„ 20th	0·56	Unseasonably dry throughout the district except in thannah Burrowa.	The state of the crops is backward, and from the want of rain the prospects are not at present good.
4	Midnapore ..	„ 20th	0·78	Sultry, with light showers.	More rain is wanted for transplanting in the Gurbetta and part of the sudder sub-division, and still more so in Tumlook, where it is much wanted. In the Contai sub-division more rain has fallen and the crops are said to be doing well.
5	Hooghly ...	„ 20th	5·45	Cloudy, rained in heavy showers.	The showers this week will probably be sufficient to enable the cultivators to transplant the seedlings of Amun Dhan.
	Howrah ...	„ 20th	0·85	Slight showers almost every day throughout the district.	The Ous Dhan and sugar cane doing well. The Amun Dhan requires more rain for the transplanting. In the south the sowings have not yet been completed.
Presidency Division.	Central Districts.
6	24-Pergunnahs ..	„ 23rd	2·24	Cloudy and warm, with occasional showers of rain. Mean temperature, 84°. Direction of wind, south-east.	Jute and sugarcane are doing well. Ous thriving to the north-east. The Amun is suffering everywhere from want of sufficient rain. Amun sowings have been completed, but transplanting is much retarded, and in some places altogether stopped. Prospects decidedly not so good as last week.	A good deal of dengue fever in the district. Slight cholera at Barrackpore. In other respects health normal.
7	Nuddea ..	„ 20th	0·10	Unseasonably dry and hot. No wind.	Not so favorable for the rice. Rain wanted. All other crops good. Indigo half cut.
8	Jessore ...	„ 20th	0·84	Dry ..	Rain wanted for the rice crop and for indigo spring sowings. Damage by "shen-ko-poka" not extensive.

Rajshahye Division.	9	Moorshedabad ...	July 20th	Nil	Cloudy, but little or no rain.	The crops are looking well, but rain is now greatly wanted, specially in thannah Khargram.	Dengue still prevalent
	10	Dinagepore ...	„ 20th	3·85	Showers more or less heavy throughout the district. Thermometer— Highest .. 98° Lowest ... 80°	Accounts from different parts vary where the showers have been scanty. The rice is suffering, more especially what has been recently planted out. Jute and other crops doing well. In most places more rain is wanted for the dhan.
	11	Maldah .	„ 20th	4·50	Cloudy and rainy Rain on four days of the week.	The growing crops, such as Amun and Bhadoi, are progressing satisfactorily.
	12	Rajshahye ..	„ 20th	0·93	Sunshine by day; dew for several nights, one or two showers at the beginning of the week, and one good downpour on Wednesday night. Oppressively hot; out of the breeze. Breeze towards the end of the week.	The crops are still in good condition, but more rain is wanted for the paddy
	13	Rungpore ...	„ 20th	1·72	During two days of the week there were heavy downpours of rain. On the remaining days the weather was hot and sultry.	More rain is wanted, as the Amun crops are suffering for want of water There has been no change in the indigo prospects during last week.
	14	Bograh ..	„ 20th	2·60	First half of week very close and sultry; second half cooler, with occasional showers of rain. Weather feverish.	The rainfall in the district for the week has been somewhat partial. The Ous crop promises moderately. More rain is much needed for the Amun crop.
	15	Pubna ..	„ 20th	0·95	Cloudy and hot, with very little rain.	Indigo is doing very well, also Amun in the low lands, and the Ous crop wants rain sadly.
Cooch Behar Division.	16	Darjeeling ...	„ 20th	7·31	Rain not well distributed.	Satisfactory The crops in the Dhumsong sub-division are ripening, but assistance in the way of food (the cost of which is being worked out on the roads) is still asked for, and is being given.	Cholera seems to be abating in violence. The native doctors referred to last week will, on arrival, be distributed over the district. The best disposition is being made of the means at the disposal of the civil authorities.
	17	Julpigoree ..	„ 20th	3·72	Of the 3·72 inches, 3·12 fell during the night of the 15th. With this exception the weather has been a great deal too clear for the time of year, and unusually hot owing to the deficiency of rain.	Want of rain is said to be affecting the Hymunti Dhan, though as yet no actual damage is reported. Bhadoi crop has been fair. Flax crop very fine indeed.	Health of the district generally is being affected by the unseasonable weather A few cases of cholera have occurred here and there. The latest report says that cholera has broken out with much severity in Sunassikatta, some six miles north-east of Titaliah on the Darjeeling road.
		Cooch Behar ...	„ 20th	1·16	Unusually hot for this time of year.	The crops have sustained no injury as yet, but rain will be wanted very soon.

23	Cachar ...	„ 13th	2·39	A little rain in the early part of the week. Hot and dry for the last few days.	Rain is much wanted; most of the seedlings for the Sail crop have come up, but ploughing is very hard work owing to want of water. Tea doing very well now.
CHITTAGONG DIVISION. 24	Chittagong ...	„ 13th	3·74	One or two heavy showers during the week. The weather generally fine and dry.	Prospects at present fairly good; but more rain wanted.
	Chittagong Hill Tracts	„ 13th	2·51	The week has been unusually sunny with but comparatively little rain. Change of weather was anticipated with the new moon. Wind but little; heat excessive.	The crops are progressing favorably. The "moka" or Indian corn is now ripening, and some of the early sorts of beans, vetch, pumpkins, &c. Tea-plucking is being vigorously carried on. The season is however not a very good one for tea up to date.

The mean barometer as likewise the dry and wet bulb thermometer means are derived from the twenty-four hourly observations made during the day.

The dew-point is computed with the Greenwich constants. The figures in column 10 represent the humidity of the air, the complete saturation of which being taken at unity. The receiver of the lower rain gauge is 1½ feet, and that of the anemometer 70 feet 10 inches above the level of the ground. The velocity of wind, as indicated by Robinson's anemometer, is registered from noon to noon.
